Shows To Reopen Monday If Peace Formula Ratified

NEW YORK (AP)—A peace formula was worked out Thursday to end Broadway's week-long, million-dollar stage blackout. It could turn the footlights up again by Monday.

Theater ticket offices reopened immediately upon news of the settlement pact. There was no immediate word from producers whether the peace terms would mean a boost in ticket prices.

Actors Equity and the League of New York Theaters scheduled membership meetings late Thursday night to vote on the agreement reached by their negotiators. If approved, the stage shows will reopen Monday.

Spokesmen for both sides predicted membership approval.

Terms Not Announced

Terms of the settlement, worked out under the direction of City Labor Commissioner Harold A. Felix, were not announced. The actors' union had pressed for a pension plan and minimum wage increases.

Twenty-two stage shows were closed a week ago after Equity struck one theater and the producers shut the rest in reprisal. Three of the 22 have announced that they are not reopening.

Heavy pressure was exerted on both sides by business groups hard hit financially by Broadway's first blackout since Equity's 1919 strike.

A 40-member group of business men earlier in the day had wired Mayor Robert F. Wagner urging him to "use all means at your disposal to get the theaters open at once."

Restaurants, Garages Lose

Restaurant spokesmen in the group estimated business in the Broadway sector was off 30 to 65 per cent, and that 300 cafe employes were dropped because of the blackout.

Garages reported they were losing $15,000 a day and parking lots even more.

Tourist agencies, ticket sales outfits, taxi firms all had their own tales of woe, engendered by the blacked out theater belt from 6th to 8th avenues in the midtown 40s and 50s.

The blackout idled 800 actors, who lost a $207,000 a week payroll. Another 4,000 theater employes—stagehands, musicians, electricians and others—were thrown out of work with an even greater payroll loss.

Nixon Backers Win Key Posts At Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Staunch backers of Vice President Richard M. Nixon won key positions Thursday for the Republican National Convention starting in Chicago July 25.

Chosen as permanent chairman was Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana. The keynoter will be Rep. Walter H. Judd of Minnesota, and the temporary chairman Gov. Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia.

Their selection was made by an arrangements committee. They are subject to routine approval Friday by the Republican National Committee.

The arrangements group named Elizabeth E. Heffelfinger of Minnesota as convention secretary. It also ratified the earlier selection of Charles H. Percy, 40, of Chicago, as chairman of the platform committee and Rep. Melvin R. Laird, 38, of Wisconsin as vice chairman.

The 59-year-old Halleck is minority leader of the House and is serving his 13th term in Congress. He ousted Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts as House GOP leader in January 1959, and succeeds to the chairmanship held by Martin at the last five GOP conventions.

While avowedly a neutral as far as selection of a presidential nominee is concerned, Halleck has been a Nixon supporter and had the backing of Nixon's House forces in his successful fight to oust Martin.

Halleck long has been "available" as a vice-presidential candidate.

Judd is 61 and is serving his ninth House term. A former medical missionary in China, he is considered a specialist on Far Eastern matters and has a wide reputation as a speaker. He has been a Nixon backer and has described Nixon as "captain of the new team."

The 37-year-old Underwood is a comparative newcomer to national politics. His selection as temporary chairman was expected to give a boost to his campaign for the Senate seat now held by Jennings Randolph, a Democrat.

Payola, TV Quiz Fix Ban Voted By House Unit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Commerce Committee voted Thursday to make rigged quiz shows and payola federal crimes punishable by up to $10,000 fines and a year in jail.

The bill was an outgrowth of widely-publicized hearings into deceptive radio-TV practices last fall and last spring.

The measure generally followed one drafted by the subcommittee which conducted the hearings into fixed quiz programs and payola payments from record manufacturers and distributors to disc jockeys and others.

In addition to cracking down on individual violators, the bill would empower the Federal Communications Commission to slap a $1,000 a day fine on any radio or television station which did not live up to the law or otherwise violated FCC regulations.

The committee rejected one of the subcommittee's recommendations, however. It deleted a provision for FCC regulation and licensing of radio and TV networks, as well as individual stations.

The bill would require that:

—Any radio or TV station employe who accepts money or anything valuable in exchange for his promise to broadcast anything must disclose the fact in advance to his station. The person making the payment also would have to report it.

—The station must announce over the air that the payment was made, unless the FCC waived this requirement on grounds that it was not necessary for the "public interest, convenience or necessity."

—Each station must "exercise reasonable diligence" to obtain information about payola "from its employes, and from other persons with whom it deals directly in connection with any program or program matter for broadcast."

—The legislation would outlaw furnishing "any contestant in a purportedly bona fide contest of intellectual knowledge or intellectual skill any special and secret assistance whereby the outcome of such contest will be in whole or in part prearranged or predetermined."

Pickets Yanked Off Rails After Blocking Train

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) —Violence spread Thursday in the strike against the United Aircraft Corp., with pickets at one plant lying down on a railroad track to block a switch engine.

Police yanked pickets off the rails at the Pratt and Whitney plant here and the engine, manned by management personnel, was moved into an enclosure. Union operators had left the engine outside, refusing to cross a picket line.

The rail incident was one of several reported as mass picketing continued at the corporation's seven plants.

30 In Bomb Shelter Test Find Boredom Problem

PITTSBURGH (AP)—How do 30 men, women and children feel living in a 12-by-20 foot bomb shelter? The big problem is chasing boredom.

The cubicle became home for the group last Sunday in an experiment by the American Institute for Research for the Office of Civil Defense Mobilization.

The experiment is to learn the most efficient way to construct bomb shelters and conduct life in them in the event of a real disaster.

The group includes several families. They range in age from 7 to 72. All volunteered for the test and will get $50 each.

The oldest is Miss Laura B. Ellis. "I still have a lot of curiosity and I figure I might as well know what's going on," she said on entering the shelter.

Water for drinking and food preparation during the two-week test will be limited to 400 gallons, about one gallon a day per person.

There is running water for washing, but there is no sink. The washing will be done in buckets. Drinking and cooking water is metered.

There is a carefully selected stock of canned cooked foods which need only heating on a two-place electric hot-stove.

The bunks are slung four-high around the walls. They were not designed for comfort. They are 6 by 2 feet and the mattresses are thin.

A team of doctors and scientists watch the shelter refugees constantly through one-way windows. Barring illness or other emergency the group will not withdraw until June 19.

Governor's Blast Draws Counterfire

Eisenhower Still Convinced Defense Program Adequate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top leadership of the Republican party Thursday repudiated Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's assault on Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Eisenhower administration policies.

But President Eisenhower was pictured as unruffled—and unconvinced—by the New York Republican governor's blunt suggestion that Eisenhower's defense policies have exposed the United States to danger.

Nixon appeared at a closed-door meeting of 45 state GOP chairmen, and one of them reported afterward that the vice president told the group he will stand on his public record compiled over the years. Ohio State Chairman Ray Bliss said Nixon was applauded enthusiasiastically.

Meanwhile, Rockefeller was on the receiving end of a pointed slap from Republican members of Congress from his own state; they overwhelmingly endorsed Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination. In New York, Rockefeller shrugged this off, saying, "Is there anything new about that?"

Demos Look On Gleefully

The Democrats, who have a habit of squabbling among themselves, stood on the sidelines and gleefully cheered the GOP on in its family fight.

"It looks like there is some life in the old elephant yet," quipped Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, a contender for the nomination to lead his party against the Republicans in the presidential battle this fall.

After a White House meeting, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told newsmen Rockefeller's criticism of Eisenhower administration defense policy "adds up to an unfortunate statement because it will register abroad."

House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, who accompanied Dirksen to the meeting with Eisenhower, said the President still feels his defense program is adequate for the times.

Prodded by reporters for an account of Eisenhower's reaction to the Rockefeller blast, Dirksen said the President had taken "judicial notice" of it. He described Eisenhower as convinced a good job is being done by Pentagon chiefs and members of Congress concerned with national security.

Morton Defends Ike Record

In another part of the city, Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton told questioners he regarded the Rockefeller statement as an attack on the Eisenhower record.

Morton, a senator from Kentucky, acknowledged Rockefeller's right to make known his opinions. But the GOP party chairman said he is proud of the Eisenhower record, and that he believes most Republicans are, too.

As for the impact of Rockefeller's stand, Morton said he doesn't expect it will hurt the party, nor influence the outcome of the November elections one way or the other.

At the same time, however, Morton made plain he regards the Rockefeller move as killing whatever slight chance the governor might have to wrest the GOP presidential nomination from Nixon at this late date.

AF To Periodically Disperse Bombers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force announced Thursday it will periodically disperse its B-47 jet bombers to commercial airports so they will be a more difficult target for enemy attack.

The medium-range, six-jet B-47, part of the Strategic Air Command's (SAC) striking force, carries nuclear weapons, but the Air Force did not say whether such weapons would be aboard when the planes are operating from commercial air terminals.

The dispersal program will begin in a few days and last indefinitely.

The Air Force said in answer to questions that the bombers would be at the airports for periods of only 24 hours at a time.

Maryland Population Up 31.3% To 3,072,999

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau announced Thursday that preliminary figures indicate that Maryland's population increased 31.3 per cent since 1950.

The bureau said the tentative Maryland population for 1960 is 3,072,999. The final figure in 1950 was 2,343,001, or 729,998 less.

Back From Behind Iron Curtain

U.S. Glider Pilot Freed; Returns To Competition

LUEBECK G.ermany (AP)—An American glider pilot who was blown into East Germany during international competition was released by the Communists Thursday with a minimum of political fuss. He promptly headed back to the world gliding championships in West Germany.

Richard E. Schreder of Toledo, Ohio, who won the American soaring championship in 1958, was in Communist hands less than 24 hours.

He said he was treated well, except that he was not allowed to telephone his wife or gliding championship officials. He was allowed to bring his glider back with him.

His wife, Angie, met him at the border near here and gave him a big kiss.

"I'm glad to be back," he said. "I had a good time but they wouldn't let me telephone."

Schreder, who is 44, started out Wednesday with a group of nearly 20 gliders on a distance flight from Butzweilerhof Airport near Cologne for Fehmarn Island in the Baltic Sea. The gliding contestants could choose any goal for the day, except that it had to be in West Germany.

Near the end of the flight he radioed a teammate, Richard H. Johnson of Arlington, Tex., that he was over water and had lost his way. For a short time it was feared he had crashed at sea. Ships in the area were alerted. Soon an East German coastal radio reported his safe landing.

Gliding championship officials contacted the flight division of the East German state sports organization to arrange Schreder's release.

A spokesman said it was put on a "sportsman to sportsman" basis to keep it from becoming a political issue.

The East Germans have in the past held captive stray U. S. military planes as a means of forcing negotiations and some degree of Western diplomatic recognition for their government. Sports planes and gliders, however, have generally been free from such pressure.

Machinists Approve Strike At Douglas

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — More rumblings of labor discontent in California's missile-aircraft industry were heared Thursday when the Machinists' Union authorized a strike against Douglas Aircraft Co.

Lodge 1578 of the International Association of Machinists (IAM), by a vote of more than 4,000 members instructed a union negotiating committee to call a strike at Douglas' Santa Monica, Calif., plant, if and when it sees fit. A union spokesman said more than 96 per cent of the voters favored strike authorization. Douglas and the union have broken off negotiations. A company wage offer made Tuesday drew no favorable response from the union.

The machinists started a strike Monday against Convair plants which produce the Atlas missile and among Convair employes at various missile bases throughout the nation.

Navy Considers Shooting Down Wayward Balloon

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—The Navy said late Thursday it may have to send jet fighters to shoot down a giant balloon drifting over the Pacific, some 1,500 miles from its intended landing site in Texas.

The Navy made the announcement in Washington after the 40-story high "Skyhook Glynco" continued for the second day to defeat all efforts to retrieve it and its precious cosmic ray research data.

At 8 p.m. e.d.t. the Navy at San Clemente Island estimated the sphere was more than 100 miles west of here, and about 75,000 feet in the air.

Subcommittee Cuts Aid Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee on appropriations Thursday approved a cut of almost 800 million dollars in foreign aid funds requested by President Eisenhower.

The 12-member subcommittee headed by Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La) was reported to have recommended $3,384,500,000 in new funds for the program for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The subcommittee's action is subject to review next Monday by the entire 50-member Appropriations Committee.

Passman declined to discuss the subcommittee's action with newsmen pending the full committee's decision. But other members confirmed that a cut of about 800 million dollars was voted.

They said the committee wrote into the bill new language to guard against waste in the aid program.

Passman earlier had called for a cut of more than a billion dollars from funds requested by the President.

Eisenhower originally asked for $4,175,000,000 but Congress in separate legislation authorizing the program, limited the program for the next year to $4,086,300,000.

Typhoon Roars Up China Coast; Scores Perish

HONG KONG (AP) — Typhoon Mary whipped up the coast of Communist China Thursday night leaving thousands homeless and scores dead, missing and injured in refugee-crowded Hong Kong.

Rescue workers digging into landslides and the debris of refugee shacks left in the wake of the 118-mile-an-hour typhoon, said the final death toll may never be known.

Police said 28 bodies have so far been recovered; 12 to 20 more people are feared dead; 30 others are missing; 26 are seriously injured and 17 more are in hospitals.

More than 4,200 homeless have been registered with local welfare organizations, but rescue workers said several thousand others—unregistered fishermen and refugees—probably lost their home. Property damage was expected to run into millions of dollars.

Worst hit were about 300,000 refugees who live in the tin and tarpaper shacks that cling precariously to the rocky hillsides of Hong Kong.

The typhoon, which roared through Hong Kong early Thursday is described as the worst disaster to hit this British colony since the 1937 typhoon which tossed ocean liners on the beach.

Typhoon Mary dropped about 16 inches of rain in Hong Kong, causing floods both here and in the neighboring Portuguese colony of Macao. The storm also touched the southern tip of Formosa but no damage was reported there.

About 80 freighters and liners, including the American liner President Cleveland, rode out the typhoon at emergency anchorages on the lee side of the protecting islands.

The 3,500-ton Sheng Lee was driven onto a reef 160 miles southeast of Hong Kong and reported breaking up. Three Dutch ships and Nationalist Chinese planes and ships went to the rescue.

Oak Ridge, Tenn., Boy, 13, National Spelling Champ

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 1960 National Spelling Bee championship was won Thursday by Henry Feldman, 13, of Oak Ridge, Tenn. The word he won with was "eudaemonic," which means producing happiness.

Teary-eyed Henry's word for the whole affair was a simple "wonderful" as he stood in a victory circle of well-wishers and signed autographs.

The nation's new No. 1 youthful speller was born in the atomic city of Oak Ridge, Tenn., where his father, Cyrus Feldman, is a spectrochemist.

But "I'm not radioactive," said Henry with a grin.

Aside from spelling bees, which he has entered for years, Henry is interested in mathematics, electricity, trumpet playing and track.

Girls have been beating boys 2-1 in these contests and the entry list this year was a topheavy 48 girls to 25 boys. A boy also won last year, however.

Henry's secret weapon was studying word lists from past national contests.

He came in 20th in 1959.

The studies paid off as he defeated tiny Betty Jean Altschul, 12, Norfolk, Va., in a tense final spelloff.

Henry recognized most of the words as old friends.

Only in the eighth grade now, he said he'll probably stow away his $1,000 prize money toward college. But he'll use right now a weekend sightseeing trip to New York that's part of the payoff for spelling down 72 other contestants in the two-day battle of words sponsored by Scripps-Howard and other newspapers.

V. President Declares His Views Known

Offers To Discuss Issues With N.Y. Governor On TV

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon disagreed sharply Thursday night with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's contention that he has not stated his position forcibly on public issues. Nixon invited the New York governor to meet with him before television cameras "and have a discussion in depth."

And, while Nixon praised Rockefeller as a man of integrity, he said he did not expect Rockefeller to be on the 1960 Republican ticket as the vice-presidential candidate.

Nixon is considered by many as the certain GOP presidential nominee.

Gov. Rockefeller Shuns Nixon Bid For Discussion

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Thursday rejected Vice President Nixon's invitation to a TV discussion of Nixon policies. He said the nation deserves "no less than a clear, candid statement."

Once again Rockefeller challenged Nixon to give the public his promised "new program" now, and once again the New York governor served notice that his hat is virtually in the GOP nominating ring.

To lay his plans before the nation, said Rockefeller, Nixon "does not need me to interrogate him on television." But "once the vice president has made clear his position on the special issues I have raised, I shall be glad to debate these issues with him,' the governor added.

Several TV stations and networks quickly offered time for a Nixon-Rockefeller discussion.

The vice president discussed Rockefeller at a crowded news conference he called to answer Rockefeller's public challenge Wednesday that Nixon should declare himself now on public issues.

"I have set forth with great precision and major detail my views on the issues more than any other candidate," Nixon said.

He was asked if he would be willing to debate with Rockefeller, and replied, "It seems to me it would not be proper in view of the fact that the governor is not an announced candidate."

Discussion Proposed

But then he noted that Rockefeller heads one of the largest delegations to the nominating convention and "I would be willing to sit down with the head of any delegation and discuss all the issues."

"One way to resolve the issue is for the governor to meet with me and discuss all the issues in depth," Nixon continued. If he wants to meet before TV cameras, Nixon added, and "have a discussion in depth, I am sure it can be arranged."

A questioner wanted to know whether Nixon would accept Rockefeller as a running mate. (Rockefeller has said he would not accept the vice-presidential nomination although he would accept a presidential draft).

"I can assure him," said Nixon, "that his oft-repeated desire that he not be drafted as a candidate for vice president will be respected—certainly by me."

This brought laughter from the newsmen. The news conference forum was set up suddenly Thursday by Nixon to reply to Rockefeller. Nixon weeks ago had announced plans to speak at a dinner Thursday night honoring Rep. William T. Cahill, Camden Republican who is seeking re-election.

Cites Many News Conferences

Nixon told his news conference he had checked just before leaving Washington and found he has held 47 news conferences of one sort or another—"with no holds barred"—in the last five months.

"Over the past 14 years," Nixon said, "in the House and the Senate and the vice presidency I have entertained questions on every major issue."

Nixon's news conference Thursday was called to answer a statement put out by Rockefeller in New York Wednesday.

Rockefeller, without directly naming Nixon, asserted that the leading candidate for the GOP presidential nomination has failed to make his position clear on important issues.

Rockefeller, a Republican who would accept a presidential draft by his party, but who realizes that Nixon has a stranglehold on the nomination at this time, also in his statement criticized the Eisen-

"It looks like there is some life in the old elephant yet," quipped Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, a contender for the nomination to lead his party against the Republicans in the presidential battle this fall.

After a White House meeting, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told newsmen Rockefeller's criticism of Eisenhower administration defense policy "adds up to an unfortunate statement because it will register abroad."

House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, who accompanied Dirksen to the meeting with Eisenhower, said the President still feels his defense program is adequate for the times.

Prodded by reporters for an account of Eisenhower's reaction to the Rockefeller blast, Dirksen said the President had taken "judicial notice" of it. He described Eisenhower as convinced a good job is being done by Pentagon chiefs and members of Congress concerned with national security.

Morton Defends Ike Record

In another part of the city, Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton told questioners he regarded the Rockefeller statement as an attack on the Eisenhower record.

Morton, a senator from Kentucky, acknowledged Rockefeller's right to make known his opinions. But the GOP party chairman said he is proud of the Eisenhower record, and that he believes most Republicans are, too.

As for the impact of Rockefeller's stand, Morton said he doesn't expect it will hurt the party, nor influence the outcome of the November elections one way or the other.

At the same time, however, Morton made plain he regards the Rockefeller move as killing whatever slight chance the governor might have to wrest the GOP presidential nomination from Nixon at this late date.

AF To Periodically Disperse Bombers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force announced Thursday it will periodically disperse its B-47 jet bombers to commercial airports so they will be a more difficult target for enemy attack.

The medium-range, six-jet B-47, part of the Strategic Air Command's (SAC) striking force, carries nuclear weapons, but the Air Force did not say whether such weapons would be aboard when the planes are operating from commercial air terminals.

The dispersal program will begin in a few days and last indefinitely.

The Air Force said in answer to questions that the bombers would be at the airports for periods of only 24 hours at a time.

Maryland Population Up 31.3% To 3,072,999

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau announced Thursday that preliminary figures indicate that Maryland's population increased 31.3 per cent since 1950.

The bureau said the tentative Maryland population for 1960 is 3,072,999. The final figure in 1950 was 2,343,001, or 729,998 less.

U.S. Glider Pilot Freed; Returns To Competition

LUEBECK G.ermany (AP)—An American glider pilot who was blown into East Germany during international competition was released by the Communists Thursday with a minimum of political fuss. He promptly headed back to the world gliding championships in West Germany.

Richard E. Schreder of Toledo, Ohio, who won the American soaring championship in 1958, was in Communist hands less than 24 hours.

He said he was treated well, except that he was not allowed to telephone his wife or gliding championship officials. He was allowed to bring his glider back with him.

His wife, Angie, met him at the border near here and gave him a big kiss.

"I'm glad to be back," he said. "I had a good time but they wouldn't let me telephone."

Schreder, who is 44, started out Wednesday with a group of nearly 20 gliders on a distance flight from Butzweilerhof Airport near Cologne for Fehmarn Island in the Baltic Sea. The gliding contestants could choose any goal for the day, except that it had to be in West Germany.

Near the end of the flight he radioed a teammate, Richard H. Johnson of Arlington, Tex., that he was over water and had lost his way. For a short time it was feared he had crashed at sea. Ships in the area were alerted. Soon an East German coastal radio reported his safe landing.

Gliding championship officials contacted the flight division of the East German state sports organization to arrange Schreder's release.

A spokesman said it was put on a "sportsman to sportsman" basis to keep it from becoming a political issue.

The East Germans have in the past held captive stray U. S. military planes as a means of forcing negotiations and some degree of Western diplomatic recognition for their government. Sports planes and gliders, however, have generally been free from such pressure.

Navy Considers Shooting Down Wayward Balloon

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—The Navy said late Thursday it may have to send jet fighters to shoot down a giant balloon drifting over the Pacific, some 1,500 miles from its intended landing site in Texas.

The Navy made the announcement in Washington after the 40-story high "Skyhook Glynco" continued for the second day to defeat all efforts to retrieve it and its precious cosmic ray research data.

At 8 p.m. e.d.t. the Navy at San Clemente Island estimated the sphere was more than 100 miles west of here, and about 75,000 feet in the air.

Subcommittee Cuts Aid Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee on appropriations Thursday approved a cut of almost 800 million dollars in foreign aid funds requested by President Eisenhower.

The 12-member subcommittee headed by Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La) was reported to have recommended $3,384,500,000 in new funds for the program for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The subcommittee's action is subject to review next Monday by the entire 50-member Appropriations Committee.

Passman declined to discuss the subcommittee's action with newsmen pending the full committee's decision. But other members confirmed that a cut of about 800 million dollars was voted.

They said the committee wrote into the bill new language to guard against waste in the aid program.

Passman earlier had called for a cut of more than a billion dollars from funds requested by the President.

Eisenhower originally asked for $4,175,000,000 but Congress in separate legislation authorizing the program, limited the program for the next year to $4,086,300,000.

Typhoon Roars Up China Coast; Scores Perish

HONG KONG (AP) — Typhoon Mary whipped up the coast of Communist China Thursday night leaving thousands homeless and scores dead, missing and injured in refugee-crowded Hong Kong.

Rescue workers digging into landslides and the debris of refugee shacks left in the wake of the 118-mile-an-hour typhoon, said the final death toll may never be known.

Police said 28 bodies have so far been recovered; 12 to 20 more people are feared dead; 30 others are missing; 26 are seriously injured and 17 more are in hospitals.

More than 4,200 homeless have been registered with local welfare organizations, but rescue workers said several thousand others—unregistered fishermen and refugees—probably lost their home. Property damage was expected to run into millions of dollars.

Worst hit were about 300,000 refugees who live in the tin and tarpaper shacks that cling precariously to the rocky hillsides of Hong Kong.

The typhoon, which roared through Hong Kong early Thursday is described as the worst disaster to hit this British colony since the 1937 typhoon which tossed ocean liners on the beach.

Typhoon Mary dropped about 16 inches of rain in Hong Kong, causing floods both here and in the neighboring Portuguese colony of Macao. The storm also touched the southern tip of Formosa but no damage was reported there.

About 80 freighters and liners, including the American liner President Cleveland, rode out the typhoon at emergency anchorages on the lee side of the protecting islands.

The 3,500-ton Sheng Lee was driven onto a reef 160 miles southeast of Hong Kong and reported breaking up. Three Dutch ships and Nationalist Chinese planes and ships went to the rescue.

V. President Declares His Views Known

Offers To Discuss Issues With N.Y. Governor On TV

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon disagreed sharply Thursday night with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's contention that he has not stated his position forcibly on public issues. Nixon invited the New York governor to meet with him before television cameras "and have a discussion in depth."

And, while Nixon praised Rockefeller as a man of integrity, he said he did not expect Rockefeller to be on the 1960 Republican ticket as the vice-presidential candidate.

Nixon is considered by many as the certain GOP presidential nominee.

Gov. Rockefeller Shuns Nixon Bid For Discussion

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Thursday rejected Vice President Nixon's invitation to a TV discussion of Nixon policies. He said the nation deserves "no less than a clear, candid statement."

Once again Rockefeller challenged Nixon to give the public his promised "new program" now, and once again the New York governor served notice that his hat is virtually in the GOP nominating ring.

To lay his plans before the nation, said Rockefeller, Nixon "does not need me to interrogate him on television." But "once the vice president has made clear his position on the special issues I have raised, I shall be glad to debate these issues with him," the governor added.

Several TV stations and networks quickly offered time for a Nixon-Rockefeller discussion.

The vice president discussed Rockefeller at a crowded news conference he called to answer Rockefeller's public challenge Wednesday that Nixon should declare himself now on public issues.

"I have set forth with great precision and major detail my views on the issues more than any other candidate," Nixon said.

He was asked if he would be willing to debate with Rockefeller, and replied, "It seems to me it would not be proper in view of the fact that the governor is not an announced candidate."

Discussion Proposed

But then he noted that Rockefeller heads one of the largest delegations to the nominating convention and "I would be willing to sit down with the head of any delegation and discuss all the issues."

"One way to resolve the issue is for the governor to meet with me and discuss all the issues in depth," Nixon continued. If he wants to meet before TV cameras, Nixon added, and "have a discussion in depth, I am sure it can be arranged."

A questioner wanted to know whether Nixon would accept Rockefeller as a running mate. (Rockefeller has said he would not accept the vice-presidential nomination although he would accept a presidential draft).

"I can assure him," said Nixon, "that his oft-repeated desire that he not be drafted as a candidate for vice president will be respected—certainly by me."

This brought laughter from the newsmen. The news conference forum was set up suddenly Thursday by Nixon to reply to Rockefeller. Nixon weeks ago had announced plans to speak at a dinner Thursday night honoring Rep. William T. Cahill, Camden Republican who is seeking re-election.

Cites Many News Conferences

Nixon told his news conference he had checked just before leaving Washington and found he has held 47 news conferences of one sort or another—"with no holds barred"—in the last five months.

"Over the past 14 years," Nixon said, "in the House and the Senate and the vice presidency I have entertained questions on every major issue."

Nixon's news conference Thursday was called to answer a statement put out by Rockefeller in New York Wednesday.

Rockefeller, without directly naming Nixon, asserted that the leading candidate for the GOP presidential nomination has failed to make his position clear on important issues.

Rockefeller, a Republican who would accept a presidential draft by his party, but who realizes that Nixon has a stranglehold on the nomination at this time, also in his statement criticized the Eisen-

30 In Bomb Shelter Test Find Boredom Problem

PITTSBURGH (AP)—How do 30 men, women and children feel living in a 12-by-20 foot bomb shelter? The big problem is chasing boredom.

The cubicle became home for the group last Sunday in an experiment by the American Institute for Research for the Office of Civil Defense Mobilization.

The experiment is to learn the most efficient way to construct bomb shelters and conduct life in them in the event of a real disaster.

The group includes several families. They range in age from 7 to 72. All volunteered for the test and will get $50 each.

The oldest is Miss Laura B. Ellis. "I still have a lot of curiosity and I figure I might as well know what's going on," she said on entering the shelter.

Water for drinking and food preparation during the two-week test will be limited to 400 gallons, about one gallon a day per person.

There is running water for washing, but there is no sink. The washing will be done in buckets. Drinking and cooking water is metered.

There is a carefully selected stock of canned cooked foods which need only heating on a two-place electric hot-stove.

The bunks are slung four-high around the walls. They were not designed for comfort. They are 6 by 2 feet and the mattresses are thin.

A team of doctors and scientists watch the shelter refugees constantly through one-way windows. Barring illness or other emergency the group will not withdraw until June 19.

Draft Call For 7,000

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army Thursday issued a call for 7,000 draftees in August compared with 6,000 for July and 5,000 for June.

Machinists Approve Strike At Douglas

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — More rumblings of labor discontent in California's missile-aircraft industry were heared Thursday when the Machinists' Union authorized a strike against Douglas Aircraft Co.

Lodge 1578 of the International Association of Machinists (IAM), by a vote of more than 4,000 members instructed a union negotiating committee to call a strike at Douglas' Santa Monica, Calif., plant, if and when it sees fit. A union spokesman said more than 96 per cent of the voters favored strike authorization. Douglas and the union have broken off negotiations. A company wage offer made Tuesday drew no favorable response from the union.

The machinists started a strike Monday against Convair plants which produce the Atlas missile and among Convair employes at various missile bases throughout the nation.

Oak Ridge, Tenn., Boy, 13, National Spelling Champ

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 1960 National Spelling Bee championship was won Thursday by Henry Feldman, 13, of Oak Ridge, Tenn. The word he won with was "eudaemonic," which means producing happiness.

Teary-eyed Henry's word for the whole affair was a simple "wonderful" as he stood in a victory circle of well-wishers and signed autographs.

The nation's new No. 1 youthful speller was born in the atomic city of Oak Ridge, Tenn., where his father, Cyrus Feldman, is a spectrochemist.

But "I'm not radioactive," said Henry with a grin.

Aside from spelling bees, which he has entered for years, Henry is interested in mathematics, electricity, trumpet playing and track.

Girls have been beating boys 2-1 in these contests and the entry list this year was a topheavy 48 girls to 25 boys. A boy also won last year, however.

Henry's secret weapon was studying word lists from past national contests.

He came in 20th in 1959.

The studies paid off as he defeated tiny Betty Jean Altschul, 12, Norfolk, Va., in a tense final spelloff.

Henry recognized most of the words as old friends.

Only in the eighth grade now, he said he'll probably stow away his $1,000 prize money toward college. But he'll use right now a weekend sightseeing trip to New York that's part of the payoff for spelling down 72 other contestants in the two-day battle of words sponsored by Scripps-Howard and other newspapers.

Kishi "Guarantees" Ike Safety

TOKYO (UPI)—Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi said Thursday night he will "guarantee" the safety of President Eisenhower during his visit to Japan June 19-23 despite Communist threats of violence against the Chief Executive.

Kishi made his promise in the face of extreme left-wing opposition threats to "physically punish" the President.

The premier told a nationwide television audience that the President was coming only on a good-will venture to mark the centennial of U.S.-Japan relations, and not to help bolster the Kishi regime as the opposition charges.

"We must welcome foreign heads of state like gentlemen," he said. "We guarantee President Eisenhower's personal safety during his visit. But I am ashamed that there will be some unpleasant demonstrators who will be waving flags other than the Stars and Stripes and the Rising Sun."

Fanatic Communist-leaning student groups prepared a horn-tooting, drum-banging reception of pandemonium for White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty Friday as a prelude to the raucously obnoxious welcome they plan for Eisenhower.

The Communist-inspired anti-American tone of the Eisenhower opposition on Tokyo was in sharp contrast to the receptions being planned for the President in Formosa and the Philippines.

In Taipei, the Nationalist Chinese planned to greet the President with an Oriental welcome of exploding firecrackers and dancing paper-and-cloth ten-foot dragons.

Felixberto Serrano, foreign secretary of the Philippines, said at Tokyo Airport during a stopover en route home after attending the SEATO conference in Washington, that he did not expect any demonstrations to materialize against the President when he visits Manila.

"I believe the reception for President Eisenhower will be the most enthusiastic ever given to a visitor to our country," Serrano said. "It will be the best the Philippines can offer."

Body Of U.S. Game Refuge Official Found

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—The body of a federal game refuge official was found Thursday 50 yards from where his empty boat was discovered Wednesday on Harper's Pond.

He was Woodrow Steele Webster, 42, assistant manager of the Black Water National Wildlife Refuge.

Webster's body came to the surface after dragging and dynamiting were attempted by State Police, sheriff's deputies and refuge employes.

He had reported for work Wednesday morning, then took a boat onto Harper's Pond and was not seen again. Authorities did not say what they believed was the cause of death and Dorchester County State's Atty. C. Burnam Mace ordered an autopsy.

Miller Gains Strong Support For GOP Post

BALTIMORE (AP) — Former Rep. Edward T. Miller was reported Thursday to have gained the backing of leading Maryland Republicans to succeed Theodore R. McKeldin as national committeeman.

"He has indicated his willingness to accept," said State Chairman D. Eldred Rinehart when asked about reports.

Rinehart himself had been among others most prominently mentioned for the post, which will be filled by a vote of the 24 Maryland delegates to the Republican National Convention in Chicago next month. The delegates will be named Saturday at the party state convention in Baltimore.

Miller had been listed among those interested in the job McKeldin has held since 1952, the second of his eight straight years as governor of Maryland. The former governor, now practicing law in Baltimore and continuing his lucrative speech-making appearances throughout the nation, had lost favor with some Republicans partly because of his close association with dissident Democrats who had helped elect him.

The jockeying for his national committeeman's job has included backers of Miller, Rinehart, White House speech writer Malcolm Moos, former Rep. James P.S. Devereux and others.

At one point in the maneuvering, Rinehart appeared to be in line for the post, with Miller stepping into the state chairmanship of the party.

Indications of a switch in strength came after a Wednesday luncheon meeting of Rinehart with Sens. John Marshall Butler and J. Glenn Beall.

Asked whether McKeldin had been consulted on the Miller selection, Rinehart said he had not discussed the national committeeman question with the former governor but hoped to do so before the convention.

This and other issues are expected to come up for discussion at a Friday night meeting of Rinehart and other party leaders in Baltimore. The object of this session is to iron out any wrinkles which might produce an open fight at the Saturday convention of the 152 delegates elected in the May 17 primary.

One of these wrinkles is a reported move to curtail the representation of city Republicans on the party executive committee and the delegation to the national convention.

More Reserve Banks Drop Discount Rates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Eight more federal reserve banks received Federal Reserve Board permission Thursday to drop their charge on loans to commercial banks from 4 to 3½ per cent, effective Friday.

This credit-easing signal was first given last week when the board authorized the half point drop in the discount rate for the federal reserve banks of Philadelphia and San Francisco.

Authorized Thursday to take the same step were the reserve banks in New York, Dallas, Cleveland, Richmond, Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis and Kansas City.

The remaining two reserve banks in Boston and Atlanta are expected to follow suit soon.

Nixon said he was confident Rockefeller made his statement because he feels such criticism is justified.

But Nixon was emphatic in his belief that Rockefeller had misrepresented the vice president's position.

Bishop Honored By Methodists

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of Washington, D.C., was honored Thursday night for "24 years of outstanding service to the Methodist church."

Mrs. Oxnam also was present to share in the encomiums offered by several church officials and Arthur S. Fleming, U.S. secretary of health, education and welfare.

The program was part of the second day's activities at the 177th session of the Baltimore Annual Conference of the Methodist Church, which continues through Sunday.

Fleming, a Methodist layman active in the Baltimore Conference, said Bishop Oxnam should be honored for strengthening higher education in the United States.

Man Who Fled With Bride's $3,100 Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police are looking for a Bridgeport, Conn., man who, they said, fleeced his bride of about $3,100 and skipped town.

A warrant charges Donn Michael DeCaro, alias Dominic DeCarlo, with obtaining the money under false pretenses.

Police said DeCaro also is wanted in Bridgeport for theft and obtaining money under false pretenses. They said they were told by Bridgeport police that DeCaro has a wife in Bridgeport and that he has been married to her for 14 years.

DeCaro, 38, obtained the money from a 40-year-old divorcee, Mrs. Naomi McCannell, police said. They met May 7, were married May 17, and 10 days later DeCaro left town, according to the police report.

Mrs. McCannell told police she financed the couple's wedding trip to Toronto and then gave him $2,154 to obtain a building permit and to start construction of a home in nearby Bethesda, Md. She said DeCaro left with that money plus another $1,000 he obtained by cashing a mutual fund.

She said she met DeCaro through a social club to which she belongs.

Waterfall Sounds And Music Used By Dentists To Lull Patients

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Sounds of waterfall and sweet music are being used by dental researchers to lull patients away from the thought of that whirling drill.

Delegates to the 77th annual convention of the Maryland State Dental Assn. heard about the experiment Thursday as they met at this resort city.

Dr. Wallace J. Gardner of Boston, Mass., described the pain-diverting process called audio analgesia.

The patient sits in the dentist's chair and is given special earphones plugged into a box that produces a different sound in each ear.

One tape recording plays a musical program the patient has selected from a library. The second is a masking noise like a waterfall or pounding of ocean surf.

Although only one-fourth of the population of the United States lives in the northeastern states, they receive nearly one-half of all the lamb and mutton used in the nation.

A warrant charges Donn Michael DeCaro, alias Dominic DeCarlo, with obtaining the money under false pretenses.

Police said DeCaro also is wanted in Bridgeport for theft and obtaining money under false pretenses. They said they were told by Bridgeport police that DeCaro has a wife in Bridgeport and that he has been married to her for 14 years.

DeCaro, 38, obtained the money from a 40-year-old divorcee, Mrs. Naomi McCannell, police said. They met May 7, were married May 17, and 10 days later DeCaro left town, according to the police report.

Mrs. McCannell told police she financed the couple's wedding trip to Toronto and then gave him $2,154 to obtain a building permit and to start construction of a home in nearby Bethesda, Md. She said DeCaro left with that money plus another $1,000 he obtained by cashing a mutual fund.

She said she met DeCaro through a social club to which she belongs.

Waterfall Sounds And Music Used By Dentists To Lull Patients

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)— Sounds of waterfall and sweet music are being used by dental researchers to lull patients away from the thought of that whirling drill.

Delegates to the 77th annual convention of the Maryland State Dental Assn. heard about the experiment Thursday as they met at this resort city.

Dr. Wallace J. Gardner of Boston, Mass., described the pain-diverting process called audio analgesia.

The patient sits in the dentist's chair and is given special earphones plugged into a box that produces a different sound in each ear.

One tape recording plays a musical program the patient has selected from a library. The second is a masking noise like a waterfall or pounding of ocean surf.

Although only one-fourth of the population of the United States lives in the northeastern states, they receive nearly one-half of all the lamb and mutton used in the nation.

Troubles Beset Bold Pioneers On Galapagos

By PAUL WELLS

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Beset by troubles, delays and dissension a band of modern-day pioneers scattered from Saskatoon to San Cristobal find their bold dream of an island Utopia facing an uncertain future.

Equatorial San Cristobal, in the Galapagos Archipelago 650 miles west of Ecuador, is the lonely lump of land where 100 families hope to found a colony of shared work and shared wealth.

New difficulties, both political and internal have the entire colonizing venture marking time.

But if recent setbacks have jeopardized the ambitious, unique plan the leaders profess to have no qualms it eventually will succeed. Time, events, money and temperament will tell.

One thing is certain. Success or failure will be without the man who nursed the idea of a new-type social experiment into being over a period of years.

On May 19 the other colonists kicked out Don Harrsch, 32, former Seattle towboat captain and jack-of-all-trades whose formal education ended in the eighth grade.

They criticized his handling of the colony's finances, said he had antagonized Ecuadorean officials and other colonists, and usurped dictatorial power over company affairs. The ouster was on a vote by members spread 6,000 miles from Saskatoon in Canada to San Cristobal.

Harrsch led a vanguard of nearly 40 men, women and children to the island in March on a perilous two-month, 4,000-mile voyage from Seattle in the leaky old wooden motorship Alert.

Then the troubles began.

At first the Ecuadorean civil governor at San Cristobal refused to let the colonists ashore. They finally gained permission, but found the fish freezer plant and rundown 64,000-acre coffee plantation they believed their's were snarled in red tape.

Meantime, 78 more colonists set sail here later that month in the colony's second ship, the 120-foot, steel-hulled freighter Western Trader. They put into Los Angeles harbor for minor repairs and have been there since because of a new complication: visa difficulties with Ecuador.

Harrsch's successor, former vice president Alex Reuss, 25, described morale "as 100 per cent good." He said "we fully intend to carry on." Reuss was a Seattle insurance salesman before he and his family of four cast their lot with the Island Development Co., as the venture is known. They are among those on the Trader.

Both Reuss and Ron Nelsen, the company's public relations director in Seattle, said all 100 memberships in the cooperative colony had been sold at $2,500 apiece and there have been few defectors.

"Five memberships will probably open up, including Harrsch's, but we have a waiting list to fill them," Nelsen said.

The company officers said about $125,000, or half of the membership fees, has been paid and the colonists have a reserve of more than $15,000 with major expenditures behind them.

Families to whom the harsh and foreboding Galapagos Archipelago is their visionary promised land sacrificed homes, jobs, security, automobiles, modern conveniences and close ties for the dream of a better life. Most are from the industrial and upper working classes. Nelsen said a few teachers and professional people are among the last memberships sold.

Is their dream a will-of-the-wisp leading them to the same failure experienced by two smaller colonizing experiments in the Galapagos?

Perhaps. But the colonists apparently undaunted by recent adversity, seem willing to give it a try.

There are other stumbling blocks. The colonizing effort has figured in Ecuador's election campaign. The outcome could shut the door on any American settlement.

And Dirk Anderson, University of Washington sociology instructor, who studied the group as a member of an observer team last summer, sees other basic weaknesses which he thinks will doom the colony. He classifies this willingness to risk everything in a precarious venture as stemming from discontent, alienation from society and a sense of personal failure.

The colony's leaders and most members stoutly deny this. They view themselves as the modern counterpart of the pilgrims and covered-wagon pioneers.

Typical of the attitude held by the colonists is that of John Waterbury, 32, of Ashland, Ore., first mate of the Trader, who said "It just seems as if here is a chance to pioneer something worthwhile." He and his striking blonde wife, Barbara Ann, 26, and their two children have given no thought to pulling out.

Spending Increasing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Business investment spending to enlarge and expand production capacity is increasing and is scheduled to hit a three-year high this summer, the government reports.

It said a survey of businessmen's plans for purchase of new equipment, plant expansion and construction of new facilities showed 1960 spending at a near record.

The survey is made quarterly by the Commerce Department and Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC).

Methodists Note Defection Of Members

WESTMINSTER (AP) — Defection of members was brought to the attention Thursday of delegates to the Baltimore Annual Conference of the Methodist Church in two reports.

A composite report of the district superintendents given by Dr. Clarence L. Fossett of the Baltimore East District noted addition of 16,274 members during the past year.

"But we are showing a gain of only 1,535," the report continued. "There is the feeling that we should not have lost as many as we did.

"Such losses ought to cause us to ask whether or not our congregations are real Christian fellowships, and whether or not they involve enough of our members in the life of the church.

"They ought to cause us to go out into the highways and byways in search of those who have gotten lost."

The Women's Society of Christian Service reported 503 local societies and 24 Wesleyan Service Guilds with a total membership of 33,687.

"Here is one place where we have slipped back a bit in our climbing and need a firmer foothold," said Mrs. William J. E. Apsley who read the report.

"Although we have received 2,288 new members and added four new societies, the reports show a loss in the number of societies and of members. There are still 33 churches where there are no Women's Societies of Christian Service."

Another speaker warned of the evils of denying God's predominance in the world.

Dr. William A. Keese, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, Baltimore, said the recognition of God's supremacy on earth would make mankind more peaceable and prosperous.

"History is largely the story of man's attempt to realize dominion over the world," he said. "But history is contradictory, with war, greed and other evils."

The conference received a recommendation that the minimum salary for full time pastors be raised from $3,300 a year to $5,000 with $500 for car expenses.

The district superintendents also asked that ministers on minimum salary be granted an additional $100 for each 5 years of service.

The superintendents reported that during the past year $840,244 had been spent improving church properties, $2,004,531 for new buildings, $274,527 for parsonages and $1,414,937 to redsce debts.

The program Thursday night honored Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam who is retiring.

The superintendents in their report called him "the outstanding bishop of the Methodist Church."

Tawes "Good" After Surgery

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Tawes was reported resting comfortably at University Hospital Thursday after surgeons successfully removed a small tumor from his large intestine.

A hospital spokesman said the 66-year-old governor went through the hour-long operation "in high good style." An official medical bulletin said Tawes was "resting comfortably."

The spokesman said later that a laboratory examination of the tumor confirmed that it was not malignant. It was described as a benign polyp.

Tawes, under a low-level anesthesia, entered the recovery room at about 9 a.m.

The operation was performed by Dr. Thurston R. Adams, assistant professor of surgery at the University of Maryland Medical School.

The governor, who entered the hospital Tuesday after a two week delay because of a cold, is expected to remain there for about 10 days.

Receives Contract

WALTHAM, Mass. (UPI)—Raytheon Co. has received a $23,600,000 contract from the Bureau of Naval Weapons for continuing production of the Sparrow III missile, it was announced.

A man who weighs 200 pounds at the North or South Pole is one pound less at the Equator. This happens because the earth bulges at the Equator, and centrifugal force is greater there. Gravity, thus weight, is slightly decreased.

Delay In Probe Of Jobless Pay Abuses Sought

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Department of Employment Security has requested a delay in the proposed investigation of alleged abuses in the unemployment compensation system.

Robert B. Kimble, department executive director, announced in a letter to Gov. Tawes that he has asked State Sen. Frederick C. Malkus (D-Dorchester), chairman of the Legislative Council's judiciary committee, to postpone the investigation.

Kimble said he wanted to give research workers in his department sufficient time to review millions of records kept in the new employment security building.

Tawes, who underwent surgery for removal of a benign tumor Thursday, was not available for comment.

The Legislative Council, interim arm of the General Assembly, announced last week that its judiciary committee would investigate reports of abuses in the Unemployment Insurance Law.

At that time, Malkus said he would appoint a subcommittee "within 10 days" to begin the investigation. Malkus said the subcommittee report would be reviewed by the judiciary committee.

The council took up the matter after the Baltimore Evening Sun published a series of stories alledging that benefits totaling more tha one million dollars a week were being paid to persons who quit their jobs, were fired, retired on pensions or sent on vacation.

The articles also purported to show that the jobless benefit system was in serious financial trouble, with current reserves well below the safe level.

Window-Wrecking Spree Kills Deer

BALTIMORE (AP) — A deer turned a section of southwest Baltimore into a shambles Thursday.

The animal leaped through a window of an automobile agency, bounded among the cars, and out through another window. The deer ran across the street and through another window into a school building.

Police and a representative from the Animal Shelter cornered him there. By the time the buck was lassoed and subdued, he died.

Telepathist Aids Police

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Anne Arundel County Police Chief Wilbur C. Wade reported "some progress" Thursday after the entrance of a Dutch telepathist in the baffling Carroll V. Jackson family murder case.

The telepathist, Peter Herkos, visited the shallow Gambrills, Md., grave where the bodies of Mrs. Mildred Jackson and her daughter, Susan, were found Mar. 21, 1959.

Herkos says he can visualize images by visiting places linked with the case. He was called in at the suggestion of Dr. F. Regis Riesenman, a criminal psychiatrist and member of the staff at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington.

"Evidence in possession of the Anne Arundel County police was reviewed and some progress was made," Wade said. "The investigation is continuing and now returns to Virginia, with Anne Arundel County police and Virginia police cooperating."

Asked if he thought the Dutch telepathist might help solve the slaying of the family of four, Wade replied: "I am willing and happy to go along with anyone who may help to solve these murders."

Earlier in the week, Herkos visited the site near Fredericksburg, Va., where the bodies of Carroll Jackson and another daughter, Janet, were discovered Mar. 4, 1959.

Acquires Firm

CHICAGO (UPI) — American-Marietta Co. announced it has acquired Consolidated Engravers Inc., Charlotte, N.C., for an undisclosed price. Consolidated makes engraved cylinders for printing textile fabrics.

Cannery Worker Crushed By Train

ABERDEEN, Md. (AP) — A 70-year-old cannery worker was crushed to death Thursday when a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train struck him at Osborne's Crossing hear here.

Aberdeen police said the victim was Wasyl Malek, a Russian-born World War I veteran.

Police said Malek left the cannery to shop for some bread and chewing tobacco. He was crossing the tracks when the Pennsylvania's West Coast Champion bore down on him.

J. C. Holler, the train engineer, said he saw Malek several hundred yards ahead and blew the whistle and applied the emergency brakes. Malek was unable to get out of the way in time.

Some passengers aboard the train were shaken by the abrupt stop, but none was injured.

The Greeks branded their slaves with a Delta sign.

"But we are showing a gain of only 1,535," the report continued. "There is the feeling that we should not have lost as many as we did.

"Such losses ought to cause us to ask whether or not our congregations are real Christian fellowships, and whether or not they involve enough of our members in the life of the church.

"They ought to cause us to go out into the highways and byways in search of those who have gotten lost."

The Women's Society of Christian Service reported 503 local societies and 24 Wesleyan Service Guilds with a total membership of 33,687.

"Here is one place where we have slipped back a bit in our climbing and need a firmer foothold," said Mrs. William J. E. Apsley who read the report.

"Although we have received 2,288 new members and added four new societies, the reports show a loss in the number of societies and of members. There are still 33 churches where there are no Women's Societies of Christian Service."

Another speaker warned of the evils of denying God's predominance in the world.

Dr. William A. Keese, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, Baltimore, said the recognition of God's supremacy on earth would make mankind more peaceable and prosperous.

"History is largely the story of man's attempt to realize dominion over the world," he said. "But history is contradictory, with war, greed and other evils."

The conference received a recommendation that the minimum salary for full time pastors be raised from $3,300 a year to $5,000 with $500 for car expenses.

The district superintendents also asked that ministers on minimum salary be granted an additional $100 for each 5 years of service.

The superintendents reported that during the past year $840,244 had been spent improving church properties, $2,004,531 for new buildings, $274,527 for parsonages and $1,414,937 to redsce debts.

The program Thursday night honored Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam who is retiring.

Tawes "Good" After Surgery

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Tawes was reported resting comfortably at University Hospital Thursday after surgeons successfully removed a small tumor from his large intestine.

A hospital spokesman said the 66-year-old governor went through the hour-long operation "in high good style." An official medical bulletin said Tawes was "resting comfortably."

The spokesman said later that a laboratory examination of the tumor confirmed that it was not malignant. It was described as a benign polyp.

Tawes, under a low-level anesthesia, entered the recovery room at about 9 a.m.

The operation was performed by Dr. Thurston R. Adams, assistant professor of surgery at the University of Maryland Medical School.

The governor, who entered the hospital Tuesday after a two week delay because of a cold, is expected to remain there for about 10 days.

Receives Contract

WALTHAM, Mass. (UPI)—Raytheon Co. has received a $23,600,000 contract from the Bureau of Naval Weapons for continuing production of the Sparrow III missile, it was announced.

A man who weighs 200 pounds at the North or South Pole is one pound less at the Equator. This happens because the earth bulges at the Equator, and centrifugal force is greater there. Gravity, thus weight, is slightly decreased.

Delay In Probe Of Jobless Pay Abuses Sought

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Department of Employment Security has requested a delay in the proposed investigation of alleged abuses in the unemployment compensation system.

Robert B. Kimble, department executive director, announced in a letter to Gov. Tawes that he has asked State Sen. Frederick C. Malkus (D-Dorchester), chairman of the Legislative Council's judiciary committee, to postpone the investigation.

Kimble said he wanted to give research workers in his department sufficient time to review millions of records kept in the new employment security building.

Tawes, who underwent surgery for removal of a benign tumor Thursday, was not available for comment.

The Legislative Council, interim arm of the General Assembly, announced last week that its judiciary committee would investigate reports of abuses in the Unemployment Insurance Law.

At that time, Malkus said he would appoint a subcommittee "within 10 days" to begin the investigation. Malkus said the subcommittee report would be reviewed by the judiciary committee.

The council took up the matter after the Baltimore Evening Sun published a series of stories alledging that benefits totaling more tha one million dollars a week were being paid to persons who quit their jobs, were fired, retired on pensions or sent on vacation.

The articles also purported to show that the jobless benefit system was in serious financial trouble, with current reserves well below the safe level.

Window-Wrecking Spree Kills Deer

BALTIMORE (AP) — A deer turned a section of southwest Baltimore into a shambles Thursday.

The animal leaped through a window of an automobile agency, bounded among the cars, and out through another window. The deer ran across the street and through another window into a school building.

Police and a representative from the Animal Shelter cornered him there. By the time the buck was lassoed and subdued, he died.

Telepathist Aids Police

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Anne Arundel County Police Chief Wilbur C. Wade reported "some progress" Thursday after the entrance of a Dutch telepathist in the baffling Carroll V. Jackson family murder case.

The telepathist, Peter Herkos, visited the shallow Gambrills, Md., grave where the bodies of Mrs. Mildred Jackson and her daughter, Susan, were found Mar. 21, 1959.

Herkos says he can visualize images by visiting places linked with the case. He was called in at the suggestion of Dr. F. Regis Riesenman, a criminal psychiatrist and member of the staff at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington.

"Evidence in possession of the Anne Arundel County police was reviewed and some progress was made," Wade said. "The investigation is continuing and now returns to Virginia, with Anne Arundel County police and Virginia police cooperating."

Asked if he thought the Dutch telepathist might help solve the slaying of the family of four, Wade replied: "I am willing and happy to go along with anyone who may help to solve these murders."

Earlier in the week, Herkos visited the site near Fredericksburg, Va., where the bodies of Carroll Jackson and another daughter, Janet, were discovered Mar. 4, 1959.

Cannery Worker Crushed By Train

ABERDEEN, Md. (AP) — A 70-year-old cannery worker was crushed to death Thursday when a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train struck him at Osborne's Crossing hear here.

Aberdeen police said the victim was Wasyl Malek, a Russian-born World War I veteran.

Police said Malek left the cannery to shop for some bread and chewing tobacco. He was crossing the tracks when the Pennsylvania's West Coast Champion bore down on him.

J. C. Holler, the train engineer, said he saw Malek several hundred yards ahead and blew the whistle and applied the emergency brakes. Malek was unable to get out of the way in time.

Some passengers aboard the train were shaken by the abrupt stop, but none was injured.

The Greeks branded their slaves with a Delta sign.

Woman Plans Glider Flight Over Everest

LONDON (UPI)—Britain's leading woman glider pilot, Mrs. Anne Burns, is planning to glide over the world's highest peak, 29,000-foot Mount Everest, next year—a feat that has never been attempted.

With her husband, Dennis; a physician, Dr. Brennig James, and London dentist Henry Pittroche, she is setting up a trust fund to finance the expedition. The cost is estimated at between $14,000 and $28,000.

Permission was given by the Nepal government for an attempt this year, but funds were not available.

The party would use a field near Mount Everest at Pohkra, which is some 25 miles from the Annapurna peaks in thee Himalayas.

Pittroche would ship out his private plane, a Miles Messenger, to tow the glider aloft. Three gliders would be taken along, including Mrs. Burns' own machine, a Skylark III—one of thee most modern available.

Supplies of fuel would have to be taken up to the grass cattle pasture which would serve as the airstrip. It is estimated the fuel would cost $2.80 a gallon. Special radio direction finding equipment would have to be installed to "home" the pilot.

Pittroche, who is 50 and has been a pilot for five years said: "The country is barren and has no features on which it is possible for a pilot to fix his position.

"There is often a great deal of dust in the atmosphere, so a pilot cannot see far below.

"The cost of taking out all the gliders and equipment is very high, and insurance charges appalling. One of us would go out first to make a reconnaissance."

The best weather conditions, probably would be in May, before the monsoons start.

Pittroche said, "A glider would climb faster than an airplane. The out and return should not take more than two hours at the most. It could be a very dangerous trip if anything went wrong, because the only place for landing is at Pohkra.

"If the pilot could not get back he'd have to bail out, and that would be a dangerous business on Everest. It would be the end of the glider, and maybe the pilot."

14 Too Many Wives For Law

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (UPI) — Baluwa Ben Mjera has so many wives that a special law may have to be written for him.

Baluwa Ben, 61, has 21 wives and at least 89 children.

"The government man, she said I am the most successful polygamist in Southern Rhodesia," Baluwa Ben said.

The government man came to Baluwa Ben's village 85 miles from here — the entire population is his family—to take a wife count.

Polygamy, far from being illegal, is subsidized. A new law provides extra land for extra wives—but only up to seven wives.

"I was happily married to my 21 wives and then along came the government," Baluwa Ben said.

"It just be all or nothing. How can I give seven wives land and not give land to the other 14? Everything used to be peaceful."

Baluwa Ben listed his 21 wives for the government by having them put their fingerprints on a long piece of paper.

"The government man acted funny when I gave him the list," he said.

Officials said they were considering amending the land law to provide for Baluwa Ben's extra 14 wives.

Yawn Unhinges Commencement Spectator's Jaw

BALTIMORE (AP)—After the long commencement program at Bryn Mawr School Tuesday night, Gordon F. Sheckells walked up to a policeman and handed him a note: "Please call an ambulance. My jaw is locked open."

Chile Quakes Cause U.S. Well Fluctuation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Chilean earthquakes caused fluctuations in water levels of wells throughout much of the United States, the Geological Survey reported Wednesday.

The survey said data analyzed so far shows the shocks last month caused water levels to fluctuate in wells in Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the continental United States from Florida to Wisconsin.

It said 10 wells on Oahu Island in Hawaii fluctuated a foot or more as a result of the seismic waves which traveled through the earth's crust as a result of the quakes. The changes were recorded at about 7:30 p. m., local time, on May 22.

NEW YORK (AP) —Did the stock market climb too fast this week?

Some Wall Street observers think so.

After a two-day spurt led by steels, motors and chemicals, the market slowed down Wednesday.

Joseph E. Granville of E. F. Hutton & Co. said the rate of advance by the Dow Jones industrial stock average appeared too rapid to be sustained without first attracting some profit-taking in stocks which led the rise.

"It will be recalled," said Granville, "that Lukens and Republic Steel were among the first steels to rise a few days ago with three-point gains apiece.

"It is a point of observation that what goes up first will be the first to go down and vice versa.

"Despite continued gains in Bethlehem, U.S. Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Alleghany Ludlum and Armco, it was found that Republic, Lukens, Inland, Youngstown Sheet and Universal Cyclops were down on the day Tuesday with balance unchanged.

"This mixed appearance in the group which has spearheaded the rise is the usual forerunner to some further profit-taking."

Bache & Co. doesn't believe the market advance indicates a definite reversal of the downtrend which began in January. It bases the view on various divergencies and other unfavorable technical signs occurring in the previous four weeks.

"It appears that the primary significance is an improved tone for the short term which will provide an increased number of trading opportunities," the investment firm said.

"We do not suggest buying stocks across the board but we do feel that the range of selectivity for individual trades will probably increase."

Burglar Gives Arm For TV Set He Failed To Get

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 22-year-old burglar gave his right arm Wednesday for a television set he failed to get.

Richard Lipshanic's arm was almost severed by a falling shard of plate glass as he reached through a show window he and two friends had broken to steal the display merchandise, police said. The amputation, above the elbow, was completed at Coney Island Hospital, where Lipshanic was in critical condition from loss of blood.

His left arm, police said, is tattooed with the words: "Born to Lose."

Bees recognize honey-yielding flowers first by color and secondly by scent, according to experiments.

Windsor's Friends Canvass Palace Opinion On Ending "Exile"

LONDON (UPI)—Some of the Duke of Windsor's old friends at court are quietly canvassing palace opinion on the possibility of his return from what many regard as exile.

The duke, who will be 66 years old on June 23, ruled only briefly as King Edward VIII. He has not lived in Britain since his 1936 abdication and only slips in occasionally and almost unnoticed for brief personal visits.

Those of the court claim that a return from exile would be tremendously popular with large sections of the people, and that time has dulled the antagonisms aroused by renouncing the British throne for the love of an American divorcee, Wallis Warfield Simpson.

They want to give their former king the opportunity to return to his homeland in his late years.

Edward assumed the title of Windsor after the abdication and went to live in France where he married Mrs. Warfield on June 3, 1937 a few days after he had been granted the style and precedence of a royal highness —for himself only.

The last three words—"for himself only"—are printed in italics in Debrett's, the who's who in peerage, and are believed to be the key to the situation.

For if the Windsors did return to Britain they would in theory have to be separated at official functions. His place would be among the royal family.

Tiny New Genie Of Molecular Electronics Promises Vital Jobs In Space Race

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A tiny, amazing new genie is coming alive in electronics.

It may bring you TV sets worn like a wristwatch, or even built into a pair of spectacles. It could fashion radios no bigger than a fingertip, or electronic "brains" the size of a shoebox.

First it promises vital jobs in guiding missiles and satellites, in exploring space, and in military communications.

Based on a new principle, this genie is molecular electronics.

One tiny sliver of material can do the work not only of vacuum tubes but other components such as rectifiers, resistors, and condensers.

This vastly slashes size and weight. There are no moving parts, nothing to wear out. Simplicity means more reliability, far less chance that something can go wrong electronically, for example, in a million-dollar satellite wheeling around the earth.

The secret is creating zones or domains of special types of molecules within one thin sliver or round dot of semiconductors.

Each domain performs one job, and is separated from others by boundaries or interfaces within the material. Electronics can be made to follow orders.

Voltage or power is fed in, and controlled energy comes out. Only two wires or leads are soldered onto the chip of material, which may weigh as little as one one-hundredth of an ounce.

Westinghouse Electric Corp. here is a major pioneer in molecular electronics. For nearly a year its scientists have worked under a two-million-dollar Air Force grant to prove the feasibility of the new concept. Some other firms also are active in the new field.

Eight different types of molecular arrangements or tiny "blocks" have been developed, reports Dr. S. W. Herwald, vice president for research. Westinghouse scientists also have developed ingenious methods of growing the material and arranging the desired "families" of molecules.

The break with tradition is not to think of customary circuits with many components and trying to miniaturize them, Dr. Herwald explains.

Instead, as many functions as possible are put in one little blob of material by engineering the right domains of molecules.

This approach came from fundamental and applied research in solid state physics and semi-conductors, such as germanium and silicon, and other atoms which confer special characteristics.

Such research earlier led to transistors, which mainly replace vacuum tubes. In some molecular electronics devices, one domain can do the work of the transistor, and other domains do other tasks.

Yet the whole thing is unbelievably tiny, an eighth of an inch wide, a quarter-inch long, and only three times thicker than this newspaper page.

Crystals of germanium and silicon contain millions of electrons, wandering about in random fashion. Dr. Herwald explains. But scientists are learning how to make them do special work by adding precise amounts of molecules of gallium, boron, phosphorous, arsenic and other elements at certain spots, or even, to certain depths.

These molecules are placed in the germanium-silicon block by various techniques, including etching, photographic imprinting, or formation of special alloys.

So far, the little devices have been largely hand-tooled, but new research promises to make production nearly automatic.

In one prime step, the crystals of germanium and silicon now can be drawn from a furnace in a continuous, mirror-shiny ribbon or strip an eighth of an inch wide, and a few thousandths of an inch thick.

This is the basic material, its crystal structure aligned in the desired way.

The starting materials are kept molten in a small furnace. Then a small seed of the desired crystal is introduced, and rapidly pulled out, resulting in a ribbon drawn out as fast as 17 inches per minute.

The seeding compels the formation of crystals just like the original seed, in a process startingly like the reproduction of living genes, explains Dr. R. L. Longini.

Fidel May Have Committed His Biggest Blunder

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY
By United Press International

When Fidel Castro invited the Communist leaders of Soviet Russia and Red China to sit down and break bread with him in Cuba he may have committed his biggest political blunder.

Not only has the Cuban Premier removed the last of the veils he has used to mask his political leanings—he has confronted Cuba's predominantly Catholic people with a clear-cut issue of Christian principle versus Communist atheism.

The invitations to Nikita Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung to visit Cuba at a time when they are openly threatening the free world with armed aggression mean that Castro has made his political bed. It is hard to see how his American apologists can gloss over the fact.

The political implications of the Red leaders' projected visits cannot be minimized. It is safe to assume their house calls will result in military alliances in the not too distant future.

Such mutual aid pacts would confront the United States with the likelihood of Communist military bases on hemisphere soil less than 90 miles at its nearest point from the Florida coastline.

Indeed, witnesses before the Senate's internal security subcommittee have in recent days related ominous indications of Communist pre-selection of military sites in Cuba.

It appears the time is ripe for collective hemisphere discussion of action to be taken against the Castro regime.

What shape this should take should be left to the discretion of the Organization of American States. It is that hemisphere-wide body which is charged with the responsibility for the maintenance of the political integrity of the Americas.

But if the OAS should shirk its duty or shrink from the bold challenge to its authority, then the United States would have to face up to its responsibilities as leader of the free world.

The Monroe Doctrine of "America for the Americans" continues as a cornerstone of U.S. foreign policy 137 years after its birth.

It is to be doubted that the United States will permit a nation for which it has fought a war for freedom to become at this late date a Communist satellite; a dagger pointed at the heart of a free hemisphere.

German Speed Limit Test Proves Flop

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A holiday weekend experiment with speed limits aimed to reduce highway accidents has brought mixed reactions among motorists in West Germany.

Incomplete reports show that 100 persons were killed last weekend—when limits of 62 m.p.h. were put on autobahns and 50 on other roads—compared with 110 killed on the same weekend a year ago.

The two major auto clubs said the limits were no help; the Traffic Ministry said the limits need a further testing.

Each domain performs one job, and is separated from others by boundaries or interfaces within the material. Electronics can be made to follow orders.

Voltage or power is fed in, and controlled energy comes out. Only two wires or leads are soldered onto the chip of material, which may weigh as little as one one-hundredth of an ounce.

Westinghouse Electric Corp. here is a major pioneer in molecular electronics. For nearly a year its scientists have worked under a two-million-dollar Air Force grant to prove the feasibility of the new concept. Some other firms also are active in the new field.

Eight different types of molecular arrangements or tiny "blocks" have been developed, reports Dr. S. W. Herwald, vice president for research. Westinghouse scientists also have developed ingenious methods of growing the material and arranging the desired "families" of molecules.

The break with tradition is not to think of customary circuits with many components and trying to miniaturize them, Dr. Herwald explains.

Instead, as many functions as possible are put in one little blob of material by engineering the right domains of molecules.

This approach came from fundamental and applied research in solid state physics and semi-conductors, such as germanium and silicon, and other atoms which confer special characteristics.

Such research earlier led to transistors, which mainly replace vacuum tubes. In some molecular electronics devices, one domain can do the work of the transistor, and other domains do other tasks.

Yet the whole thing is unbelievably tiny, an eighth of an inch wide, a quarter-inch long, and only three times thicker than this newspaper page.

Crystals of germanium and silicon contain millions of electrons, wandering about in random fashion. Dr. Herwald explains. But scientists are learning how to make them do special work by adding precise amounts of molecules of gallium, boron, phosphorous, arsenic and other elements at certain spots, or even, to certain depths.

These molecules are placed in the germanium-silicon block by various techniques, including etching, photographic imprinting, or formation of special alloys.

So far, the little devices have been largely hand-tooled, but new research promises to make production nearly automatic.

In one prime step, the crystals of germanium and silicon now can be drawn from a furnace in a continuous, mirror-shiny ribbon or strip an eighth of an inch wide, and a few thousandths of an inch thick.

This is the basic material, its crystal structure aligned in the desired way.

The starting materials are kept molten in a small furnace. Then a small seed of the desired crystal is introduced, and rapidly pulled out, resulting in a ribbon drawn out as fast as 17 inches per minute.

The seeding compels the formation of crystals just like the original seed, in a process startingly like the reproduction of living genes, explains Dr. R. L. Longini.

Fidel May Have Committed His Biggest Blunder

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY
By United Press International

When Fidel Castro invited the Communist leaders of Soviet Russia and Red China to sit down and break bread with him in Cuba he may have committed his biggest political blunder.

Not only has the Cuban Premier removed the last of the veils he has used to mask his political leanings—he has confronted Cuba's predominantly Catholic people with a clear-cut issue of Christian principle versus Communist atheism.

The invitations to Nikita Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung to visit Cuba at a time when they are openly threatening the free world with armed aggression mean that Castro has made his political bed. It is hard to see how his American apologists can gloss over the fact.

The political implications of the Red leaders' projected visits cannot be minimized. It is safe to assume their house calls will result in military alliances in the not too distant future.

Such mutual aid pacts would confront the United States with the likelihood of Communist military bases on hemisphere soil less than 90 miles at its nearest point from the Florida coastline.

Indeed, witnesses before the Senate's internal security subcommittee have in recent days related ominous indications of Communist pre-selection of military sites in Cuba.

It appears the time is ripe for collective hemisphere discussion of action to be taken against the Castro regime.

What shape this should take should be left to the discretion of the Organization of American States. It is that hemisphere-wide body which is charged with the responsibility for the maintenance of the political integrity of the Americas.

But if the OAS should shirk its duty or shrink from the bold challenge to its authority, then the United States would have to face up to its responsibilities as leader of the free world.

The Monroe Doctrine of "America for the Americans" continues as a cornerstone of U.S. foreign policy 137 years after its birth.

It is to be doubted that the United States will permit a nation for which it has fought a war for freedom to become at this late date a Communist satellite; a dagger pointed at the heart of a free hemisphere.

German Speed Limit Test Proves Flop

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A holiday weekend experiment with speed limits aimed to reduce highway accidents has brought mixed reactions among motorists in West Germany.

Incomplete reports show that 100 persons were killed last weekend—when limits of 62 m.p.h. were put on autobahns and 50 on other roads—compared with 110 killed on the same weekend a year ago.

The two major auto clubs said the limits were no help; the Traffic Ministry said the limits need a further testing.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — A teenager in bed flicks a switch and hears piped-in popular music.

The place: A hospital at the Baylor University Medical Center in Dallas, Tex.

The piped-in music was among recommendations made by bobby-soxers asked to help plan the ultra-modern institution.

Boone Powell, administrator of the Baylor University Medical Center, reports on the hospital in the current issue of "Hospitals," the journal of the American Hospital Association.

As a result of teen-age participation in the planning, the new women and children's hospital at Baylor has a "twelve to twenty" wing, for teen-age patients only.

During the planning, the teenagers complained about the injury to their psyches when put in a pediatric ward or an adult one.

The pediatric ward, made them feel childish. In the adult sector, they also felt out of place.

Powell said the teenagers on the planning committee contributed excellent ideas for setting up the adolescent unit — an idea which had not been explored previously.

"One of the first requests was that we drop the term teenage," Powell said. "They considered that this term had been overused, and, in the minds of some, it was synonymous with delinquent.

"They suggested that the new division be called the 'Twelve to Twenty Club.' Since the division would provide services to patients from the ages of 12 through 19, this name was enthusiastically adopted."

In addition to asking for a roost of their own, the bobby - soxers recommended that the rooms be made as cheerful and colorful as possible through adequate lighting and bright decorations.

They wanted room telephones —and the piped-in popular music, instead of the classical music available to other patients.

In the choice of draperies, they preferred stripes or checks to solid colors.

They also requested that young nurses be assigned to the division.

Storm Shelters Can Take Lives

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) — Tornado shelters can be a life saver or a life taker, according to Dr. DeWitt Hunt, Oklahoma State University safety specialist.

In one year, Hunt said, there were six persons killed in Oklahoma by twisters and six killed in or about the shelters.

The difference of whether a shelter kills or saves human lives, depends on how the shelter is built, where it is located, how it is lighted and heated, and access to the structure, he said.

Cellars piped for gas are dangerous. Hunt said the line can break and those in the shelter can be asphyxiated. He advises electric heat and lights—or blankets and flashlights.

Shelters should be under a portion of the house, patio or garage, he said. There should be an entrance from the house and an exit to out-of-doors. The concrete should be reinforced adequately to withstand fire or collapse of a structure above.

"A protective fire door should be between the shelter and house," the safety expert said. "Also, there should be vents, but only on outside walls of the storm shelter.

"The storm shelter need not be more than eight feet square to accommodate six or more persons. There should be two three-deck bunks, but a food supply is not necessary. Water is needed."

Thomas B. Finan, Maryland secretary of state, acting in behalf of Gov. J. Millard Tawes, will present the keys to the armory to Lt. Col. Robert C. Matlick, battalion commander.

Preceding the ceremony, a dinner will be held for military guests and civic leaders at the Cumberland Country Club.

Heading the military contingent will be Lt. Gen. George C. Reed, Fort Meade, commander of the Second Armory; Maj. Gen. Donald McGowen, chief of the National Guard Bureau, and Maj. Gen. William C. Purnell, commander of the 29th Division.

Upon their arrival at the armory the guests will be saluted by an honor guard from Headquarters Company and Company C which are housed in the new building.

CUF Begins New Program To Give Aid To Sick

"Hardly Anybody Wants To Get Sick."

Such is the title and the general theme of the first pamphlet produced by volunteer workers on the Health Education Committee of the Health Research & Services Foundation of County United Fund.

The committee is headed by Ralph R. Webster, assisted by Raymond C. Adams, James E. Bangerd, Albert E. Beckman, Dr. Ernest E. Church and Dr. Leo H. Ley, Jr.

"If you do get sick," the pamphlet urges residents of the CUF area, "trust your physician, and follow his directions faithfully and whole-heartedly. Get in touch with the Health Foundation of Allegany County, Md., and Mineral County, W. Va.

Qualified for assistance from the foundation is any person residing in the CUF area "who has a medical care and/or treatment problem, need for equipment and/or services which he is financially unable to provide for himself and cannot secure through the resources of any interested individual organization or agency."

According to the new pamphlet, "Your physician is important. He determines your medical needs and the prescribed treatment. The Health Foundation is no substitute for your physician, for there can be no substitute for the relationship between patient and physician.

"In fact, the Health Foundation will not act without information supplied by your physician at your request. Even then, the Health Foundation will want to work with your physician.

Those who need help are urged to get in touch with the Direct Services Committee of the foundation as soon as they know that they may need the kind of help which the Foundation can offer.

The reason for this, it is explained, is that the committee cannot pay back medical bills. It can only help with those medical expenses starting with the date on which a case is accepted.

The Direct Services Committee includes Mrs. George M. Young, chairman, Charles H. Brode, Marvin E. Clark, Dr. Donald B. Grove, John A. Moberly, Woodward D. Pealer, Miss Mary Margaret Smith and Dr. James H. Wolverton, Jr. Application may be made direct to the committee, or patients may be referred by physicians or case workers of the seven exisiting family service agencies of CUF.

Applicants must be careful and complete in giving the case worker the information needed by the foundation, the pamphlet advises. They will want to sit down with her and discuss their cases in detail.

"It isn't because she is snoopy," the pamphlet states. "It's because this is the community's money (including yours) and the community (including you) expects the money to be well spent in the way that is best for you and best for the community."

By utilizing the services of case workers in existing family service agencies, CUF officials point out that the cost of operating the foundation's medical aid program is practically negligible. In addition to direct medical aid, the foundation also supports research projects and conducts programs in both professional education and community health education, with the latter programs being carried out by volunteers.

To get additional information or to make application for assistance, residents are advised to call or write to the Health Research & Services Foundation, Frederick and Liberty Streets, Cumberland.

The earth's crust is about five billion years old.

National Guard Armory To Be Dedicated Tonight

The new National Guard Armory for the 115th Medium Tank Battalion in Ridgedale Addition will be dedicated today at 8:15 p.m.

Conducting the ceremony will be Col. Randolph Millholland, this city, assistant deputy commander of the 29th Division.

Thomas B. Finan, Maryland secretary of state, acting in behalf of Gov. J. Millard Tawes, will present the keys to the armory to Lt. Col. Robert C. Matlick, battalion commander.

Preceding the ceremony, a dinner will be held for military guests and civic leaders at the Cumberland Country Club.

Heading the military contingent will be Lt. Gen. George C. Reed, Fort Meade, commander of the Second Armory; Maj. Gen. Donald McGowen, chief of the National Guard Bureau, and Maj. Gen. William C. Purnell, commander of the 29th Division.

Upon their arrival at the armory the guests will be saluted by an honor guard from Headquarters Company and Company C which are housed in the new building.

Following the dedication, a dance will be held for personnel their wives and guests.

The split-level brick structure was completed and occupied this past winter. Located on Brown Avenue, it was built by the John I. Vandegrift Company.

CUF Begins New Program To Give Aid To Sick

"Hardly Anybody Wants To Get Sick."

Such is the title and the general theme of the first pamphlet produced by volunteer workers on the Health Education Committee of the Health Research & Services Foundation of County United Fund.

The committee is headed by Ralph R. Webster, assisted by Raymond C. Adams, James E. Bangerd, Albert E. Beckman, Dr. Ernest E. Church and Dr. Leo H. Ley, Jr.

"If you do get sick," the pamphlet urges residents of the CUF area, "trust your physician, and follow his directions faithfully and whole-heartedly. Get in touch with the Health Foundation of Allegany County, Md., and Mineral County, W. Va.

Qualified for assistance from the foundation is any person residing in the CUF area "who has a medical care and/or treatment problem, need for equipment and/or services which he is financially unable to provide for himself and cannot secure through the resources of any interested individual organization or agency."

According to the new pamphlet, "Your physician is important. He determines your medical needs and the prescribed treatment. The Health Foundation is no substitute for your physician, for there can be no substitute for the relationship between patient and physician.

"In fact, the Health Foundation will not act without information supplied by your physician at your request. Even then, the Health Foundation will want to work with your physician.

Those who need help are urged to get in touch with the Direct Services Committee of the foundation as soon as they know that they may need the kind of help which the Foundation can offer.

The reason for this, it is explained, is that the committee cannot pay back medical bills. It can only help with those medical expenses starting with the date on which a case is accepted.

The Direct Services Committee includes Mrs. George M. Young, chairman, Charles H. Brode, Marvin E. Clark, Dr. Donald B. Grove, John A. Moberly, Woodward D. Pealer, Miss Mary Margaret Smith and Dr. James H. Wolverton, Jr. Application may be made direct to the committee, or patients may be referred by physicians or case workers of the seven exisiting family service agencies of CUF.

Applicants must be careful and complete in giving the case worker the information needed by the foundation, the pamphlet advises. They will want to sit down with her and discuss their cases in detail.

"It isn't because she is snoopy," the pamphlet states. "It's because this is the community's money (including yours) and the community (including you) expects the money to be well spent in the way that is best for you and best for the community."

By utilizing the services of case workers in existing family service agencies, CUF officials point out that the cost of operating the foundation's medical aid program is practically negligible. In addition to direct medical aid, the foundation also supports research projects and conducts programs in both professional education and community health education, with the latter programs being carried out by volunteers.

To get additional information or to make application for assistance, residents are advised to call or write to the Health Research & Services Foundation, Frederick and Liberty Streets, Cumberland.

State Police Seminar Planned Here

The first in a series of one-day State Police seminars to be conducted throughout Maryland will be held here Tuesday, July 12, Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming announced yesterday.

Fleming and Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney met yesterday with Major M. M. Punke and Lt. G. R. Cole, of State Police headquarters at Pikesville, and Lt. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the LaVale Barracks, to map plans for the seminar which will be on use of the "breatholizer" in drunk driving cases.

A movie will be shown in connection with the use of the device, Fleming said.

The police commissioner said the seminar will be for all law enforcement officers and be held in the old federal court room, now occupied by magistrate's court, on the second floor of the Public Safety Building.

Another feature of the program, he said, will be a talk by Morgan C. Harris, chief judge of the Fourth Judicial Court, on court room procedure, behavior and dress.

Hours of the seminar will be 9 a. m. to noon and 1:30 to 4:30 p. m.

Others are scheduled for Frederick, College Park, Bel Air, Salisbury and Eatson.

Fleming said the Cumberland Police Department "is happy to inaugurate this series of meetings and be host to law enforcement officers here."

He added he considers it a "break" that Cumberland has been selected as the first site for a seminar in view of the fact that it appears the breatholizer device will become part of the routine investigation in driving cases.

An ultra-hard glass with melting point close to that of silver is now being used in scientific equipment. The equipment is especially desirable because of the low coefficient of expansion of the glass.

Union Request Studied

BOMBAY, India (AP)—The Indian government has appointed a senior administrative officer H.K.L. Kapoor to study a request from two small former Portuguese areas for union with India. The tiny areas broke away from Portugal in 1954 at the height of Indian efforts to expel the Portuguese colonials from their old enclaves on the Indian west coast—mainly Goa, Damao and Diu.

Doctors May Strike

VIENNA (AP)—Austria's state hospital doctors threaten to strike June 17 unless they get a higher bonus for night work, a special bonus for high responsibility jobs and some reforms in hospital procedures.

Capt. Green Gets Degree

Capt. Sydney Green Jr., son of Mrs. Helen (Henderson) Green, Bowling Green, and the late Sydney Green, was among eight Ramstein Air Force Base officers who received bachelor of science degrees in military studies during University of Maryland commencement ceremonies at Heidelberg, Germany.

Ramstein is an overseas branch of the University of Maryland. Degrees were presented by Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the University. Speaker was Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin.

Capt. Green is weapons maintenance officer at Ramstein Air Force Base. He began his studies in 1954 at the College Park campus and since March 1957 his activity in the overseas division earned him two USAFE awards.

Among the College Park campus, the Wiesbaden and Ramstein centers and previous college studies at Brown University, Capt. Green accumulated sufficient semester hours to fulfill his degree requirements.

Capt. Green, who has been serving in Germany for three years, is a nephew of former Chief Judge George Henderson, Braddock Road.

Randolph Urges Adequate Budget

ELKINS, W. Va. (AP) — West Virginia spends only $20,000 a year to promote tourist trade as compared with expenditures of $501,000 by Virginia and $375,000 by North Carolina for the same purpose, Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-WVa) said Thursday.

The senator was the keynote speaker at a travel clinic, which opened here for a two-day run.

Randolph quoted figures compiled by the American Automobile Assn. on money spent by various states to lure the tourists. Randolph said West Virginia, Virginia and North Carolina offer similar attractions.

"Of course, we cannot engage in the competitive business and attract tourists on such terms," he said.

Randolph also reminded his audience that private tourist facilities and accommodations have responsibilities to advertise the state's natural beauty. He praised the recent formation of the West Virginia Mountain State Tourists Bureau.

Randolph suggested that the state should try to keep pace with its neighbors in the amount of money appropriated to promote tourist trade.

He also recommended that more efforts go into the promotion of skiing, the state parks, season festivals and other such attractions.

Last but not least, the senator said, is the need to improve the state's highway system.

Flood Project Ends First Year In Good Shape

Rip-Rap Undercut By High Waters

The Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project is in "very good shape," according to Col. George B. Sumner, Washington District engineer for the Corps of Engineers.

The report was given here as the Corps of Engineers completed an inspection as part of the "Little John" flood emergency exercise.

It was the first detailed check made by the Corps since the $18,100,000 project was turned over to the City of Cumberland for operation on May 9, 1959.

Col. Sumner said the city's flood maintenance crew has been taking good care of the project.

Cites Encroachments

He said there are a few encroachments on the easement area along Wills Creek which have been found.

Levees, he said, are generally holding up well and the only trouble found is just above the deflection vane at the mouth of Wills Creek, where rip-rap has settled.

He said the stone will have to be removed so bedding material can be replaced before the rip-rap can be replaced to the design grade.

City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, who serves as superintendent of the project, said the high water this spring undercut the bedding material and allowed the stone paving to drop.

The responsibility for repairs has not been discussed but Mr. Nuzum said it is "not a maintenance problem."

Gravel Deposited

City officials estimate that up to 2,000 tons of sand and gravel was deposited in Wills Creek during the recent high waters.

About 1,400 tons were removed from the stream recently. The deposits form chiefly at the B&O viaduct and the Western Maryland railway bridge at Baltimore Street when piers obstruct the free flow of the stream.

No plans have been made for the removal of the new deposits. City officials some weeks ago made arrangements for gravel bank removal, which is a government responsibility, by the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company.

Authorizes Redemption

DALLAS (UPI) — Directors of Texas & Pacific Railway Co. have authorized the redemption of $23,703,000 of outstanding preferred stock. The move is subject to approval of the interstate commerce commission.

Casual clothes need that fastidious look!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Grooming Glossary

As every Powers Girl who has won her laurels before a camera in a swim suit knows, you can't be a bathing beauty and casual about your grooming at the same time.

The mermaid who dons a bathing suit, fluffs some powder on her nose and thinks she's ready for the beach — isn't! Casual clothes are no license for casual grooming. In fact, the more informal your attire, the more finished and expert your grooming must be.

If you have any doubts, just consider how strong the summer light and abbreviated clothing reveal your fastidiousness or the slightest lack of it. Then ponder for a moment how little personal distinction your simply designed swim suits, shorts and play dresses lend your looks compared with your best evening frock.

Convinced? Then here's what you should check every time you want to be your most beguiling in your less beguiling clothes:

1. Feet: Meticulously pedicured with nails filed straight across the tip, and polish, if used, to match fingernaiils. 2. Ankles: Calluses at the heel cleaned and leveled witih a wet pumice. 3. Legs: Free of all fuzz. 4. Hands: Flawlessly manicured. (For a lasting finish, put a sealing topcoat over the entire surface of the nail and along the underside of the tip.) 5. Arms: Underarms freed of superfluous hair with a dry razor and treated with an antiperspirant (use any good commercial one or a 25% solution of aluminum chloride made by a druggist.) 6. Elbows: Smoothed with wet pumice. 7. Body: All exposed areas protected with a sunburn preventative. 8. Face: Carefully made-down to withstand inspection in the sun's glare. A sparing layer of foundation, even for swimming, in a color that matches your degree of tan will look natural and preserve the beauty of your skin for another day. 9. Hair brushed to neat and shining perfection. Be sure to wear a hat or scarf to prevent discoloring or dryness when your hair will be exposed to the sun for long periods.

Spic-and-span grooming is what it takes to achieve a striking appearance any time!

TOMORROW: The Woes of Frowning.

SUMMERIZING YOUR BEAUTY: Summer-fresh beauty . . . the year around! It's yours for the asking—just read SUMMERIZING YOUR BEAUTY. Send for your copy today (enclosing 10c and a stamped, return envelope) to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this newspaper.

Casual clothes need that fastidious look!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Grooming Glossary

As every Powers Girl who has won her laurels before a camera in a swim suit knows, you can't be a bathing beauty and casual about your grooming at the same time.

The mermaid who dons a bathing suit, fluffs some powder on her nose and thinks she's ready for the beach — isn't! Casual clothes are no license for casual grooming. In fact, the more informal your attire, the more finished and expert your grooming must be.

If you have any doubts, just consider how strong the summer light and abbreviated clothing reveal your fastidiousness or the slightest lack of it. Then ponder for a moment how little personal distinction your simply designed swim suits, shorts and play dresses lend your looks compared with your best evening frock.

Convinced? Then here's what you should check every time you want to be your most beguiling in your less beguiling clothes:

1. Feet: Meticulously pedicured with nails filed straight across the tip, and polish, if used, to match fingernails. 2. Ankles: Calluses at the heel cleaned and leveled with a wet pumice. 3. Legs: Free of all fuzz. 4. Hands: Flawlessly manicured. (For a lasting finish, put a sealing topcoat over the entire surface of the nail and along the underside of the tip.) 5. Arms: Underarms freed of superfluous hair with a dry razor and treated with an antiperspirant (use any good commercial one or a 25% solution of aluminum chloride made by a druggist.) 6. Elbows: Smoothed with wet pumice. 7. Body: All exposed areas protected with a sunburn preventative. 8. Face: Carefully made-down to withstand inspection in the sun's glare. A sparing layer of foundation, even for swimming, in a color that matches your degree of tan will look natural and preserve the beauty of your skin for another day. 9. Hair brushed to neat and shining perfection. Be sure to wear a hat or scarf to prevent discoloring or dryness when your hair will be exposed to the sun for long periods.

Spic-and-span grooming is what it takes to achieve a striking appearance any time!

TOMORROW: The Woes of Frowning.

SUMMERIZING YOUR BEAUTY: Summer-fresh beauty . . . the year around! It's yours for the asking—just read SUMMERIZING YOUR BEAUTY. Send for your copy today (enclosing 10c and a stamped, return envelope) to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this newspaper.

HOLLYWOOD

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—The late Louis B. Mayer frequently said to me, "One of the great talents in the business is Kathryn Grayson whose face is as expressive as her voice," and I agreed with him. But for personal reasons Kathryn grew indifferent about her movie career several years ago—and it's been too long since she appeared in a picture.

Now Kathryn really is interested again. In mid-October she goes to London to star in "Tonight at the Opera." It's a triangle about an American singer married to a politican who resents her co-starring fame with a romantic tenor. His jealousy wrecks his own career. The producer is Anthony Hinds, and Val Guest, an American who has scored his best hits with British films, directs Katie.

The biggest price Robert Lippert Associated Producers Co. has ever shelled out for a property is for "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" which Lippert just bought from Jack Karp of Paramount. Barre Lyndon's screenplay is part of the deal.

I flatly refuse to remember how many years ago the late Jack Pickford starred in the sentimental tale of the boy of the Cumberland Mountains for Sam Goldwayn. Richard Barthelmess remade it for First National in the mid 20's.

Lippert, who goes into the hospital Friday for minor surgery, says he has no definite star in mind for the John Fox Jr., classic. "But it won't be an unknown," says the producer, "too much money tied up."

July 30th of last year I said it was 99 per cent sure that Frank Ross would buy "The Life and Times of Norman Vincent Peale," famous miniter, writer and philosopher, to star Glenn Ford.

Now, a year later, the story has changed a little, but is still very similar. Glenn Ford himself has bought the rights to the life of the man whose book "The Power of Positive Thinking" has influenced many people. Glenn will make it for his own company but that won't be until after he finishes "Cry for Happy" and "The Image Makers." There's no mention now of Frank Ross so he probably gave up the idea.

While Marlene Dietrich was aboard a jet plane flying from Germany to Israel, she received an emergency telephone call from her husband Rudy Seiber. He asked if she possibly could return to Munich where his mother is dying. She cabled Rudy that she had left the plane at the first stop to return to Germany to be with his mother.

An enduring relationship exists between Marlene and Rudy through their marriage of over 30 years, even though they do not live together.

I know that it's possible to telephone from that plane on which Marlene travelled, because Otto Preminger called me when he was en route to Israel, although I couldn't hear him too well.

The most contrite husband in all Hollywood is Ty Hardin who was divorced last week by his actress-wife, Andra Martin. Ty is asking the advice of anyone with whom he talks about how he can win Andra back.

Pardon the cliche, Ty, but "faint heart never won fair lady," so keep at it. It's especially sad they've parted because of their twin boys. Andra won't talk to anyone about what caused her sudden decision to seek a divorce, so who knows what is wrong. I thought they were both very very happy.

If all fathers acted as wisely as Jack Entratter, president of the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, there would be more harmony between parents and children. His eldest daughter, Caryl, who is living in New York, telephoned him to say she had fallen in love with Michael Palin.

"I want to marry him, Dad, and we've set the date for Oct. 23," she said, "but I want you and mother to meet him first."

Jack planed out in nothing flat to see if Michael measures up to Caryl's enthusiastic description. Dorothy (Mrs. E.) and their other daughter Michele leave Vegas in a few days to join Jack and meet Caryl's suitor. Jack said there didn't seem to be any doubt but that papa would approve of her choice.

Kills Self, Children

MADRID (UPI) — An Algerian Moslem jumped to his death from the fifth floor of a hotel after he threw his two young children to their deaths Tuesday, it was disclosed Thursday by police.

The incident occurred a short time after the father, Mohamed Ben Driss, and his two children, Alexca, four, and Ranchind, two, had checked into the hotel.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Even delicate wallpapers can often be washed successfully with care. Use clear warm water, without soap or detergent and wash from the bottom upwards, with a light stroke. Pat dry.

HOLLYWOOD

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—The late Louis B. Mayer frequently said to me, "One of the great talents in the business is Kathryn Grayson whose face is as expressive as her voice," and I agreed with him. But for personal reasons Kathryn grew indifferent about her movie career several years ago—and it's been too long since she appeared in a picture.

Now Kathryn really is interested again. In mid-October she goes to London to star in "Tonight at the Opera." It's a triangle about an American singer married to a politican who resents her co-starring fame with a romantic tenor. His jealousy wrecks his own career. The producer is Anthony Hinds, and Val Guest, an American who has scored his best hits with British films, directs Katie.

The biggest price Robert Lippert Associated Producers Co. has ever shelled out for a property is for "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" which Lippert just bought from Jack Karp of Paramount. Barre Lyndon's screenplay is part of the deal.

I flatly refuse to remember how many years ago the late Jack Pickford starred in the sentimental tale of the boy of the Cumberland Mountains for Sam Goldwayn. Richard Barthelmess remade it for First National in the mid 20's.

Lippert, who goes into the hospital Friday for minor surgery, says he has no definite star in mind for the John Fox Jr., classic. "But it won't be an unknown," says the producer, "too much money tied up."

July 30th of last year I said it was 99 per cent sure that Frank Ross would buy "The Life and Times of Norman Vincent Peale," famous miniter, writer and philosopher, to star Glenn Ford.

Now, a year later, the story has changed a little, but is still very similar. Glenn Ford himself has bought the rights to the life of the man whose book "The Power of Positive Thinking" has influenced many people. Glenn will make it for his own company but that won't be until after he finishes "Cry for Happy" and "The Image Makers." There's no mention now of Frank Ross so he probably gave up the idea.

While Marlene Dietrich was aboard a jet plane flying from Germany to Israel, she received an emergency telephone call from her husband Rudy Seiber. He asked if she possibly could return to Munich where his mother is dying. She cabled Rudy that she had left the plane at the first stop to return to Germany to be with his mother.

An enduring relationship exists between Marlene and Rudy through their marriage of over 30 years, even though they do not live together.

I know that it's possible to telephone from that plane on which Marlene travelled, because Otto Preminger called me when he was en route to Israel, although I couldn't hear him too well.

The most contrite husband in all Hollywood is Ty Hardin who was divorced last week by his actress-wife, Andra Martin. Ty is asking the advice of anyone with whom he talks about how he can win Andra back.

Pardon the cliche, Ty, but "faint heart never won fair lady," so keep at it. It's especially sad they've parted because of their twin boys. Andra won't talk to anyone about what caused her sudden decision to seek a divorce, so who knows what is wrong. I thought they were both very very happy.

If all fathers acted as wisely as Jack Entratter, president of the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, there would be more harmony between parents and children. His eldest daughter, Caryl, who is living in New York, telephoned him to say she had fallen in love with Michael Palin.

"I want to marry him, Dad, and we've set the date for Oct. 23," she said, "but I want you and mother to meet him first."

Jack planed out in nothing flat to see if Michael measures up to Caryl's enthusiastic description. Dorothy (Mrs. E.) and their other daughter Michele leave Vegas in a few days to join Jack and meet Caryl's suitor. Jack said there didn't seem to be any doubt but that papa would approve of her choice.

Kills Self, Children

MADRID (UPI) — An Algerian Moslem jumped to his death from the fifth floor of a hotel after he threw his two young children to their deaths Tuesday, it was disclosed Thursday by police.

The incident occurred a short time after the father, Mohamed Ben Driss, and his two children, Alexca, four, and Ranchind, two, had checked into the hotel.

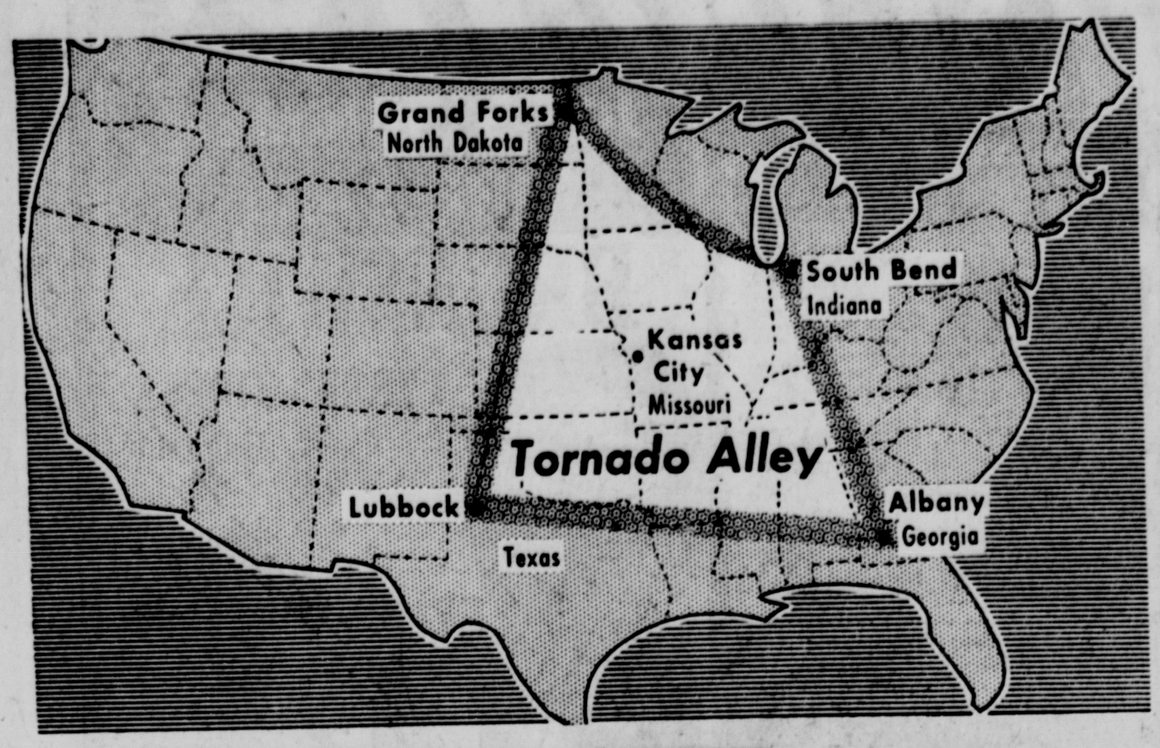
TORNADO ALLEY: NATION'S WEATHERMEN ON CONSTANT WATCH FOR THE DREAD TWISTERS



THE DREAD TWISTER: A tornado funnel dips to earth near Manhattan, Kansas.

KANSAS CITY HUB OF TORNADO ALLEY OPERATIONS

Radar screen gives picture picked up by ball-like scanning unit. Right: thunderstorm 150 miles away. Upper left: storm 100 miles northwest of city.

If storm activity is imminent in area, Robert Babb punches it out on teletype machine and information goes to newspaper, radio and TV stations.

With the tornado season upon us, military and civilian meteorologists again are combining their knowledge and efforts to minimize the devastating effects of the dread twisters.

Today weathermen from the U.S. Weather Bureau and the USAF Air Weather Service are working together in the heart of "Tornado Alley" to determine conditions that cause tornadoes and other severe weather. They predict the time and place of their origin, and paths they follow.

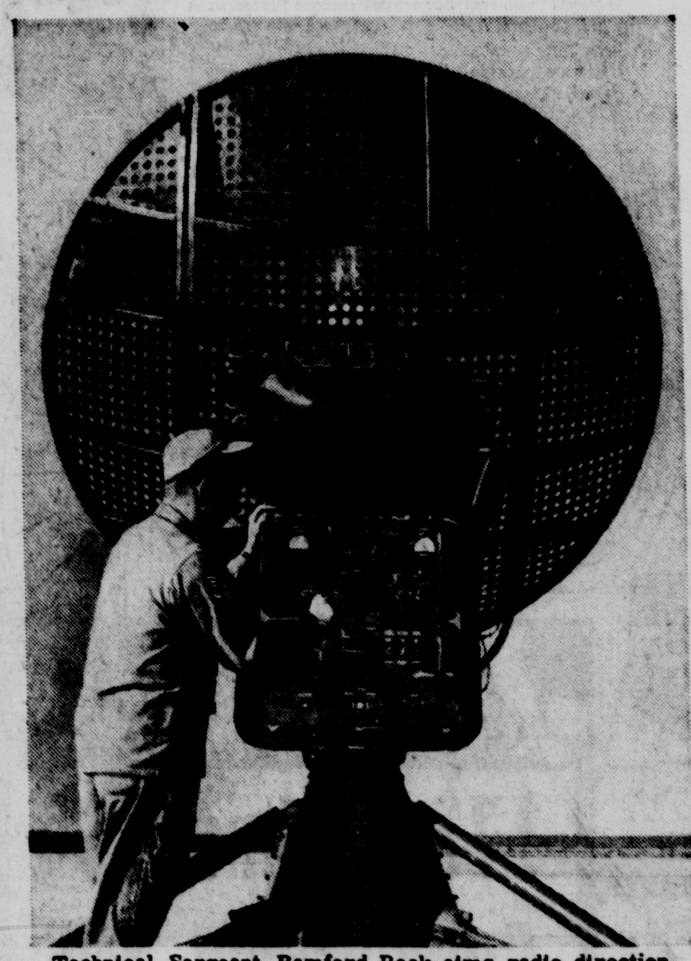
Located jointly in Kansas City, Mo., are the Severe Local Storm (SELS) unit of the Weather Bureau and the Severe Weather Warning Center (SWWC) of the Air Weather Service.

Over the years, Tornado Alley has been broadened to include almost half the area of the continental United States. From Albany, Ga., operations extend northwest to South Bend, Ind., west to Grand Forks, N.D., and south to Lubbock, Tex. The Kansas City center is the hub of this giant complex.

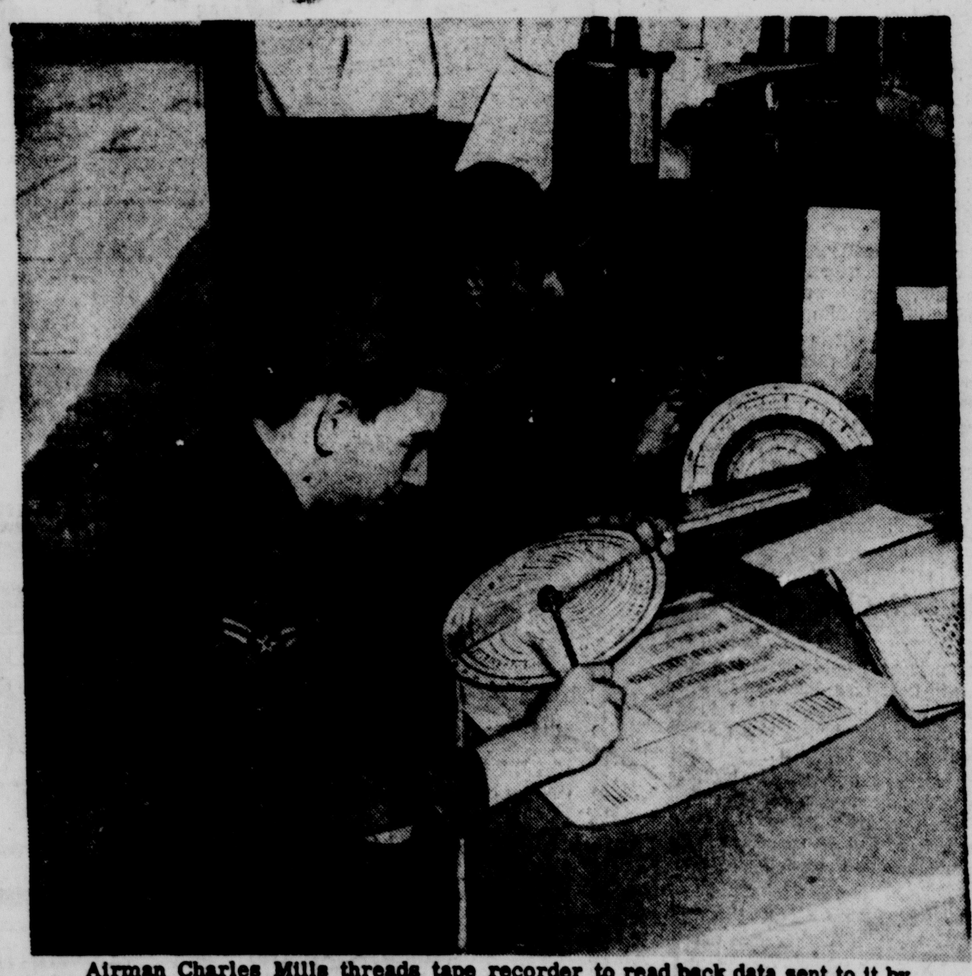
Tornado Alley data is collected by two methods. Mobile USAF teams make upper-air soundings of temperature, humidity, pressure and winds with tiny radios attached to balloons. Other stations locate static electricity discharges using a radio direction-finding system. All data is funneled to the Kansas City center, where reports are plotted to fix the location of active storms. Warnings are then sent out to all areas in the paths of the storms. The ceaseless flow of information helps reduce the terrible destruction and loss of life that result from tornadoes.

MOBILE WEATHER TEAM ON THE ALERT

At Reese, Tex., where Air Force mobile team is on alert for twisters, Airman W.G. Workman releases balloon with radio equipment attached. Data on air conditions at various levels is signaled back to recorder on ground.



Technical Sergeant Ramford Beck aims radio direction finder at balloon to track it high into the atmosphere.



Airman Charles Mills threads tape recorder to read back data sent to it by the tiny radio aloft. Airman John Willis prepares to log the information.

Harriman, Recalling Russian Experience, Urges Stronger America

(Editors NOTE: Probably at no other time in history have Americans been as curious as they are today about Russia, its policies and its people. And probably no living American knows more about Russia than former New York Gov. Averell Harriman, who first visited the country in 1899 and served as U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union from 1943 to 1946.

In a recently published book, "Peace with Russia?" (Simon and Schuster), Harriman tells of a six-week, 18,000-mile tour through the country during which he had a series of conversations with Nikita Khrushchev and other leading Soviet officials. Some of the highlights of the Harriman book are contained in the following dispatch being distributed by United Press International.

By AVERELL HARRIMAN
(Distributed by UPI)

Even before Germany surrendered it became clear to me that the outwardly friendly relations of our wartime alliance were not going to survive the peace.

I reported to the President, the secretary of state and other members of the cabinet that the outward thrust of communism was not dead and that we might well have to face an ideological war against an antagonist just as vigorous and dangerous as Nazism or fascism.

In April, 1945, I cabled Washington: "We must realize that the Soviet program is the establishment of totalitarianism ending personal liberty and democracy as we know and respect it."

During one of my talks with (the late premier Josef) Stalin he told me he expected communism to flourish in "the cesspools of capitalism." The economic dislocations of liberated Western Europe were creating just such dangerous conditions even before the war ended.

Referring to these areas, I wired Washington on April 4: "The Communist Party or its associates everywhere are using economic difficulties in areas under our responsibilities to promote Soviet concepts and policies and to undermine the influence of the Western Allies. The only hope of stopping Soviet penetration is the development of sound economic conditions.

"I recommended specifically that in addition to the relief program of UNRRA we should through such economic aid as we can give to our Western Allies, including Greece as well as Italy, reestablish a reasonable life for the people of these countries."

In April of 1945 I had cabled from Moscow to Washington information Stalin had given me about his ambitious plans for Russian industrial expansion. The plan, I reported, would take 15 or 20 years during which, among other things, Russian steel production capacity was to be tripled from pre-war level. We now know that these plans were not daydreams. Both Stalin and (premier Nikita) Khrushchev had pushed the program with the greatest vigor, and the steel capacity of which I wrote has already been tripled—in 14 years.

The single most vital question anyone examining Soviet policy must ask is:

Do the Soviet leaders still consider their first objective world revolution and their primary task today to make the Soviet Union a bastion from which to launch their assault on the non-Communist world, or are they beginning to modify their global ambitions and bend their energies to building a Russia for the Russians in which the Soviet citizens can enjoy the high standards of living which their skills and resources entitle them to?

When I was in the Soviet Union as American ambassador in 1946 much of the Soviet Union from its western frontiers to Stalingrad 1,500 miles to the east lay largely in ruins.

Its fields were scorched and barren. Its villages had in many cases been burned to the ground. Those factories which had not been evacuated to the Urals had been destroyed. But now with their remarkable energy the Russian people were once more cultivating the wheat-bearing steppes; they had rebuilt the villages and reconstructed industry.

Developed Sputnik

Since my departure I had followed the reports that Soviet economic strength had far surpassed the pre-war levels and that the standard of living of the people was higher than it had been since the Revolution. The sputnik had demonstrated the genius of its scientists and the skill of its engineers. Perhaps, as some Americans had suggested, all these accomplishments had cooled the ardor of the Kremlin leaders for world revolution. Perhaps at last there was a tendency to develop the Russian economy for the benefit of the Russian people rather than to give first priority to building a powerful base for world Communism.

What I found in answer to the question was profoundly disturbing.

In my recent visit to the Soviet Union I had several prolonged talks with Khrushchev and had an opportunity to compare him with his predecessor Stalin.

It seemed to me that whereas Stalin was a prophet of the Marxist creed, Khrushchev is basically a disciple and, like most disciples, even more fanatically faithful to its doctrines. Moreover, Khrushchev now has several rival high priests of Communism—Mao Tse-tung in China, Tito in Yugoslavia and, to a lesser degree, (Wladyslaw) Gomulka in Poland.

Khrushchev Is Friendly

Khrushchev also likes to boast, to bluff and to threaten. Often he loses his temper and his face flushes as he wags his finger under your chin. But a moment later he is calm again and proposes a toast of friendship. He is a consummate actor and obviously enjoys making an impression on his audience. In some respects he may be more dangerous than Stalin, because he is less calculating and careful and more impulsive. But he is certainly less ruthless and arbitrary. It has been suggested he is like Hitler, but I found no resemblance whatever.

Khrushchev though tough and determined, though a fanatical Communist and a devout believer in Marxist doctrine, is intensely human, gregarious and even boisterous.

The information I gathered and the impressions I gained during my recent travels in the Soviet Union and my conversations with its leaders have, I believe, several implications which may be helpful in the consideration of our future attitude toward the U.S.S.R. Here in brief are some of them.

We can no longer afford to be deluded by myths or have our policies muddled by confusion about what is going on in the Soviet Union. We cannot find comfort in any idea that the Communist regime is going to be overthrown or converted to our own beliefs.

For the foreseeable future the leaders in the Kremlin are going to be guided by their firm faith in the triumphal spread of their doctrine across the globe. For a long time to come we are going to face this threat everywhere.

On the other hand, I have never believed and do not believe now that war is inevitable in our struggle to thwart the march of communism. Nor do I think that the present Soviet leaders will bring on war except by miscalculation or mistake.

But we must dismiss as a pleasant daydream any thought of Nikita Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence—competition for survival. The Kremlin leaders cannot be diverted from their primary goal of world revolution with a diplomacy of threats and ultimatums. Affirmative action is called for.

Our first and most important job, I believe, is to maintain the vigor and vitality of our own social and economic system. We must speed up our economic growth to make the fullest use of our natural and human resources and to improve American life in all its aspects for all our citizens.

Must Meet Challenge

In the second place, we must meet the challenge posed by Soviet advances in science by improving our own system of education and turning out enough qualified scientists and specialists to maintain our leadership in this field, but without for a moment sacrificing our primary aim of developing well-rounded, well-educated individuals.

Until we have reached some agreement on arms limitations with foolproof controls we cannot even consider any relaxation of our effort to maintain our defenses and those of our allies, especially those of the North Atlantic community.

At the same time we must assert vigorous and imaginative leadership to make the North Atlantic Treaty Organization not only a strong military alliance but also a united and productive community which combines our resources for the social and economic advancement of its members and the free world.

By AVERELL HARRIMAN
(Distributed by UPI)

Even before Germany surrendered it became clear to me that the outwardly friendly relations of our wartime alliance were not going to survive the peace.

I reported to the President, the secretary of state and other members of the cabinet that the outward thrust of communism was not dead and that we might well have to face an ideological war against an antagonist just as vigorous and dangerous as Nazism or fascism.

In April, 1945, I cabled Washington: "We must realize that the Soviet program is the establishment of totalitarianism ending personal liberty and democracy as we know and respect it."

During one of my talks with (the late premier Josef) Stalin he told me he expected communism to flourish in "the cesspools of capitalism." The economic dislocations of liberated Western Europe were creating just such dangerous conditions even before the war ended.

Referring to these areas, I wired Washington on April 4: "The Communist Party or its associates everywhere are using economic difficulties in areas under our responsibilities to promote Soviet concepts and policies and to undermine the influence of the Western Allies. The only hope of stopping Soviet penetration is the development of sound economic conditions.

"I recommended specifically that in addition to the relief program of UNRRA we should through such economic aid as we can give to our Western Allies, including Greece as well as Italy, reestablish a reasonable life for the people of these countries."

In April of 1945 I had cabled from Moscow to Washington information Stalin had given me about his ambitious plans for Russian industrial expansion. The plan, I reported, would take 15 or 20 years during which, among other things, Russian steel production capacity was to be tripled from pre-war level. We now know that these plans were not daydreams. Both Stalin and (premier Nikita) Khrushchev had pushed the program with the greatest vigor, and the steel capacity of which I wrote has already been tripled—in 14 years.

The single most vital question anyone examining Soviet policy must ask is:

Do the Soviet leaders still consider their first objective world revolution and their primary task today to make the Soviet Union a bastion from which to launch their assault on the non-Communist world, or are they beginning to modify their global ambitions and bend their energies to building a Russia for the Russians in which the Soviet citizens can enjoy the high standards of living which their skills and resources entitle them to?

When I was in the Soviet Union as American ambassador in 1946 much of the Soviet Union from its western frontiers to Stalingrad 1,500 miles to the east lay largely in ruins.

Its fields were scorched and barren. Its villages had in many cases been burned to the ground. Those factories which had not been evacuated to the Urals had been destroyed. But now with their remarkable energy the Russian people were once more cultivating the wheat-bearing steppes: they had rebuilt the villages and reconstructed industry.

Developed Sputnik

Since my departure I had followed the reports that Soviet economic strength had far surpassed the pre-war levels and that the standard of living of the people was higher than it had been since the Revolution. The sputnik had demonstrated the genius of its scientists and the skill of its engineers. Perhaps, as some Americans had suggested, all these accomplishments had cooled the ardor of the Kremlin leaders for world revolution. Perhaps at last there was a tendency to develop the Russian economy for the benefit of the Russian people rather than to give first priority to building a powerful base for world Communism.

What I found in answer to the question was profoundly disturbing.

In my recent visit to the Soviet Union I had several prolonged talks with Khrushchev and had an opportunity to compare him with his predecessor Stalin.

It seemed to me that whereas Stalin was a prophet of the Marxist creed, Khrushchev is basically a disciple and, like most disciples, even more fanatically faithful to its doctrines. Moreover, Khrushchev now has several rival high priests of Communism—Mao Tse-tung in China, Tito in Yugoslavia and, to a lesser degree, (Wladyslaw) Gomulka in Poland.

Khrushchev Is Friendly

Khrushchev also likes to boast, to bluff and to threaten. Often he loses his temper and his face flushes as he wags his finger under your chin. But a moment later he is calm again and proposes a toast of friendship. He is a consummate actor and obviously enjoys making an impression on his audience. In some respects he may be more dangerous than Stalin, because he is less calculating and careful and more impulsive. But he is certainly less ruthless and arbitrary. It has been suggested he is like Hitler, but I found no resemblance whatever.

Khrushchev though tough and determined, though a fanatical Communist and a devout believer in Marxist doctrine, is intensely human, gregarious and even boisterous.

The information I gathered and the impressions I gained during my recent travels in the Soviet Union and my conversations with its leaders have, I believe, several implications which may be helpful in the consideration of our future attitude toward the U.S.S.R. Here in brief are some of them.

We can no longer afford to be deluded by myths or have our policies muddled by confusion about what is going on in the Soviet Union. We cannot find comfort in any idea that the Communist regime is going to be overthrown or converted to our own beliefs.

For the foreseeable future the leaders in the Kremlin are going to be guided by their firm faith in the triumphal spread of their doctrine across the globe. For a long time to come we are going to face this threat everywhere.

On the other hand, I have never believed and do not believe now that war is inevitable in our struggle to thwart the march of communism. Nor do I think that the present Soviet leaders will bring on war except by miscalculation or mistake.

But we must dismiss as a pleasant daydream any thought of Nikita Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence—competition for survival. The Kremlin leaders cannot be diverted from their primary goal of world revolution with a diplomacy of threats and ultimatums. Affirmative action is called for.

Our first and most important job, I believe, is to maintain the vigor and vitality of our own social and economic system. We must speed up our economic growth to make the fullest use of our natural and human resources and to improve American life in all its aspects for all our citizens.

Must Meet Challenge

In the second place, we must meet the challenge posed by Soviet advances in science by improving our own system of education and turning out enough qualified scientists and specialists to maintain our leadership in this field, but without for a moment sacrificing our primary aim of developing well-rounded, well-educated individuals.

Until we have reached some agreement on arms limitations with foolproof controls we cannot even consider any relaxation of our effort to maintain our defenses and those of our allies, especially those of the North Atlantic community.

At the same time we must assert vigorous and imaginative leadership to make the North Atlantic Treaty Organization not only a strong military alliance but also a united and productive community which combines our resources for the social and economic advancement of its members and the free world.

West Berlin Refugee Admission Center Witnesses Whole Spectrum Of Tragedy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP News Analyst

BERLIN (AP)—"Next case."

The admission board member was tired, but his voice was kind.

In that same little room, its green-painted walls bare except for a single calendar, he and his two colleagues at the unadorned table had been through the same routine for years, day after day, many thousands of times.

A grey-haired woman shuffled nervously into the room and took one of the straight-backed chairs facing the three officials. It was their job to probe her case and classify her status as a refugee from communism.

Her voice quivering, she blurted out her story.

Frau G. was 67, a widow, who had frequently traveled back and forth from her home in Communist-ruled East Berlin to free West Berlin, to look after a dying sister.

"I was so much in the West sector the Vopos—Volkspolizei, or Communist people's police—denounced me. There were police in front of my apartment. I know why they denounced me. One of them wanted my apartment."

The board listened patiently, occasionally trying to soothe her while they asked the questions required for the fixed routine. Then they asked her to step out of the room for a moment while they discussed her case. There was no question but that she would be accepted as a refugee. But she didn't know that. There was fear in her eyes.

The board exchanged a few remarks.

Called in again, she stood nervously like a defendant in court. They told her she was accepted. She wept uncontrollably.

The stolid burghers of middle-class Marienfelde Allee are accustomed to the sight of tears. Hundreds daily, by one means or another make their way to the big block of barracks-like buildings which house refugees in the transitional period of their flight from East to West.

The admission board watches a whole spectrum of tragedy.

There is a doctor whose younger son was barred from secondary school because the elder son fled communism.

There is a farmer whose land, worked for years by his family, suddenly was seized and collectivized.

There is a university student who had expressed his ideas too clearly; a teacher who could no longer stomach conformity; lawyers, doctors, engineers. There are just ordinary people who could take the mental grief no longer.

Often it's a case of economics—people looking for better jobs in the West. Then there is fear of prison—there are 10,000 political prisoners behind bars in East Germany.

The Communists persist in interfering in the daily lives of every soul under their control. East Germans, aware of how their brethren live in the West, must take part in all manner of masquerades.

There are parades, demonstrations, lectures at which they are harangued and badgered. A "youth consecration oath" is supposed to substitute for religious Confirmation. Pessimism is frowned on.

Whenever oppression is stepped up, the refugee flow increases.

West Germany has almost 13 million refugees, or one of every four of its population. Nearly all have settled down to satisfactory jobs. For the Communist zone, it has meant severe shortages of labor in sectors where it hurts badly, among youthful and skilled labor and in intellectual fields.

Refugees also go from West to East, looking for new jobs or to join relatives. But there is no comparison with the flow westward. West Germany, which also suffers from a labor shortage because of a steady economic boom, puts no obstacles in the way of travel eastward. But the Communists have barbed wire and machine gun towers all along the frontier.

Thus, Berlin, the chief avenue of escape, is a painful thorn in the side of communism. The Red regime will not rest easy until it is removed.

Vampire Bats Health Problem

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
United Press International

ATLANTA (UPI)—Vampire bats gruesome bloodsuckers of the living, still are a scourge in many parts of the world in fact, not just in horror fiction.

For example, more than 100 human deaths have been caused by vampire bats in Central America and the Caribbean in the past 30 years.

In South America, more than a million head of livestock was lost in 1956 to vampire bats infected with rabies. Rabies infection from bat bites is one of the world's most serious health problems, affecting areas in which control programs are difficult and inadequate.

Vampire bats are winged mammals—flying rodents. They are secretive by day and usually strike their victims at night when they are asleep or drowsy.

The "hot spots" for rabies-infected bats in the western hemisphere include parts of the Caribbean area, Mexico, Central and South America.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print this letter, if space permits, and dedicate it to the woman who signed herself "The Wife." I hope all wives who are dissatisfied with the men they married will take a close look, too.

Dear "Wife":

May I have your husband? I'd love to take him off your hands, even with his bad table manners, his sloppy way of leaving clothes on the floor, and the bum jokes he tells.

I'm 35 years old and I can't seem to get a man. I'm a career woman and although I put on a big act of "loving my independence," deep inside I'm desperately lonely.

I long to have a man who will come home to me at night. He won't have to tell me he loves me. Just having him home will be proof enough. He won't even have to make conversation. If he's too tired to talk, I'll understand. If he's grumpy, I'll know he had a bad day at the office.

And if you're fed up with your children, as so many people seem to be these days, I'll take them too.—LONELY

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You never got a letter like THIS before. I am 15, blonde and popular. My mother is nagging me out of my mind because she wants me to go steady. I don't want to go steady for all the reasons you have listed so often in your column.

I agree with you that a young girl misses a lot when she ties herself down to one fellow in high school. Also, it's true as you have said that when kids go steady they get to thinking they own each other and this can be bad.

My mother has different ideas. She was born in the old country so maybe this accounts for it. Anyway she claims a young girl should pick a nice, respectable boy, and go only with him.

She says girls who go with a lot of different boys get bad reputations. She says America is the only country where this goes on and that Americans have more divorces than anybody. Is she right? What shall I tell her?—HEY-TEE

DEAR HEY-TEE: I am sure your mother wants what in HER opinion is best for you, but in this case I think she is mistaken.

All the reasons you listed for not wanting to go steady are valid.

Your mother is correct about the high divorce rate in America, but one of the major reasons is the increasing number of teen-age marriages — which is the result of going steady at an early age. You may also tell your mother that divorces are easier to get in America than in most countries.

DEAR ANN: To make a long story short I am a liar. I told a real cute girl I was a freshman two years ago because I wanted to be a Big Man.

Now I'm a freshman and she's a smart sophomore. I live in fear someone will sell me out. We go to different schools but we know a lot of the same kids.

Would it be best to tell her I was sick and missed a year, or should I tell her I went to Europe for a year which set me back? The truth is, I'm right where I ought to be. Please help me.—BIG MOUTH

DEAR BIG MOUTH: You're right where you ought to be all right — behind the eight-ball. The trouble with a lie is you have to tell ten more to cover it up. Come clean — the sooner the better — and no more fibbing.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Electronic "Doctor"

LONDON (UPI)—A British physician has predicted that someday, routine diagnoses of diseases will be done by an electronic "family doctor" machine.

Dr. R.F. Woolmer, professor of anaesthetics at the Royal College of Surgeons, told the third International Conference on Medical Electronics that the machine could store enough information to give reliable diagnoses in certain common diseases.

I long to have a man who will come home to me at night. He won't have to tell me he loves me. Just having him home will be proof enough. He won't even have to make conversation. If he's too tired to talk, I'll understand. If he's grumpy, I'll know he had a bad day at the office.

And if you're fed up with your children, as so many people seem to be these days, I'll take them too.—LONELY

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You never got a letter like THIS before. I am 15, blonde and popular. My mother is nagging me out of my mind because she wants me to go steady. I don't want to go steady for all the reasons you have listed so often in your column.

I agree with you that a young girl misses a lot when she ties herself down to one fellow in high school. Also, it's true as you have said that when kids go steady they get to thinking they own each other and this can be bad.

My mother has different ideas. She was born in the old country so maybe this accounts for it. Anyway she claims a young girl should pick a nice, respectable boy, and go only with him.

She says girls who go with a lot of different boys get bad reputations. She says America is the only country where this goes on and that Americans have more divorces than anybody. Is she right? What shall I tell her?—HEY-TEE

DEAR HEY-TEE: I am sure your mother wants what in HER opinion is best for you, but in this case I think she is mistaken.

All the reasons you listed for not wanting to go steady are valid.

Your mother is correct about the high divorce rate in America, but one of the major reasons is the increasing number of teen-age marriages — which is the result of going steady at an early age. You may also tell your mother that divorces are easier to get in America than in most countries.

DEAR ANN: To make a long story short I am a liar. I told a real cute girl I was a freshman two years ago because I wanted to be a Big Man.

Now I'm a freshman and she's a smart sophomore. I live in fear someone will sell me out. We go to different schools but we know a lot of the same kids.

Would it be best to tell her I was sick and missed a year, or should I tell her I went to Europe for a year which set me back? The truth is, I'm right where I ought to be. Please help me.—BIG MOUTH

DEAR BIG MOUTH: You're right where you ought to be all right — behind the eight-ball. The trouble with a lie is you have to tell ten more to cover it up. Come clean — the sooner the better — and no more fibbing.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Electronic "Doctor"

LONDON (UPI)—A British physician has predicted that someday, routine diagnoses of diseases will be done by an electronic "family doctor" machine.

Dr. R.F. Woolmer, professor of anaesthetics at the Royal College of Surgeons, told the third International Conference on Medical Electronics that the machine could store enough information to give reliable diagnoses in certain common diseases.

Poor Supervision Of Korean Aid

Critics of some of the programs sponsored by United States foreign aid outlets have turned up damaging evidence of mismanagement and worse in connection with various aid activities in Korea. Aid officials began an extensive survey of money given by the U. S. to South Korea shortly after the surprise toppling of Syngman Rhee's government amid charges of corruption and mismanagement. What they have found thus far has supported suspicions.

Two special funds which had been supplying money for irrigation projects and rice price supports and loans have been suspended following the discovery that graft and forced contributions to the Liberal Party's coffers were rampant, Korean officials were allocating the funds for projects not authorized in the grant and very little of the loan program was being used for the support of individual farmers, as was intended.

In addition, American businesses trying to compete in the Korean market place have found themselves bidding against their own money in the form of aid funds Korea has been using to buy West German goods at an increasing rate. Korean purchases from West Germany with American aid monies rose 1,000 per cent from 1958 to 1959, while purchases from the United States with these funds dropped 20 per cent. Without a doubt the greatest insult to the American taxpayer who paid the millions for programs which have borne very little fruit is the use of this money to compete against this country in the market place.

At the very beginning of foreign assistance programs it was recognized that there is a great deal of difference between aiding a country badly in need of economic expansion, but without funds to effect it, and an outright dole with no strings—managerial or political—attached. Obviously the aid given to South Korea has failed in its purpose. It may yet be salvaged from complete waste if able American administration of the program in that country is begun at once.

Election Costs

Until a law is provided which strictly limits election costs and makes it a felony to spend one cent more; until such a law excludes every possible gimmick, including under-the-table cash contributions and the organization of committees only to receive additional contributions—until this happens our elections will not be fair. Some of them will be crooked. The British manage to have clean elections. Their laws are strict and are strictly enforced.

It is absurd that Presidential elections should cost millions of dollars, the amount constantly increasing. It will soon be that only a multi-millionaire, a servant of the large labor unions or a minion of the racketeers will be able to raise enough money to pay for the costs of an election. If every candidate were required to swear to a statement of total expenditures in both primary and general elections, including every under-the-table contribution made not directly but to associates and members of the family, few men would dare to run under present conditions.

One of the principal costs is television. Candidates should have suitable time on television free of charge. That would be a reward for the people of the United States providing air waves free of charge, a practical monopoly to a restricted number of users. On this subject, Robert W. Sarnoff of the National Broadcasting Company had this to say:

"Another aspect of proposed legislation demonstrates how ill-conceived regulation can breed problems that beget still more regulation. An example is the recent bill that would make broadcasters give at least eight hours of free evening time to the Presidential nominees of the two major parties during the election campaign. Here is a bill that would unfairly compel broadcasters to do what they have in the past been prevented from doing by the impractical restrictions of Section 315 of the Communications Act.

"Those restrictions made it impossible for a broadcaster to present the major-party candidates for President without giving equal time to every other candidate for the office. In 1956, that would have meant some 15 other candidates.

Devoting hour upon hour to the often quixotic antics of little known minority and splinter-group candidates would have been an unreasonable price on the public's patience and a disservice to common sense."

There is economic but not political sophistication in Sarnoff's statement. The economics are sound because it is not good business to put the full cost of the campaign on this one industry. The politics are unsound because it is the right of Americans to form independent political parties and these parties, under state laws, have all the rights that the major parties enjoy. The essential problem is to reduce the costs of elections while at the same time each candidate and each party has access to adequate time on radio and television.

Many solutions to this problem have been offered, none of which seem very practical:

1. That all political expenditures be paid out of taxes by a governmental agency. This would violate the nature of our elections which is that they are conducted by and for the people;

2. That a common fund be established from which contenders could draw for expenditures. This seems to be too trustful of human nature; whoever controlled the fund would control the election. It would be like some of the Foundations left by donors for honorable purposes, but seized by predatory do-gooders to feather their own nests and to add a salary to their respectability;

3. That expenditures be restricted. The Hatch Act and similar provisions have not succeeded in keeping down expenditures or making elections honest.

What is required is a strict limitation upon the final amount that may be expended and to make it a felony, with a long prison term, to spend one cent more. It does not matter how much is collected or who does the contributing if a ceiling is put on expenditures. If that is made equal for everybody, no one would have any advantage other than reputation, ability and personality. The continuing evil is the unprovable under-the-table violation of any law. If expenditures rather than collections are monitored, there is a possibility of an honest election. The primary election has proved to be meaningless; the bosses still survive. Cut expenditures and the bosses have nothing to survive for.

Rockefeller's Blast May Ruin His Chances

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON, June 9. — Governor Rockefeller has delivered the most scathing attack against the Eisenhower administration that has come from any Republican of prominence. Just how he thinks the Republican Party can win the next election by a virtual repudiation of the Eisenhower leadership will puzzle anyone who really understands the rudiments of American politics.

For, as has been said so often in the past, any candidate who repudiates his own party's record cannot hope to win a national election. A party split wide open loses its effectiveness before the electorate.

Mr. Rockefeller assails the administration's record on national defense and other issues, and takes the viewpoint which several Democratic Party critics have repeatedly expressed. This will not win delegates for the New York Governor at the national convention and, if he were intent on bringing about the defeat of his own party in 1960, he could not have chosen a better way to do the job. He may have even disqualified himself as a party nominee in 1964 because the cleavage he will have made, if the Republicans are defeated this year, will be blamed on the statement he issued on Wednesday of this week.

Governor Rockefeller's statement sounds as if it were pressed upon him by advisers who really don't understand practical politics. Four years ago former Governor Stassen of Minnesota started at the eleventh hour an attack on Vice President Nixon, and it boomeranged. The net effect of the Rockefeller pronouncement this week may be the same—it is a call for disunity and not harmony in the Republican Party.

Mr. Rockefeller says he has waited for the Vice President to express his views but, oddly enough, the New York Governor formally withdrew from the Presidential race several weeks ago and refused to go before the voters in the various state primaries, while Mr. Nixon did participate in all the primary elections. The Vice President, moreover, made several speeches explaining his accord with President Eisenhower's policies. Mr. Nixon has gone before the people to ask them to uphold the Eisenhower administration's record and policies.

Should Mr. Nixon speak out on new policies before he is the party nominee and before the delegates have selected a committee to write the National Republican Platform? Mr. Rockefeller evidently believes that Mr. Nixon is already the leader of the Republican Party and now should write the platform, to which the delegates would later be compelled to give their perfunctory consent. This, of course, is not the concept of an "open convention" which political parties usually like to champion.

The impresion given in some parts of the Rockefeller statement is that he considers Mr. Nixon already the nominee and that the New York governor may want to disassociate himself from the coming campaign. For, if Mr. Nixon does express views contrary to those of Mr. Rockefeller and wins the nomination, the New York Governor would have to eat his own words should he do any campaigning for the party nominee. Or does it mean that he intends to remain aloof from the campaign anyhow and let the Republicans fight their own battles just because they do not accept his views? Questions like these were being asked in Washington today by political folks who stood aghast at the Rockefeller statement. Nothing like it has been issued since former President Theodore Roosevelt broke with President William Howard Taft in 1912 and brought about the defeat of the Republican Party.

Much of the Rockefeller statement is given over to generalities about "national purpose." It is couched in the same vague language that Adlai Stevenson and the "egghead" philosophers repeatedly use. They have always had an obsession that issues can be made out of abstractions far over the heads of the average voter. They tried it in 1952 and in 1956, but they failed.

The issue in 1960 will be whether the Republican administration deserves a vote of confidence and whether Vice President Nixon has been sufficiently experienced in the making of Eisenhower policies to carry them forward. Republican speakers on the stump will not be attacking—they will be defending the Eisenhower record. For if that record has not won the approval of the voters, no Republican candidate can expect to win by espousing the policies and proposals of the opposition party.

Two things stand out clearly. Governor Rockefeller has forfeited any chance to be the Republican nominee for President or Vice President this year. He may have even forfeited his chance to be the Presidential nominee in 1964 if Vice President Nixon is defeated this year.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

MURDER—The nation's capital has one of the highest homicide rates of any major city in the United States. An average of 70 murders are committed annually. However, despite the mandatory death penalty for a first degree conviction, only one man has been executed in the last seven years.

In the last seven years 121 defendants have been indicted for first degree murder, but only 13 were found guilty of the charge. One was electrocuted, the sentence of another commuted to life imprisonment by the President, three cases are on appeal and eight are either in institutions for the mentally deranged, or are free on legal technicalities.

These statistics are being used in Congress where there is a move to remove the mandatory death sentence from the law of the District of Columbia. Washington is one of the last places in the United States where the death sentence is mandatory.

Khrushchev's Blasts Make Political Climate Ripe For Gov. Rockefeller

By Drew Pearson

NEW YORK — Nikita Khrushchev may or may not have wanted it that way, but there's one thing his acid remarks about Richard Nixon, "keeper of the cabbage patch," nave definitely accomplished. He has made it almost essential for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller to become a definite candidate for president.

The reason is politically elementary, and privately recognized even by some of the hard-boiled GOP leaders already pledged to Nixon. It boils down to this:

Khrushchev's attacks on the present Republican administration have succeeded in dividing the American people into two general camps:

1. Those who lean more to Nixon because they resent the Khrushchev criticism;

2. Those who are so worried over war that they fear Kremlin hostility for Nixon might help induce war.

Under the circumstances, the easiest way out for Republican leaders is to get a fresh new candidate. They need one who hasn't been controversial, either in Moscow or the USA. For they know that the normal registration of Democrats is considerably greater than Republicans, and if they lose any sizable group of voters over the peace issue they are sunk.

Nixon's Scar Tissue

Doctors have a word for a patient who has been to the hospital for a series of surgical operations. They say he has collected scar tissue. Politically speaking, Nixon is in the same boat. He has collected a lot of political scar tissue. He has taken a lot of stands on a lot of issues, some of them just the reverse of earlier stands. His opponents can quote him on a lot of sides of a lot of issues.

When Nixon ran for the Senate in 1950, he conducted the first McCarthy-type campaign in history by smearing Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas as pro-Communist. This was almost before McCarthyism got started. Nixon was in the vanguard. Then in 1959 he boosted his Gallup Poll rating considerably by going to Moscow and making speeches as the friend of the Russian people. Some newspapers commented that it was the first time in history that an American campaigned for president inside the Soviet Union.

Nixon had completely reversed himself from the days when he attacked Helen Gahagan Douglas, wife of Melvin Douglas, the actor who, ironically, has been playing the lead in "The Best Man," a Broadway hit poking fun at a young politician who takes all sides of various issues and whom many critics compare to Nixon.

Aloof Rockefeller

On the other hand, Nelson Rockefeller is in the fortunate position of having kept completely aloof from the Russian issue. He has gathered no political scar tissue.

When the Soviet Exhibition opened in New York last spring and summer he deliberately stayed away. As Governor of New York he was invited to the opening. He did not go. He had a standing invitation afterward, but did not accept it. On one occasion he was in the same building housing the Soviet Exhibition but did not enter the Exhibition itself. The Russian Embassy was quite piqued, actually made unofficial inquiries as to why.

Rockefeller also did not entertain or meet Deputy Premier Mikoyan when he visited New York. Many other officials did. Later, he did shake hands and chat briefly with Premier Khrushchev.

On the general subject of Russia, Rockefeller is also fortunate. His only public positions are: 1, he proposed the "open skies" plan which Ike put forward at Geneva; 2. he has consistently urged strong military defenses; 3, he has carried the ball on the civil defense and bomb shelter programs.

Ike vs. Nelson

A lot of people have forgotten it, but it was over strong military defenses that Rockefeller broke with Eisenhower. As a member of the White House staff in 1957, Ike had given Rockefeller a tentative commitment to become Deputy Secretary of Defense in order to bolster our military strength, then changed his mind on the advice of budget-pruning Secretary George Humphrey.

It was at that time that Rockefeller went back to New York, issued the famous Rockefeller brothers report highly critical of our lagging defenses. It was probably just as critical as the unpublished Gaither report.

Eisenhower, a military man, who expects complete loyalty, even from ex-members of his administration, hit the ceiling. He has never forgiven Rockefeller for that report.

Since that time, Rockefeller has continued to remain aloof from Eisenhower and all Eisenhower policies. He has gone his own way, minded his own political business. He has never said anything against either Eisenhower or Nixon. He has made no comment on either their past policy of wooing Russia or their present reverse policy on Russia.

He has simply remained aloof.

And during the 1958 campaign when Rockefeller was one of only two Republicans to win in the Democratic landslide, he was careful to run his own campaign, keep away from Washington. In fact, it was said in theatrically minded Manhat an that "the longest run on Broadway was that of Nelson Rockefeller keeping away from the Eisenhower administration."

There are some compelling political reasons, in the present confused climate, why a man like this makes the perfect candidate for President of the United States.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Third Ward School,
Blairsville, Pa.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

We found your story about Christopher Columbus at the time we were having our discussions about the discovery of our world. The children were delighted with it. Since letter writting followed these discussions, we decided to write to you. We, my third grade students and myself, hope these letters will interest you as much as your story interested us.

Sincerely,
Hilda Swenk.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

I like your story about Columbus. I like the way you wrote it. Those cannibals must have been angry to eat 44 men. I bit Columbus was surprised. Your friend, Alden Palmer.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

I like the story you wrote about Columbus. I thought it was very silly. In fact, the whole room laughed until they had the hiccups. I hope you write another book that everybody buys. Your fan, Barbara Ferraro.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

The story of Columbus' Trip was fascinating. I know the story of Custer's Last Stand. We all know that Columbus didn't know he discovered our world. But Americus Vespucci studied Columbus' maps and followed his voyages. I hope that you will write more good stories. Sincerely yours, Donna Cardellino.

Dear Jim Bishop:

Jim, my name is Billy Dixon and my teacher, Mrs. Swenk, read the story of Christopher Columbus out of the newspaper. Would you please write more about the story in the newspaper? I can't wait until the story of General Custer you are writing is done. I think you are a very good reporter, don't you? Sincerely yours, Billy Dixon.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

Mr. Bishop, we liked your article. Mr. Bishop, we will learn our fives in arithmetic next week. We already learned our fours, threes, twos and ones. Mrs. Swenk said that we could write to you. Signed, Cindy A.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

We learned how to write paragraphs and letters. I like to write paragraphs, especially ones that tell about Christopher Columbus, George Washington and A. Braham Lincoln. It is fun to write paragraphs. Yours truly, Randy Myers.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

We have fun playing games with our numbers problems. We have fun playing number games. I hope you liked aithmetic when you were little. Sincerely yours, Linda Thomas.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

I liked that story of Christopher Columbus. And I liked the story of Christ. And the one about Abraham Lincoln is good too, I think. Sincerely yours, Jimmy Pennaraia.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

I like your stories, especially the one about Columbus. I know that you wrote books about Lincoln and Jesus. I will read them when I grow up. Your friend, Steve Kasperik.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

This is the first time we ever wrote a letter. I'm not trying to boast but I think I'm doing pretty good. And I think that story about the True Story of Columbus' Trip was very cute. And I think you're a very nice man even though I haven't met you yet. But here's a great big kiss. Sincerely yours, Peggy Anne DeSalle.

Dear children:

Thank you for the nice letters. You are my true friends. I hope someday to stop in your class and sit quietly and watch you at work. Meanwhile, if you will just gift-wrap that Peggy Anne DeSalle and send her to me, I will write anything to please you. Sincerely, Jim Bishop.

Good Motive Needed To Diet Successfully

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

It is difficult to lose weight because will power is needed to pass up good food and drink. Eating is a necessity but consuming more than the body needs for sustenance is wasteful as well as a bad habit.

The best way to reduce is to have a good motive for doing so. An obese person with high blood pressure, diabetes, arthritis, or coronary heart disease has no choice — weight must be lost to survive. Vanity is the motive for others, especially those who want to make a good impression.

Motives, like opportunities, must be recognized and acted upon when they are offered. A 5 foot 8 inch eastern widow writes us that at age 50 she weighed 220 pounds. She had numerous aches and pains and wrote to her son who lives in Colorado, that her feet hurt so much it was difficult to get about.

He replied that the pains would disappear if she lost 50 pounds and that if she came to visit him the following summer looking fat and sloppy, he would lock her in a closet for a month and give her nothing but water to drink.

This sounds cruel but it provided the needed incentive to reduce. This woman's physician gave her a 1,000 calorie diet. "When I felt my will power slipping, I read my son's letter," she continued.

She lost 60 pounds on the slimming program, going from size 42 to 16. When she got off the plane at Denver her son didn't recognize her. She tapped him on the shoulder and said, "Remember me?"

Since then she has watched her intake and feels wonderful. "This is not a testimonial but I'm having fun with real honest-to-goodness dates with men who had regarded me as just another fat woman." Incentives are not confined to losing weight. They are the force and struggle behind many worthwhile endeavors.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send a leaflet on reducing if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

FRANK MAY BE OBVIOUS

A. S. writes: What is frank anemia?

REPLY

This is not a medical term; it probably is your physician's pet expression for definite anemia in contrast to a borderline case.

ARTHRITIS AND PSORIASIS

A. M. writes: My husband has had psoriasis for years and now his ankles ache. Is there any relationship between the two?

REPLY

Yes, in that 1 per cent of all psoriasis victims develop rheumatoid arthritis. The skin affliction usually precedes arthritis. The joints of the hands and feet are involved most frequently.

INFECTED TONSILS

F. S. writes: Will removal of infected tonsils in a 6 year old help the child?

REPLY

Yes, provided the infection is disturbing his health.

ANTI-DRINKING PILL

J. J. S. writes: If protein is effective in counteracting or neutralizing alcohol, cannot our pharmaceutical houses concoct a protein pill for drinkers as a contraceptive against drunkenness?

REPLY

Protein helps prevent cirrhosis of the liver in alcoholics but does not counteract or neutralize the effect of alcohol on the brain. The best contraceptive against alcoholism is abstinence.

HEART PLUS

V. J. F. writes: Does cardiovaccular disease mean heart disease?

REPLY

Cardiovascular includes a variety of diseases involving the heart and the blood vessels. Heart ailments, strokes, certain kidney disorders, and circulatory disturbances are examples.

FANTASTIC BEAUTIFIERS

R. H. writes: Is unsweetened gelatin good for the hair, and will putting wet teabags on the eyes help them?

REPLY

I'm no cosmetician but this regimen sounds silly to me. Gelatin is a good protein and eating it might help the hair if you lack protein. This is unlikely if you consume a normal diet. The tannin in tea will not benefit the eyes even to the extent of restoring that burned out look some people have after a rought weekend.

CHICKEN LIVERS

E. O. P. writes: Now that the cranberry scare is over, we have to face the hazard of eating livers from chickens that were given hormones to fatten them. Is there anything to the furor about their danger?

REPLY

No. Chickens, including their livers, have been given the green light.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will b answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

"Son," explained the Texan, "It's a railroad car."

Election Costs

Until a law is provided which strictly limits election costs and makes it a felony to spend one cent more; until such a law excludes every possible gimmick, including under-the-table cash contributions and the organization of committees only to receive additional contributions—until this happens our elections will not be fair. Some of them will be crooked. The British manage to have clean elections. Their laws are strict and are strictly enforced.

It is absurd that Presidential elections should cost millions of dollars, the amount constantly increasing. It will soon be that only a multi-millionaire, a servant of the large labor unions or a minion of the racketeers will be able to raise enough money to pay for the costs of an election. If every candidate were required to swear to a statement of total expenditures in both primary and general elections, including every under-the-table contribution made not directly but to associates and members of the family, few men would dare to run under present conditions.

One of the principal costs is television. Candidates should have suitable time on television free of charge. That would be a reward for the people of the United States providing air waves free of charge, a practical monopoly to a restricted number of users. On this subject, Robert W. Sarnoff of the National Broadcasting Company had this to say:

"Another aspect of proposed legislation demonstrates how ill-conceived regulation can breed problems that beget still more regulation. An example is the recent bill that would make broadcasters give at least eight hours of free evening time to the Presidential nominees of the two major parties during the election campaign. Here is a bill that would unfairly compel broadcasters to do what they have in the past been prevented from doing by the impractical restrictions of Section 315 of the Communications Act.

"Those restrictions made it impossible for a broadcaster to present the major-party candidates for President without giving equal time to every other candidate for the office. In 1956, that would have meant some 15 other candidates.

Devoting hour upon hour to the often quixotic antics of little known minority and splinter-group candidates would have been an unreasonable price on the public's patience and a disservice to common sense."

There is economic but not political sophistication in Sarnoff's statement. The economics are sound because it is not good business to put the full cost of the campaign on this one industry. The politics are unsound because it is the right of Americans to form independent political parties and these parties, under state laws, have all the rights that the major parties enjoy. The essential problem is to reduce the costs of elections while at the same time each candidate and each party has access to adequate time on radio and television.

Many solutions to this problem have been offered, none of which seem very practical:

1. That all political expenditures be paid out of taxes by a governmental agency. This would violate the nature of our elections which is that they are conducted by and for the people;

2. That a common fund be established from which contenders could draw for expenditures. This seems to be too trustful of human nature; whoever controlled the fund would control the election. It would be like some of the Foundations left by donors for honorable purposes, but seized by predatory do-gooders to feather their own nests and to add a salary to their respectability;

3. That expenditures be restricted. The Hatch Act and similar provisions have not succeeded in keeping down expenditures or making elections honest.

What is required is a strict limitation upon the final amount that may be expended and to make it a felony, with a long prison term, to spend one cent more. It does not matter how much is collected or who does the contributing if a ceiling is put on expenditures. If that is made equal for everybody, no one would have any advantage other than reputation, ability and personality. The continuing evil is the unprovable under-the-table violation of any law. If expenditures rather than collections are monitored, there is a possibility of an honest election. The primary election has proved to be meaningless; the bosses still survive. Cut expenditures and the bosses have nothing to survive for.

Khrushchev's Blasts Make Political Climate Ripe For Gov. Rockefeller

By Drew Pearson

NEW YORK — Nikita Khrushchev may or may not have wanted it that way, but there's one thing his acid remarks about Richard Nixon, "keeper of the cabbage patch," have definitely accomplished. He has made it almost essential for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller to become a definite candidate for president.

The reason is politically elementary, and privately recognized even by some of the hard-boiled GOP leaders already pledged to Nixon. It boils down to this:

Khrushchev's attacks on the present Republican administration have succeeded in dividing the American people into two general camps:

1. Those who lean more to Nixon because they resent the Khrushchev criticism;

2. Those who are so worried over war that they fear Kremlin hostility for Nixon might help induce war.

Under the circumstances, the easiest way out for Republican leaders is to get a fresh new candidate. They need one who hasn't been controversial, either in Moscow or the USA. For they know that the normal registration of Democrats is considerably greater than Republicans, and if they lose any sizable group of voters over the peace issue they are sunk.

Nixon's Scar Tissue

Doctors have a word for a patient who has been to the hospital for a series of surgical operations. They say he has collected scar tissue. Politically speaking, Nixon is in the same boat. He has collected a lot of political scar tissue. He has taken a lot of stands on a lot of issues, some of them just the reverse of earlier stands. His opponents can quote him on a lot of sides of a lot of issues.

When Nixon ran for the Senate in 1950, he conducted the first McCarthy-type campaign in history by smearing Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas as pro-Communist. This was almost before McCarthyism got started. Nixon was in the vanguard. Then in 1959 he boosted his Gallup Poll rating considerably by going to Moscow and making speeches as the friend of the Russian people. Some newspapers commented that it was the first time in history that an American campaigned for president inside the Soviet Union.

Nixon had completely reversed himself from the days when he attacked Helen Gahagan Douglas, wife of Melvin Douglas, the actor who, ironically, has been playing the lead in "The Best Man," a Broadway hit poking fun at a young politician who takes all sides of various issues and whom many critics compare to Nixon.

Aloof Rockefeller

On the other hand, Nelson Rockefeller is in the fortunate position of having kept completely aloof from the Russian issue. He has gathered no political scar tissue.

When the Soviet Exhibition opened in New York last spring and summer he deliberately stayed away. As Governor of New York he was invited to the opening. He did not go. He had a standing invitation afterward, but did not accept it. On one occasion he was in the same building housing the Soviet Exhibition but did not enter the Exhibition itself. The Russian Embassy was quite piqued, actually made unofficial inquiries as to why.

Rockefeller also did not entertain or meet Deputy Premier Mikoyan when he visited New York. Many other officials did. Later, he did shake hands and chat briefly with Premier Khrushchev.

On the general subject of Russia, Rockefeller is also fortunate. His only public positions are: 1, he proposed the "open skies" plan which Ike put forward at Geneva; 2. he has consistently urged strong military defenses; 3, he has carried the ball on the civil defense and bomb shelter programs.

Ike vs. Nelson

A lot of people have forgotten it, but it was over strong military defenses that Rockefeller broke with Eisenhower. As a member of the White House staff in 1957, Ike had given Rockefeller a tentative commitment to become Deputy Secretary of Defense in order to bolster our military strength, then changed his mind on the advice of budget-pruning Secretary George Humphrey.

It was at that time that Rockefeller went back to New York, issued the famous Rockefeller brothers report highly critical of our lagging defenses. It was probably just as critical as the unpublished Gaither report.

Eisenhower, a military man, who expects complete loyalty, even from ex-members of his administration, hit the ceiling. He has never forgiven Rockefeller for that report.

Since that time, Rockefeller has continued to remain aloof from Eisenhower and all Eisenhower policies. He has gone his own way, minded his own political business. He has never said anything against either Eisenhower or Nixon. He has made no comment on either their past policy of wooing Russia or their present reverse policy on Russia.

He has simply remained aloof.

And during the 1958 campaign when Rockefeller was one of only two Republicans to win in the Democratic landslide, he was careful to run his own campaign, keep away from Washington. In fact, it was said in theatrically minded Manhattan that "the longest run on Broadway was that of Nelson Rockefeller keeping away from the Eisenhower administration."

There are some compelling political reasons, in the present confused climate, why a man like this makes the perfect candidate for President of the United States.

Rockefeller's Blast May Ruin His Chances

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON, June 9. — Governor Rockefeller has delivered the most scathing attack against the Eisenhower administration that has come from any Republican of prominence. Just how he thinks the Republican Party can win the next election by a virtual repudiation of the Eisenhower leadership will puzzle anyone who really understands the rudiments of American politics.

For, as has been said so often in the past, any candidate who repudiates his own party's record cannot hope to win a national election. A party split wide open loses its effectiveness before the electorate.

Mr. Rockefeller assails the administration's record on national defense and other issues, and takes the viewpoint which several Democratic Party critics have repeatedly expressed. This will not win delegates for the New York Governor at the national convention and, if he were intent on bringing about the defeat of his own party in 1960, he could not have chosen a better way to do the job. He may have even disqualified himself as a party nominee in 1964 because the cleavage he will have made, if the Republicans are defeated this year, will be blamed on the statement he issued on Wednesday of this week.

Governor Rockefeller's statement sounds as if it were pressed upon him by advisers who really don't understand practical politics. Four years ago former Governor Stassen of Minnesota started at the eleventh hour an attack on Vice President Nixon, and it boomeranged. The net effect of the Rockefeller pronouncement this week may be the same—it is a call for disunity and not harmony in the Republican Party.

Mr. Rockefeller says he has waited for the Vice President to express his views but, oddly enough, the New York Governor formally withdrew from the Presidential race several weeks ago and refused to go before the voters in the various state primaries, while Mr. Nixon did participate in all the primary elections. The Vice President, moreover, made several speeches explaining his accord with President Eisenhower's policies. Mr. Nixon has gone before the people to ask them to uphold the Eisenhower administration's record and policies.

Should Mr. Nixon speak out on new policies before he is the party nominee and before the delegates have selected a committee to write the National Republican Platform? Mr. Rockefeller evidently believes that Mr. Nixon is already the leader of the Republican Party and now should write the platform, to which the delegates would later be compelled to give their perfunctory consent. This, of course, is not the concept of an "open convention" which political parties usually like to champion.

The impresion given in some parts of the Rockefeller statement is that he considers Mr. Nixon already the nominee and that the New York governor may want to disassociate himself from the coming campaign. For, if Mr. Nixon does express views contrary to those of Mr. Rockefeller and wins the nomination, the New York Governor would have to eat his own words should he do any campaigning for the party nominee. Or does it mean that he intends to remain aloof from the campaign anyhow and let the Republicans fight their own battles just because they do not accept his views? Questions like these were being asked in Washington today by political folks who stood aghast at the Rockefeller statement. Nothing like it has been issued since former President Theodore Roosevelt broke with President William Howard Taft in 1912 and brought about the defeat of the Republican Party.

Much of the Rockefeller statement is given over to generalities about "national purpose." It is couched in the same vague language that Adlai Stevenson and the "egghead" philosophers repeatedly use. They have always had an obsession that issues can be made out of abstractions far over the heads of the average voter. They tried it in 1952 and in 1956, but they failed.

The issue in 1960 will be whether the Republican administration deserves a vote of confidence and whether Vice President Nixon has been sufficiently experienced in the making of Eisenhower policies to carry them forward. Republican speakers on the stump will not be attacking—they will be defending the Eisenhower record. For if that record has not won the approval of the voters, no Republican candidate can expect to win by espousing the policies and proposals of the opposition party.

Two things stand out clearly. Governor Rockefeller has forfeited any chance to be the Republican nominee for President or Vice President this year. He may have even forfeited his chance to be the Presidential nominee in 1964 if Vice President Nixon is defeated this year.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

MURDER—The nation's capital has one of the highest homicide rates of any major city in the United States. An average of 70 murders are committed annually. However, despite the mandatory death penalty for a first degree conviction, only one man has been executed in the last seven years.

In the last seven years 121 defendants have been indicted for first degree murder, but only 13 were found guilty of the charge. One was electrocuted, the sentence of another commuted to life imprisonment by the President, three cases are on appeal and eight are either in institutions for the mentally deranged, or are free on legal technicalities.

These statistics are being used in Congress where there is a move to remove the mandatory death sentence from the law of the District of Columbia. Washington is one of the last places in the United States where the death sentence is mandatory.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Third Ward School,
Blairsville, Pa.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

We found your story about Christopher Columbus at the time we were having our discussions about the discovery of our world. The children were delighted with it. Since letter writting followed these discussions, we decided to write to you. We, my third grade students and myself, hope these letters will interest you as much as your story interested us.

Sincerely,
Hilda Swenk.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

I like your story about Columbus. I like the way you wrote it. Those cannibals must have been angry to eat 44 men. I bit Columbus was surprised. Your friend, Alden Palmer.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

I like the story you wrote about Columbus. I thought it was very silly. In fact, the whole room laughed until they had the hiccups. I hope you write another book that everybody buys. Your fan, Barbara Ferraro.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

The story of Columbus' Trip was fascinating. I know the story of Custer's Last Stand. We all know that Columbus didn't know he discovered our world. But Americus Vespucci studied Columbus' maps and followed his voyages. I hope that you will write more good stories. Sincerely yours, Donna Cardellino.

Dear Jim Bishop:

Jim, my name is Billy Dixon and my teacher, Mrs. Swenk, read the story of Christopher Columbus out of the newspaper. Would you please write more about the story in the newspaper? I can't wait until the story of General Custer you are writing is done. I think you are a very good reporter, don't you? Sincerely yours, Billy Dixon.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

Mr. Bishop, we liked your article. Mr. Bishop, we will learn our fives in arithmetic next week. We already learned our fours, threes, twos and ones. Mrs. Swenk said that we could write to you. Signed, Cindy A.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

We learned how to write paragraphs and letters. I like to write paragraphs, especially ones that tell about Christopher Columbus, George Washington and A. Braham Lincoln. It is fun to write paragraphs. Yours truly, Randy Myers.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

We have fun playing games with our numbers problems. We have fun playing number games. I hope you liked aithmetic when you were little. Sincerely yours, Linda Thomas.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

I liked that story of Christopher Columbus. And I liked the story of Christ. And the one about Abraham Lincoln is good too, I think. Sincerely yours, Jimmy Pennararia.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

I like your stories, especially the one about Columbus. I know that you wrote books about Lincoln and Jesus. I will read them when I grow up. Your friend, Steve Kasperik.

Dear Mr. Bishop:

This is the first time we ever wrote a letter. I'm not trying to boast but I think I'm doing pretty good. And I think that story about the True Story of Columbus' Trip was very cute. And I think you're a very nice man even though I haven't met you yet. But here's a great big kiss. Sincerely yours, Peggy Anne DeSalle.

Dear children:

Thank you for the nice letters. You are my true friends. I hope someday to stop in your class and sit quietly and watch you at work. Meanwhile, if you will just gift-wrap that Peggy Anne DeSalle and send her to me, I will write anything to please you. Sincerely, Jim Bishop.

Good Motive Needed To Diet Successfully

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

It is difficult to lose weight because will power is needed to pass up good food and drink. Eating is a necessity but consuming more than the body needs for sustenance is wasteful as well as a bad habit.

The best way to reduce is to have a good motive for doing so. An obese person with high blood pressure, diabetes, arthritis, or coronary heart disease has no choice — weight must be lost to survive. Vanity is the motive for others, especially those who want to make a good impression.

Motives, like opportunities, must be recognized and acted upon when they are offered. A 5 foot 8 inch eastern widow writes us that at age 50 she weighed 220 pounds. She had numerous aches and pains and wrote to her son who lives in Colorado, that her feet hurt so much it was difficult to get about.

He replied that the pains would disappear if she lost 50 pounds and that if she came to visit him the following summer looking fat and sloppy, he would lock her in a closet for a month and give her nothing but water to drink.

This sounds cruel but it provided the needed incentive to reduce. This woman's physician gave her a 1,000 calorie diet. "When I felt my will power slipping, I read my son's letter," she continued.

She lost 60 pounds on the slimming program, going from size 42 to 16. When she got off the plane at Denver her son didn't recognize her. She tapped him on the shoulder and said, "Remember me?"

Since then she has watched her intake and feels wonderful. "This is not a testimonial but I'm having fun with real honest-to-goodness dates with men who had regarded me as just another fat woman." Incentives are not confined to losing weight. They are the force and struggle behind many worthwhile endeavors.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send a leaflet on reducing if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

TOMORROW: Shingles, a viral infection.

FRANK MAY BE OBVIOUS

A. S. writes: What is frank anemia?

REPLY

This is not a medical term; it probably is your physician's pet expression for definite anemia in contrast to a borderline case.

ARTHRITIS AND PSORIASIS

A. M. writes: My husband has had psoriasis for years and now his ankles ache. Is there any relationship between the two?

REPLY

Yes, in that 1 per cent of all psoriasis victims develop rheumatoid arthritis. The skin affliction usually precedes arthritis. The joints of the hands and feet are involved most frequently.

INFECTED TONSILS

F. S. writes: Will removal of infected tonsils in a 6 year old help the child?

REPLY

Yes, provided the infection is disturbing his health.

ANTI-DRINKING PILL

J. J. S. writes: If protein is effective in counteracting or neutralizing alcohol, cannot our pharmaceutical houses concoct a protein pill for drinkers as a contraceptive against drunkenness?

REPLY

Protein helps prevent cirrhosis of the liver in alcoholics but does not counteract or neutralize the effect of alcohol on the brain. The best contraceptive against alcoholism is abstinence.

HEART PLUS

V. J. F. writes: Does cardiovaccular disease mean heart disease?

REPLY

Cardiovascular includes a variety of diseases involving the heart and the blood vessels. Heart ailments, strokes, certain kidney disorders, and circulatory disturbances are examples.

FANTASTIC BEAUTIFIERS

R. H. writes: Is unsweetened gelatin good for the hair, and will putting wet teabags on the eyes help them?

REPLY

I'm no cosmetician but this regimen sounds silly to me. Gelatin is a good protein and eating it might help the hair if you lack protein. This is unlikely if you consume a normal diet. The tannin in tea will not benefit the eyes even to the extent of restoring that burned out look some people have after a rought weekend.

CHICKEN LIVERS

E. O. P. writes: Now that the cranberry scare is over, we have to face the hazard of eating livers from chickens that were given hormones to fatten them. Is there anything to the furor about their danger?

REPLY

No. Chickens, including their livers, have been given the green light.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

"Son," explained the Texan, "It's a railroad car."

For The Home Wedding

Wedding Ring Punch
(24 Servings)

2 cans (6 ounces each) quick-frozen concentrated orange juice
1 can (6 ounces) quick-frozen concentrated lemonade
6 cups cold water
2½ cups chilled ginger ale
1 package (10 ounces) quick-frozen sliced strawberries, just thawed
Frozen Fruit Rings*

Mix concentrated orange juice, concentrated lemonade, and water. Chill. To serve, pour orange juice mixture into punch bowl. Add ginger ale and mix. Float fruit and Frozen Fruit Ring. Makes about 3 quarts, or 24 four-ounce servings.

* Frozen Fruit Rings: Arrange strawberries, pineapple cubes, orange sections, and mint leaves in 1½ quart mold or small ring molds. Carefully add water and chill until solidly frozen. Unmold and float in punch.

Ham Loaf With Fruit Glaze Cover

2½ cups ground cooked ham (or 2 12-oz. each cans luncheon meat, ground)
2 cups grated soft bread crumbs
½ cup undrained canned crushed pineapple
2 eggs, beaten slightly
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
Dash pepper

Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Press firmly into a lightly greased 9x5x3" loaf pan. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven for 1 hour. Let stand a few minutes. Unmold on serving platter. Top with Cranberry Glaze. Serve remaining glaze hot in gravy boat. Makes 6 servings.

Fruity Cranberry Glaze:

Mix together in saucepan 2 tablespoons cornstarch and ½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar. Slowly stir in 1½ cups cranberry juice cocktail until mixture is smooth. Stir in ⅔ cup pineapple juice, dash salt and ⅛ teaspoon ground allspice. Cook over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil. Lower heat and stir constantly until mixture is clear and thickened (about 5 min.) Makes 1 pint.

"Yogurt" is a Turkish word. In the Eastern Mediterranean countries, this milk food was made for centuries by leaving fresh milk uncovered in the open air, there to ferment. Now it is made scientifically with laboratory-produced cultures.

If you have made meat gravy that is too salty, drop a piece of raw potato in it for a few minutes before serving.

Make Five Meals For Four

Who's complaining about the high cost of living? Chicken, the most versatile of all meat foods, is also the most economical these days. By way of illustration, take two chickens — and turn them into five perfectly scrumptious meals for a family of four. And, cooking and serving or storing in today's inexpensive American - made glassware makes it easy, too!

Basic Chicken Broth

Place necks, backs, wing tips and any other bony pieces of chicken in kettle, cover with 4 cups of water and 1½ teaspoons salt. Bring to boil, simmer until jellied, then skim off covered 3 hours, skimming occasionally. (Cook giblets in stock until tender, remove and save). Strain stock through fine sieve, every bit of congealed fat. Use 1 cup of jellied stock for Chicken Breasts En Gelee, 1 cup for Giblet Sauce, remainder for soup.

Chicken Breasts En Gelee

Cook 2 whole chicken breasts in clear basic broth until tender, about 1 hour. Remove, skin and bone. Clarify stock by straining through cheesecloth. Soften 1 envelope unflavored gelatin in ¼ cup cold water; add ½ cup boiling water, stir to dissolve. Add 1 cup clarified stock. Slice 4 large stuffed olives and 2 hard-cooked eggs. Arrange thin slices of cooked chicken breasts, sliced olives and egg slices in pattern in 1-quart mold, spoon over a little of gelatin-broth mixture and chill until firm. In center, fill with mixture of 2 peeled and diced tomatoes, bits of olives and egg not used as decorative slices and the finely-diced chicken meat. (Taste broth for seasoning; add more salt if needed.) Pour remaining gelatin-broth over ingredients in center of mold; add diced celery to tomato mixture if necessary to fill mold to top. Chill at least 3 hours. Unmold on salad greens on decorative glass platter. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Giblet Sauce For Pasta

Brown chicken livers in 1 tablespoon olive or salad oil and 2 tablespoons butter; add 1 medium minced onion, 2 crushed garlic cloves and minced cooked giblets; cook until onion is soft. Add 1 family size can (15 oz.) tomato sauce, 1 cup chicken broth, ¼ teaspoon each basil and oregano and salt and pepper to taste. Simmer 30 to 40 minutes. Add to ½ pound cooked pasta (shells macaroni or spaghetti). Place in casserole, top with ½ cup grated Parmesan or Romano cheese. Freeze, if desired. Baked covered for 30 minutes, longer if frozen. Makes 4 servings.

Chicken Legs Parmesan

4 chicken legs (including upper joint)
1 cup dried bread crumbs
¼ cup chopped parsley
1 stick (¼ pound) butter
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 medium onion, minced
1 clove garlic, finely chopped (or 1 to 1½ teaspoons garlic powder)
1½ teaspoons salt

Preheat oven to 375 degrees and melt butter. Mix together bread crumbs, parsley, cheese, onion, garlic and salt. Dip chicken in melted butter and roll in crumb mixture until well covered. Bake in 8x11-inch glass baking dish about 35 to 45 minutes until golden-crisp. Serve with mashed potatoes. (Adapted from recipe of Josephine Moore, Dover, Del. winner in Jr. Division, 1959, 9th Place.)

Rice Jambalaya

Brown 4 individual smoked sausages in skillet; remove. Dice 4 slices bacon; cook at medium heat with 1 medium onion, minced, ½ green pepper, diced, 1 crushed garlic clove and 4 chicken wings, until onion is soft and bacon lightly browned. Remove chicken wings; add 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 cup rice, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon chili powder and 1 cup water. Transfer to 4 individual casseroles or 1 large casserole, arrange chicken wings and sausage on top of rice. Cover. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes, uncover and continue baking 10 to 15 minutes until chicken wings are browned and liquid is absorbed by rice.

Tricks With Prunes

When the recipe calls for chopped or diced prunes, the simplest method is to snip the prune from the pit with scissors.

When serving a custard, blanc mange or a gelatin pudding bland in color, unmold on large plate and garnish with beautiful plumped prunes. Or for individual molds or sherbert glass serving, park one prune on top.

Bread Pudding—fruited—is a family favorite worthy of company. To a basic bread pudding, add chopped prunes—enough to make a nice polka dot effect throughout the pudding. Served with cream or the family's favorite sauce, this bread pudding has a flavor all its own.

Hors D'Oeuvres for a party: Plump prunes in wine, sherry or fruit juice for 48 hours; remove pits, insert nutmeat; wrap each prune in bacon; secure with toothpick; broil until bacon is done, turning once or twice. Serve hot.

Spiced prunes—keep a jar of them in the refrigerator to serve as an accompaniment to meat or to garnish a dish for beauty as well as flavor (see next item for suggestion).

To make spiced pickled prunes:

½ cup sugar
½ cup cider vinegar
1 cup water
2 teaspoons whole cloves
3 3-inch stick cinnamon, broken into small pieces
1 teaspoon allspice
1 pound prunes

Place prunes in wide bottom pan; combine other ingredients. Bring to boil, cover; cook slowly twenty minutes. Stir several times; keep prunes covered with syrup. Makes 4 cups.

When serving fluffy rice with creamed chicken, curried shrimp, or similar dish, give the rice a new look: Serve it in a low wide bowl with a circle of spiced pickled prunes on top.

¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup bread crumbs

Prepare greased 2-quart casserole. Turn undefrosted frozen cauliflower into casserole (in a single layer with the blocks of cauliflower side-by-side if casserole shape permits). Sprinkle cauliflower with 1 teaspoon salt, top with the tomatoes, the second teaspoon of salt, the pepper, and the basil leaves. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 30 minutes. Meanwhile, melt butter or margarine and mix with bread crumbs. Take casserole from oven and remove cover. Sprinkle buttered crumbs over and return to oven, uncovered, and bake an additional 30 minutes to complete cooking and to brown crumbs. Total cooking time is one hour. Serves six. Serve with frozen deviled crab or fish balls, frozen cream-style corn, a relish plate, and a frozen fruit pastry.

There was little change in farming methods between about 300 B. C. and the 18th Century.

2 to 3 drops of garlic juice, or small clove of garlic, finely minced
1 tablespoon of olive oil or other cooking oil
2 cans of condensed beef bullion and one can of water, or 4 bouillon cubes and 4 cups of water
2 tablespoons of lemon juice

Clean asparagus stalks, cut away tough ends, and slice into one inch long pieces. In olive oil, cook the sliced onions until tender. Add the remaining ingredients and bring to a boil. For The Home Wedding

Here's a punch with a truly bridal touch . . . fruit-filled ice rings floating prettily on top of a sparkling fruit juice combination. It's easy to make, too, with quick-frozen concentrated juices and fruit acting as time-savers on that busy day-of-days.

Wedding Ring Punch
(24 Servings)

2 cans (6 ounces each) quick-frozen concentrated orange juice
1 can (6 ounces) quick-frozen concentrated lemonade
6 cups cold water
2½ cups chilled ginger ale
1 package (10 ounces) quick-frozen sliced strawberries, just thawed
Frozen Fruit Rings*

Mix concentrated orange juice, concentrated lemonade, and water. Chill. To serve, pour orange juice mixture into punch bowl. Add ginger ale and mix. Float fruit and Frozen Fruit Ring. Makes about 3 quarts, or 24 four-ounce servings.

* Frozen Fruit Rings: Arrange strawberries, pineapple cubes, orange sections, and mint leaves in 1½ quart mold or small ring molds. Carefully add water and chill until solidly frozen. Unmold and float in punch.

Ham Loaf With Fruit Glaze Cover

2½ cups ground cooked ham (or 2 12-oz. each cans luncheon meat, ground)
2 cups grated soft bread crumbs
½ cup undrained canned crushed pineapple
2 eggs, beaten slightly
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
Dash pepper

Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Press firmly into a lightly greased 9x5x3" loaf pan. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven for 1 hour. Let stand a few minutes. Unmold on serving platter. Top with Cranberry Glaze. Serve remaining glaze hot in gravy boat. Makes 6 servings.

Fruity Cranberry Glaze:

Mix together in saucepan 2 tablespoons cornstarch and ½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar. Slowly stir in 1½ cups cranberry juice cocktail until mixture is smooth. Stir in ⅔ cup pineapple juice, dash salt and ⅛ teaspoon ground allspice. Cook over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil. Lower heat and stir constantly until mixture is clear and thickened (about 5 min.) Makes 1 pint.

"Yogurt" is a Turkish word. In the Eastern Mediterranean countries, this milk food was made for centuries by leaving fresh milk uncovered in the open air, there to ferment. Now it is made scientifically with laboratory-produced cultures.

If you have made meat gravy that is too salty, drop a piece of raw potato in it for a few minutes before serving.

Make Five Meals For Four

Who's complaining about the high cost of living? Chicken, the most versatile of all meat foods, is also the most economical these days. By way of illustration, take two chickens — and turn them into five perfectly scrumptious meals for a family of four. And, cooking and serving or storing in today's inexpensive American - made glassware makes it easy, too!

Basic Chicken Broth

Place necks, backs, wing tips and any other bony pieces of chicken in kettle, cover with 4 cups of water and 1½ teaspoons salt. Bring to boil, simmer until chicken is jellied, then skim off covered 3 hours, skimming occasionally. (Cook giblets in stock until tender, remove and save). Strain stock through fine sieve, every bit of congealed fat. Use 1 cup of jellied stock for Chicken Breasts En Gelee, 1 cup for Giblet Sauce, remainder for soup.

Chicken Breasts En Gelee

Cook 2 whole chicken breasts in clear basic broth until tender, about 1 hour. Remove, skin and bone. Clarify stock by straining through cheesecloth. Soften 1 envelope unflavored gelatin in ¼ cup cold water; add ½ cup boiling water, stir to dissolve. Add 1 cup clarified stock. Slice 4 large stuffed olives and 2 hard-cooked eggs. Arrange thin slices of cooked chicken breasts, sliced olives and egg slices in pattern in 1-quart mold, spoon over a little of gelatin-broth mixture and chill until firm. In center, fill with mixture of 2 peeled and diced tomatoes, bits of olives and egg not used as decorative slices and the finely-diced chicken meat. (Taste broth for seasoning; add more salt if needed.) Pour remaining gelatin-broth over ingredients in center of mold; add diced celery to tomato mixture if necessary to fill mold to top. Chill at least 3 hours. Unmold on salad greens on decorative glass platter. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Giblet Sauce For Pasta

Brown chicken livers in 1 tablespoon olive or salad oil and 2 tablespoons butter; add 1 medium minced onion, 2 crushed garlic cloves and minced cooked giblets; cook until onion is soft. Add 1 family size can (15 oz.) tomato sauce, 1 cup chicken broth, ¼ teaspoon each basil and oregano and salt and pepper to taste. Simmer 30 to 40 minutes. Add to ½ pound cooked pasta (shells macaroni or spaghetti). Place in casserole, top with ½ cup grated Parmesan or Romano cheese. Freeze, if desired. Baked covered for 30 minutes, longer if frozen. Makes 4 servings.

Chicken Legs Parmesan

4 chicken legs (including upper joint)
1 cup dried bread crumbs
¼ cup chopped parsley
1 stick (¼ pound) butter
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 medium onion, minced
1 clove garlic, finely chopped (or 1 to 1½ teaspoons garlic powder)
1½ teaspoons salt

Preheat oven to 375 degrees and melt butter. Mix together bread crumbs, parsley, cheese, onion, garlic and salt. Dip chicken in melted butter and roll in crumb mixture until well covered. Bake in 8x11-inch glass baking dish about 35 to 45 minutes until golden-crisp. Serve with mashed potatoes. (Adapted from recipe of Josephine Moore, Dover, Del. winner in Jr. Division, 1959, 9th Place.)

Rice Jambalaya

Brown 4 individual smoked sausages in skillet; remove. Dice 4 slices bacon; cook at medium heat with 1 medium onion, minced, ½ green pepper, diced, 1 crushed garlic clove and 4 chicken wings, until onion is soft and bacon lightly browned. Remove chicken wings; add 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 cup rice, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon chili powder and 1 cup water. Transfer to 4 individual casseroles or 1 large casserole, arrange chicken wings and sausage on top of rice. Cover. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes, uncover and continue baking 10 to 15 minutes until chicken wings are browned and liquid is absorbed by rice.

Tricks With Prunes

When the recipe calls for chopped or diced prunes, the simplest method is to snip the prune from the pit with scissors.

When serving a custard, blanc mange or a gelatin pudding bland in color, unmold on large plate and garnish with beautiful plumped prunes. Or for individual molds or sherbert glass serving, park one prune on top.

Bread Pudding—fruited—is a family favorite worthy of company. To a basic bread pudding, add chopped prunes—enough to make a nice polka dot effect throughout the pudding. Served with cream or the family's favorite sauce, this bread pudding has a flavor all its own.

Hors D'Oeuvres for a party: Plump prunes in wine, sherry or fruit juice for 48 hours; remove pits, insert nutmeat; wrap each prune in bacon; secure with toothpick; broil until bacon is done, turning once or twice. Serve hot.

Spiced prunes—keep a jar of them in the refrigerator to serve as an accompaniment to meat or to garnish a dish for beauty as well as flavor (see next item for suggestion).

To make spiced pickled prunes:

½ cup sugar
½ cup cider vinegar
1 cup water
2 teaspoons whole cloves
3 3-inch stick cinnamon, broken into small pieces
1 teaspoon allspice
1 pound prunes

Place prunes in wide bottom pan; combine other ingredients. Bring to boil, cover; cook slowly twenty minutes. Stir several times; keep prunes covered with syrup. Makes 4 cups.

When serving fluffy rice with creamed chicken, curried shrimp, or similar dish, give the rice a new look: Serve it in a low wide bowl with a circle of spiced pickled prunes on top.

Savory Tomato-Baked Frozen Cauliflower

2 packages frozen cauliflower
2 teaspoons salt
3 medium tomatoes, peeled and sliced or 1 1-lb. can tomatoes
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon dried basil leaves
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup bread crumbs

Prepare greased 2-quart casserole. Turn undefrosted frozen cauliflower into casserole (in a single layer with the blocks of cauliflower side-by-side if casserole shape permits). Sprinkle cauliflower with 1 teaspoon salt, top with the tomatoes, the second teaspoon of salt, the pepper, and the basil leaves. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 30 minutes. Meanwhile, melt butter or margarine and mix with bread crumbs. Take casserole from oven and remove cover. Sprinkle buttered crumbs over and return to oven, uncovered, and bake an additional 30 minutes to complete cooking and to brown crumbs. Total cooking time is one hour. Serves six. Serve with frozen deviled crab or fish balls, frozen cream-style corn, a relish plate, and a frozen fruit pastry.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Sold to the lady in the crazy hat!"

Crests of sand dunes stand 800 feet over the floor of the San Luis Valley in southern Colorado. The dunes are the highest in the interior of the United States.

Yogurt is digested almost twice as fast as milk. For this reason, it is often prescribed for people with gastro-intestinal upsets and "nervous digestions."

Fish 'n' Chips Now Fixed American Style

When they say "fish 'n chips" in England they mean fried fish and French fried potatoes. Today, we have a "fish 'n chips" dish for you but strictly in the American traditoin with that all-time American favorite, potato chips.

Adding to the appeal of this recipe is the fact that cooking the fish in its foil wrapper prevents any fish odor from pervading your kitchen. In addition, the foil locks in all the delightful flavors and keeps the fish hot if there is a delay in serving it.

"FISH 'N CHIPS"
(Serves 4)

- 4 slices of fresh or frozen fish filet (any type fish)
- 3 c. finely crushed potato chips
- melted butter or margarine
- salt to taste

Salt lightly and butter each filet thoroughly on all sides. Roll filet in finely crushed potato chips, completely coating the fish. Cut pieces of aluminum foil large enough for each piece of fish to be wrapped in; butter the inside of the foil and lay fish on foil. Wrap fish and close tightly. Bake in oven at 350° for 30 minutes.

Caramel Custard

- 1 cup sugar
- ¾ cup hot water
- 2 cups half & half
- 5 eggs, lightly beaten with 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1½ cups whipping cream

1. Caramelize sugar in a skillet until golden brown. Pour half of it into a heated ring mold, turning carefully so that the caramelized sugar coats the bottom and lower half of the sides of the mold.

2. Add the hot water to remaining caramelized sugar; cook until smooth. Cool and save to be added to the whipped cream.

3. Scald the half & half; pour gradually into the egg-sugar mixture, beating constantly. Add vanilla. Pass mixture through a fine strainer several times if it is not completely smooth.

4. Pour into caramelized ring mold; cover with foil. Set mold in a pan of hot water (1 inch deep).

5. Bake at low temperature (250°F.) for 1 to 1½ hours. Water should stay just below boiling point. To test for doneness, insert knife in custard; when it comes out clean, custard is done.

6. To serve, unmold custard on a serving plate. Whip the cream; when it is of desired consistency, add 4 to 5 tablespoons of caramel syrup; blend well. Arrange the whipped cream decoratively in the center of the custard ring. Serves six.

Casserole Has Cereal Topping

Relax and enjoy yourself the next time you are caught short with unexpected guests. Tomato Cheese Rabbit with Crunchy Cereal Topping uses staple foods that most homemakers keep on hand. Not only is it attractive and tasty, but it is so easy to prepare. While the eggs are being hard cooked, make the tomato cheese sauce by combining canned tomato soup with seasonings and cheddar cheese. Melted butter is mixed with corn flakes to line and top a casserole dish.

Complete the main course by whipping up a tossed salad and crispy bread sticks made by dipping refrigerator bread sticks in melted butter, then in oven-toasted rice cereal and baking per directions on label.

Top off the meal with ice cream, cookies, and coffee and you have a guest supper which not only reflects your resourcefulness, but shows off your cooking ability. In addition you have confidence that you have prepared a most nutritious meal. Breakfast cereals when used as an ingredient, make contributions of protein, important B vitamins, essential minerals, and food energy. Dinner With Eye Appeal

Too often homemakers are guilty of making meals for their families which although hearty and nutritious lack eye-appeal. There's the feeling that prettily arranged dishes are time consuming and to be made only when guests come for dinner.

This recipe has the distinctive touch of a simple meal elegantly prepared. Yet it is so quick and easy to make. Potato chip petals surround the tasty flower centers of tomato halves topped with Canadian Bacon and eggs and covered with a rich cheese sauce.

Served with a cool green salad this tempting dinner will make any family meal a special event.

Cheese Chip Mounds (Serves 4)

- 2 tomatoes, halved
- 4 slices Canadian Bacon
- 4 eggs
- 2 cups cheese sauce
- Potato Chips

Broil tomato halves. Place broiled slice Canadian Bacon on top of each tomato half. Poach eggs and place on top of bacon. Cover with sauce and sprinkle generously with crushed potato chips. Surround tomato with whole potato chips in petal pattern.

CHEESE SAUCE: Make cream sauce by gradually blending 2 tblsp. flour with 2 tblsp. melted butter over low flame and slowly adding 1 c. evaporated milk. Put aside. In double boiler mel. 12 ozs. grated cheddar cheese with 4 ozs. sherry wine, dash of tabasco, dash of Worcestershire sauce, and pinch of English mustard. Add cream sauce to this cheese mixture, stir well and pour. (Use ½ c. sauce per portion.)

- 1 cup sliced celery

Blend cream of mushroom soup and mayonnaise or salad dressing; add remaining ingredients; mix well, stirring carefully. Pour into 1½ quart baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (375 F.) for 35 minutes, or until bubbling hot. Makes 6 servings.

Egg Salad Sandwich Filling

- 4 hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped
- 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles or drained pickle relish
- ¼ cup finely diced celery or green pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 2 to 3 tablespoons salad dressing or mayonaise
- Salt, pepper and dry mustard to taste

Combine chopped eggs, pickles or relish, celery, parsley and salad dressing or mayonaise. Season to taste with salt, pepper and dry mustard. Makes enough spread for 5 sandwiches (10 slices of bread).

"Sold to the lady in the crazy hat!"

Crests of sand dunes stand 800 feet over the floor of the San Luis Valley in southern Colorado. The dunes are the highest in the interior of the United States.

Yogurt is digested almost twice as fast as milk. For this reason, it is often prescribed for people with gastro-intestinal upsets and "nervous digestions."

Fish 'n' Chips Now Fixed American Style

When they say "fish 'n chips" in England they mean fried fish and French fried potatoes. Today, we have a "fish 'n chips" dish for you but strictly in the American traditoin with that all-time American favorite, potato chips.

Adding to the appeal of this recipe is the fact that cooking the fish in its foil wrapper prevents any fish odor from pervading your kitchen. In addition, the foil locks in all the delightful flavors and keeps the fish hot if there is a delay in serving it.

"FISH 'N CHIPS"
(Serves 4)

- 4 slices of fresh or frozen fish filet (any type fish)
- 3 c. finely crushed potato chips
- melted butter or margarine
- salt to taste

Salt lightly and butter each filet thoroughly on all sides. Roll filet in finely crushed potato chips, completely coating the fish. Cut pieces of aluminum foil large enough for each piece of fish to be wrapped in; butter the inside of the foil and lay fish on foil. Wrap fish and close tightly. Bake in oven at 350° for 30 minutes.

Caramel Custard

- 1 cup sugar
- ¾ cup hot water
- 2 cups half & half
- 5 eggs, lightly beaten with 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1½ cups whipping cream

1. Caramelize sugar in a skillet until golden brown. Pour half of it into a heated ring mold, turning carefully so that the caramelized sugar coats the bottom and lower half of the sides of the mold.

2. Add the hot water to remaining caramelized sugar; cook until smooth. Cool and save to be added to the whipped cream.

3. Scald the half & half; pour gradually into the egg-sugar mixture, beating constantly. Add vanilla. Pass mixture through a fine strainer several times if it is not completely smooth.

4. Pour into caramelized ring mold; cover with foil. Set mold in a pan of hot water (1 inch deep).

5. Bake at low temperature (250°F.) for 1 to 1½ hours. Water should stay just below boiling point. To test for doneness, insert knife in custard; when it comes out clean, custard is done.

6. To serve, unmold custard on a serving plate. Whip the cream; when it is of desired consistency, add 4 to 5 tablespoons of caramel syrup; blend well. Arrange the whipped cream decoratively in the center of the custard ring. Serves six.

Casserole Has Cereal Topping

Relax and enjoy yourself the next time you are caught short with unexpected guests. Tomato Cheese Rabbit with Crunchy Cereal Topping uses staple foods that most homemakers keep on hand. Not only is it attractive and tasty, but it is so easy to prepare. While the eggs are being hard cooked, make the tomato cheese sauce by combining canned tomato soup with seasonings and cheddar cheese. Melted butter is mixed with corn flakes to line and top a casserole dish.

Complete the main course by whipping up a tossed salad and crispy bread sticks made by dipping refrigerator bread sticks in melted butter, then in oven-toasted rice cereal and baking per directions on label.

Top off the meal with ice cream, cookies, and coffee and you have a guest supper which not only reflects your resourcefulness, but shows off your cooking ability. In addition you have confidence that you have prepared a most nutritious meal. Breakfast cereals when used as an ingredient, make contributions of protein, important B vitamins, essential minerals, and food energy. Keep your pantry shelf and refrigerator well-stocked with staples and you will never be caught short.

Market Gains Despite Lag In Rails, Steels And Autos

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market made it six advances in a row Thursday despite weak performances by the rail, steel and auto divisions.

Selected strength in a number of individual issues enabled the industrial stock average to post its sixth consecutive rise since the current rally got started late last Thursday.

Shortly after the close, the Federal Reserve Board announced it had authorized eight more Federal Reserve banks to drop their charge on loans to commercial banks from 4 to 3½ per cent.

The move toward easier credit, which helped trigger the current rally in stocks, was first made last Thursday when the board authorized similar cuts for the Philadelphia and San Francisco districts. The remaining two banks in Atlanta and Boston, are expected to follow suit shortly.

The rail average which confirmed the decisiveness of the market's penetration of the February recovery highs on Wednesday, Thursday closed on lower ground after heing up nearly a point at its high.

Losses here ran to a point or more in Southern Railway, New York Central and Illinois Central, and more than a half in Nickel Plate.

The breadth of the current rally narrowed somewhat although volume quickened to 3,820,000 shares from 3,800,000 shares the day before.

Of the 1,218 issues crossing the tape, 505 advanced, 77 to new highs, and 507 declined, 16 to new lows.

N.Y. Eggs And Butter

NEW YORK (AP) — (USDA) — Wholesale egg offerings light to adequate. Demand improved Thursday.

Nearby whites: Top quality (48-50 lbs) 33-36; mediums 29½-31½; smalls 24½-26.

Butter offerings adequate. Demand fair.

Wholesale prices on bulk cartons (fresh): Creamery, 93 score (AA) 58¾-59 cents, 92 score (A) 58½-58¾, 90 score (B) 57¼-57½.

Market Gains Despite Lag In Rails, Steels And Autos

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market made it six advances in a row Thursday despite weak performances by the rail, steel and auto divisions.

Selected strength in a number of individual issues enabled the industrial stock average to post its sixth consecutive rise since the current rally got started late last Thursday.

Shortly after the close, the Federal Reserve Board announced it had authorized eight more Federal Reserve banks to drop their charge on loans to commercial banks from 4 to 3½ per cent.

The move toward easier credit, which helped trigger the current rally in stocks, was first made last Thursday when the board authorized similar cuts for the Philadelphia and San Francisco districts. The remaining two banks in Atlanta and Boston, are expected to follow suit shortly.

The rail average which confirmed the decisiveness of the market's penetration of the February recovery highs on Wednesday, Thursday closed on lower ground after being up nearly a point at its high.

Losses here ran to a point or more in Southern Railway, New York Central and Illinois Central, and more than a half in Nickel Plate.

The breadth of the current rally narrowed somewhat although volume quickened to 3,820,000 shares from 3,800,000 shares the day before.

Of the 1,218 issues crossing the tape, 505 advanced, 77 to new highs, and 507 declined, 16 to new lows.

Butter offerings adequate. Demand fair.

Wholesale prices on bulk cartons (fresh): Creamery, 93 score (AA) 58¾-59 cents, 92 score (A) 58½-58¾, 90 score (B) 57¼-57½.

The bidding:

Pass	3 NT	Pass	6 ♠

Opening lead: Ace of ♦

An interesting case, in which a proper diagnosis should have been made on the defense even against the most unorthodox bidding, is today's hand.

The bidding is given as it actually took place, though we are not holding forum on the proper way to manage the auction. Against the final contract West elected to open the ace of diamonds and his partner played low. It is the play at trick two that is the subject of our study and a little analysis will show that the best chance is the heart shift, in the hope that partner is void of the suit. This on the surface appears highly improbable because it would allot a six card suit to the declarer which he has not chosen to show.

This much West should conclude: that declarer has a good six card spade suit to jump forthwith into a slam. On this basis, declarer can be counted with 12 tricks unless East can ruff something. Six spade tricks, two clubs, two diamonds and the ace and king of hearts. In the actual play the club was led and declarer succeeded in winning the slam.

For those employing the suit preference convention, the defeat of the contract would be easy. When the ace of diamonds is played, it is quite obvious that a diamond continuation cannot be desired by East. The play, therefore, of an abnormally high diamond under these conditions suggests a desire for a shift to the higher ranking of the other suits. East's play of the nine of diamonds (since he cannot want diamonds) suggests the desire for a heart shift rather than a club.

Opening lead: Ace of ♦

An interesting case, in which a proper diagnosis should have been made on the defense even against the most unorthodox bidding, is today's hand.

The bidding is given as it actually took place, though we are not holding forum on the proper way to manage the auction. Against the final contract West elected to open the ace of diamonds and his partner played low. It is the play at trick two that is the subject of our study and a little analysis will show that the best chance is the heart shift, in the hope that partner is void of the suit. This on the surface appears highly improbable because it would allot a six card suit to the declarer which he has not chosen to show.

This much West should conclude: that declarer has a good six card spade suit to jump forthwith into a slam. On this basis, declarer can be counted with 12 tricks unless East can ruff something. Six spade tricks, two clubs, two diamonds and the ace and king of hearts. In the actual play the club was led and declarer succeeded in winning the slam.

For those employing the suit preference convention, the defeat of the contract would be easy. When the ace of diamonds is played, it is quite obvious that a diamond continuation cannot be desired by East. The play, therefore, of an abnormally high diamond under these conditions suggests a desire for a shift to the higher ranking of the other suits. East's play of the nine of diamonds (since he cannot want diamonds) suggests the desire for a heart shift rather than a club.

From July 12 through 27, the group will be at Strasbourg, France, participating in a special study seminar on "The Life and Mission of the Church" to be held near the site of the international Teaching Conference of the Life and Mission of the Church, sponsored by the World Student Christian Federation (WSCF). The Methodist group will hear some of the same leaders who will be speaking at the WSCF Teaching Conference.

On July 27 the tour group will divide into two sub-groups, which will go to two different European countries for work camps. One sub-group of 17 will go to Finland, where they will spend two weeks repairing and reconditioning a rural Methodist church only one-half mile from the Russian border. That group also will spend three days in Moscow, before returning to the United States August 17. The other sub-group of 15 will go to Linz, Austria, to spend two weeks working on housing for refugees. They will visit in Rome before returning to the United States August 16.

The work camp is one of six service projects being sponsored this summer by the Methodist Student Movement, national organization for Methodist students, and by the Methodist Boards of Education and Missions.

Travel Clinic To Plan Tourist Promotion In West Virginia Opens Discussion At Elkins

ELKINS, W.Va. (UPI) — Gov. Cecil H. Underwood proposed Thursday night that Elkins be developed into a year-round center of mountain culture and forest lore, climaxing each year in the traditional Mountain State Forest Festival.

Another speaker at the opening of a two-day state "travel clinic" Sen. Jennings Randolph, said West Virginia must spend more money to bolster the state's tourist trade.

Underwood said he would emphasize mountain culture, carrying on pioneer crafts as they once were. Mountaineer customs and life would be recreated and taught, with Davis and Elkins College becoming a center for serious research into the culture and customs of the area.

"With this kind of development, in a few years time, I can envision Elkins to be a world center for historical mountain culture and forest recreation," Underwood said.

Randolph agreed with the State Industrial & Publicity Commission that to adequately attract more tourist dollars to West Virginia, the commission must be provided much more money than at the present.

Commission director Don Crislip unsuccessfully appealed for a larger 1960-61 appropriation and the commission's budget for the year beginning July 1 is the same as the current fiscal year.

Randolph said the I&P has done "commendable work" but the "West Virginia story" has not been adequately told.

Citing how other states are aggressively seeking to lure more tourists, Randolph warned: "Let us not be left behind in the reaping benefits for our own state and people."

He noted that 59 per cent of the out-of-state visitors to West Virginia last year came from neighboring states while less than 15 per cent came from more heavily populated states within a 500 — mile radius of the Mountain State — New York, New Jersey, Michigan and Illinois.

To bolster West Virginia's tourist industry, Randolph recommended, among other things: Elimination of "unsightly automobile boneyards," expansion of national monuments and development of new ones, highway and airline service improvements, greater promotion of off-season attractions like skiing, and increased promotion of seasonal events like the Forest Festival, the Strawberry Festival and the Buckwheat Festival.

Three different panels took up various aspects of tourism Thursday afternoon and another panel discussion is scheduled Friday.

The clinic is co-sponsored by the State Division of Vocational Education, the Upper Monongahela Valley Assn. and the Elkins Chamber of Commerce.

Former Resident Of Luke Takes Active Role In Heart Disease Research

A native of Luke, this county, is doing outstanding work in the field of rehabilitation of cardiac victims, and work reclassification to return heart patients to gainful employment.

According to James W. Bishop, president of the Allegany-Garrett Heart Association, Dr. Francis J. Borges, director of the Cardiac Work Classification Unit of the Heart Association of Maryland, is leading a continuing study in the problem.

Dr. Borges says "the individual chances of recovering from heart disease and leading a full and satisfactory life are better today than ever before. It wasn't so very long ago that a working man with heart trouble was usually counselled by his physician to retire and rest. Today," he continues, "more than 80 per cent of those who survive their first heart attack return to work."

Dr. Borges noted that research scientists, particularly over the past decade, have discovered new knowledge and improved techniques of diagnosis and treatment that already have saved lives of thousands and have prolonged and enriched the lives of thousands more.

Commenting on Dr. Borges' statement, Mr. Bishop credited many important advances in heart research including work classification to the thousands of volunteers, in local heart associations throughout the country. "Many vital discoveries have resulted from the support which the heart association has received through the generosity of workers and givers in communities like ours," he observed.

Some of the achievements of heart research he mentioned are the more effective treatment of heart failure now available, the prevention of repeat attacks of rheumatic fever and much rheumatic heart disease in children, and the surgical correction of defects of the heart and blood vessels.

Since 1949, the American Heart Association and its regional, state and local affiliates have channeled more than $40,000,000 into research to find new ways of diagnosing and treating all forms of heart and blood vessel diseases. Last year, research expenditures totaled more than $8,000,000. The national office allocates more than 50 per cent of its funds for research, the highest proportion of any major voluntary health agency.

"Though much progress has been made," says Dr. Borges, "and the lives of many working people are now being saved, much research remains to be done. The heart diseases still comprise our number one health enemy."

Diseases of the Heart and the circulation are responsible for almost 900,000 deaths each year, according to Dr. Borges. This is approximately 54 per cent of all the deaths in the United States. In Maryland in 1958, 14,618 people died of cardiovascular diseases, representing 54 per cent of all causes of death. In a worker's productive years of life, between the ages of 45 and 64, adds the Heart Association spokesman, diseases of the heart take more than 212,000 lives, or 51 per cent of all the deaths in this particular age group.

"Our fight against heart disease," says Dr. Borge, "has made impressive advances for more than a decade. I have every reason to believe that this progress will continue during the next decade and at a much accelerated pace."

Convinced that future progress in man's fight against heart disease can come only through an extended program of scientific research, the American Heart Association and its affiliates will, in 1960, spend upwards of $9,000,000 for scientific research.

Former Resident Of Luke Takes Active Role In Heart Disease Research

A native of Luke, this county, is doing outstanding work in the field of rehabilitation of cardiac victims, and work reclassification to return heart patients to gainful employment.

According to James W. Bishop, president of the Allegany-Garrett Heart Association, Dr. Francis J. Borges, director of the Cardiac Work Classification Unit of the Heart Association of Maryland, is leading a continuing study in the problem.

Dr. Borges says "the individual chances of recovering from heart disease and leading a full and satisfactory life are better today than ever before. It wasn't so very long ago that a working man with heart trouble was usually counselled by his physician to retire and rest. Today," he continues, "more than 80 per cent of those who survive their first heart attack return to work."

Dr. Borges noted that research scientists, particularly over the past decade, have discovered new knowledge and improved techniques of diagnosis and treatment that already have saved lives of thousands and have prolonged and enriched the lives of thousands more.

Commenting on Dr. Borges' statement, Mr. Bishop credited many important advances in heart research including work classification to the thousands of volunteers, in local heart associations throughout the country. "Many vital discoveries have resulted from the support which the heart association has received through the generosity of workers and givers in communities like ours," he observed.

Some of the achievements of heart research he mentioned are the more effective treatment of heart failure now available, the prevention of repeat attacks of rheumatic fever and much rheumatic heart disease in children, and the surgical correction of defects of the heart and blood vessels.

Since 1949, the American Heart Association and its regional, state and local affiliates have channeled more than $40,000,000 into research to find new ways of diagnosing and treating all forms of heart and blood vessel diseases. Last year, research expenditures totaled more than $8,000,000. The national office allocates more than 50 per cent of its funds for research, the highest proportion of any major voluntary health agency.

"Though much progress has been made," says Dr. Borges, "and the lives of many working people are now being saved, much research remains to be done. The heart diseases still comprise our number one health enemy."

Diseases of the Heart and the circulation are responsible for almost 900,000 deaths each year, according to Dr. Borges. This is approximately 54 per cent of all the deaths in the United States. In Maryland in 1958, 14,618 people died of cardiovascular diseases, representing 54 per cent of all causes of death. In a worker's productive years of life, between the ages of 45 and 64, adds the Heart Association spokesman, diseases of the heart take more than 212,000 lives, or 51 per cent of all the deaths in this particular age group.

"Our fight against heart disease," says Dr. Borge, "has made impressive advances for more than a decade. I have every reason to believe that this progress will continue during the next decade and at a much accelerated pace."

Convinced that future progress in man's fight against heart disease can come only through an extended program of scientific research, the American Heart Association and its affiliates will, in 1960, spend upwards of $9,000,000 for scientific research.

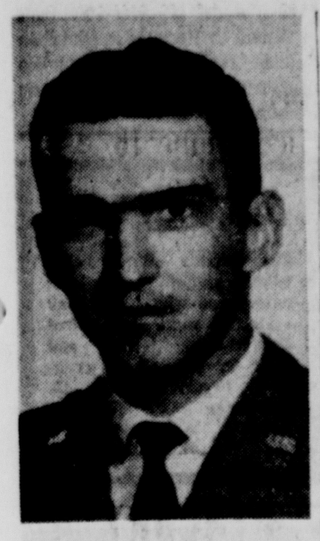
Hyndman Man Graduates From Air Force Academy



LT. KERRY D. MILLER

HYNDMAN, Pa. — Kerry D. Miller, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miller, Hyndman, Pa., graduated Wednesday from the United States Air Force Academy, located north of Colorado Springs, Colo.

At commencement exercises, he was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree and commissioned a second lieutenant in the Regular US Air Force, with the wings of an aerial navigator.

Prior to his commissioning, Miller held the position of Cadet First Group Materiel Officer. A 1953 graduate of Hyndman-Londonderry Township Joint High School, Miller was in the Regular Air Force as an enlisted man for more than two years before winning his appointment to the Air Force Academy. At the Academy, he was a member of the Cadet Fishing Club.

His first assignment after graduation will be to enter full-scale pilot training at Spence Air Base, Ga., this summer.

The Air Force Academy offers cadets a four-year course of Academic and Airmanship studies designed to provide a foundation for further development as career officers. The curriculum is neither a scientific nor a liberal arts program, but a balance of both. With full-sized classes of approximately 770 cadets entering each summer, the Cadet Wing will reach its full authorized strength of over 2,500 in 1962. Most graduates complete Air Force pilot training after leaving the Academy.

American Grid League Signs 5-Year TV Pact

Deal With ABC Is Worth $10,625,000

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Football League Thursday closed a $10,625,000 five-year deal with the American Broadcasting Co., for the television rights to its games.

Under the terms of the contract, announced jointly by Tom Moore, vice president in charge of programming for ABC-TV, and Commissioner Joe Foss of the league (AFL), the new pro league will collect $125,000 for each of 17 dates during the year.

This amounts to $2,125,000 a year. The AFL will divide the money equally among the eight clubs. Deducting agency fees and other expenses, each club will start the season with a $225,000 TV cushion.

The league starts its first season on Sept. 11 and closes with its championship contest on Dec. 31, a Saturday. There will be 15 Sunday afternoon dates, Thanksgiving Day, and the championship game.

The league is composed of the New York Titans, Buffalo Bills, Boston Patriots and Houston Oilers in the Eastern section, and the Oakland Raiders, Los Angeles Chargers, Dallas Texans and Denver Broncos in the Western Division.

Moore said ABC has signed two sponsors (General Cigar Co., and Sinclair Refining Co.) for the telecasts.

Sugar Robinson, Pender Meet For Two-State Title

Fight Set Tonight At Boston Garden

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Paul Pender will try to prove his Jan. 22 victory over Ray Robinson was no fluke when he defends his New York-Massachusetts version of the world middleweight title Friday night against 40-year-old Sugar Ray.

Despite the split decision in favor of Pender in their mid-winter bout, Robinson is a 2-1 favorite to win this 15-round rematch at the Boston Garden.

Since 1951 Robinson has been winning, losing, retiring and winning back the middleweight crown. If he evens the score with Pender, it will be the sixth time he has held the title.

The fight will be carried on network (NBC) radio and television with the Boston-Providence area blacked out on TV. It will start at 9 p.m. (EST).

Sam Silverman, the promoter, thinks the scrap will draw about 11,000 people and a gate of $100,000.

As each fighter receives 30 per cent of the net gate, Robinson's total purse, with his TV share, could be over $125,000 and Pender's over $50,000.

Only the New York and Massachusetts version of the title will be at stake because Robinson was stripped of his National Boxing Assn. championship May 4, 1959, for not defending within the time limit. The NBA subsequently recognized Gene Fullmer after he beat Carmen Basilio last fall.

If Robinson wins he will be a suspended champ in New York where the commission went along with Maryland in setting down Sugar Ray for failing to appear for a May 16 bout in Baltimore. The New York commission, however, agreed to recognize this bout as a title fight.

This is Robinson's 21st year as a professional fighter. Over a stretch of 153 bouts he has won 143, lost seven, fought two draws and had one no decision bout in Germany.

Pender's record for 43 fights is 36-5-2. Because of brittle hands, he retired from the ring three times (1952, 1955 and 1956). He has won 11 straight in his latest comeback. Pender's home is in suburban Brookline.

Athletics Trip Washington, 7-2

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An inside-the-park homer by Danny Kravitz with two men on highlighted a six-run rally that enabled the Kansas City Athletics to snap a five-game losing streak with a 7-2 victory over the Washington Senators.

It was the first homer of the season for Kravitz, who came to the Athletics in a waiver deal recently from the Pirates.

Ken Johnson held the Senators to six hits in posting his second victory against three defeats and aided his own cause by singling home two runs during the six-run uprisings in the fifth inning.

Until then the score was tied at 1-1 but Pedro Ramos then gave up hits to eight of the nine men he faced in the fifth to suffer his seventh defeat compared with three victories.

Pacheco Is Sixth Boxer To Die Of Injuries In 1960

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Pacheco, a Puerto Rican-born lightweight who dreamed of earning gold and glory in the ring, died early Thursday of injuries suffered in his first main event.

The curly haired, good looking youngster, married and the father of a 26-day-old girl, succumbed at 5:05 a.m. in Roosevelt Hospital.

Pacheco was the sixth fighter, amateur and pro, to die of injuries inflicted in the rings of the world this year, according to Ring Magazine.

On the hospital record, the fighter was listed as 19. But the State Athletic Commission said Pacheco had filed a birth certificate showing he was 21 and swore to its correctness. Gordon's birth certificate listed him as 20. Under commission rules a fighter must be 20 to box 10 rounds.

It was the first boxing fatality in New York in nine years and the fourth in the state's history.

Brazilian Player Wins Over MacKay

BRISTOL, England (AP)—Barry MacKay put temperament and poor tennis on display Thursday and was eliminated in the quarter-final round of the West of England Tournament by a little known Brazilian, 19-year-old Jose Mandarino. The scores were 6-2, 1-6, 6-4.

At one time the Dayton, Ohio, player flung his racket at the crowd. Another time he threw it across the court. Several times the hope of the U.S. Davis Cup team waved it as a club at the spectators.

Redmen, Tar Heels Tourney Choices

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) —St. Johns and North Carolina were favored Thursday at the 1960 NCAA College World Series, scheduled to begin this weekend.

St. John's of Brooklyn, a team that was not supposed to make its regional playoff, and North Carolina, another newcomer to the national tournament, each sported a 14-game win streak.

The five other clubs in the double-elimination meet were familiar to series fans. Oklahoma State (15-5) was defending champion and had been in the meet four times. Arizona was back for the sixth time in seven years. The two clubs were to open the 1960 meet Friday night.

The Minnesota Gophers (29-6) were believed to have one of the strongest clubs in the meet. Boston College entered the meet with a 13-4 record, and Colorado State, from District Seven, has a 25-10 record. Southern California, with a 35-12 record, ranks with Arizona (41-7) as the most experienced team in total games this season.

Evashevski Named Athletic Director

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—Iowa football coach Forest Evashevski, who built the Hawkeyes from a pushover to a powerhouse in seven years, was named the school's athletic director Thursday.

Evashevski, 42, was to continue as head football coach only for the next season under the terms of his new contract. His salary would remain at $20,000.

As athletic director Evashevski succeeded Paul Brechler, with whom he often feuded over policy. Brechler resigned effective in August to become commissioner of the Skyline Conference.

City Collects 93 Per Cent Of Total Levy

The City of Cumberland went into the final month of the current fiscal year June 1 with 99.99 per cent of the tax levy and 93.66 of the total levy collected, and with spending running 10 points under par.

This is indicated in a report by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson on the condition of the levy. The reports are issued each month to provide department heads a running account on income and expenditures.

The report showed that the city had collected $1,732,343.05 of its $1,849,510 levy for the 1959-1960 fiscal year, leaving only $137,183.50 to come in. Collections of $20,016.55 taken in were not included in the levy.

The tax levy collections totaled $1,252,965, or 99.9908 per cent of the total tax levy, leaving only $115 to come in.

Collections on taxes not included in the levy are sure to put the tax levy over the top by the end of this month.

Most sources of income have been quite satisfactory. General and special income is $6,133.52 over the levy and police fines are already $7,876.75 above the $20,000 police fine levy.

Sources of state-shared income appear to be coming in satisfactorily and one source, the city's share of horse racing income, is $4,035.06 over the levy.

During the 11 months, city departments have spent $1,309,745.27 of the $1,603,659.25 which was appropriated.

This represents 81.67 per cent of the operating appropriation and is 10 points under the 91.67 par.

Most departments appear to be operating within their budgets and will use most of the funds set aside for them. The difference represents unspent funds in such accounts as accident awards, elections and registration, Civil Defense and construction.

Plane Designer Dies

MOSCOW (AP)—Semyon Alexeevich Lavochkin, 60, Soviet aircraft designer, died Thursday, the Soviet news agency, Tass reported. Cause of death was not announced.

While Dr. Willis Carrier is credited with the invention of air-conditioning, the bees beat him by thousands of years. Bees carry water to hives where it is fanned by the wings of workers to cool honey in storage.

At birth the opossum weighs less than a paper match. It lives in its mother's pouch for many weeks before venturing into the world.

Maryland SRC Purchases Land For Road Work

Deeds to property needed by the Maryland State Roads Commission for improvement work to U. S. Route 40 east of Cumberland were filed yesterday in the land records office of Allegany County Circuit Court.

The SRC purchased land along the west slope of Martin Mountain from Chester M. Files and his wife, Ruby B. Files; Bessie J. Fritz and Harry W. Fritz; Maude E. Stallings, Melissa J. Hast Abernathy and John Abernathy; Leslie E. Hinkle and Emma M. Hinkle.

Land along Baltimore Pike was purchased from Regina M. Martz; and Guy Vance and his wife, Virginia Vance. Land on the north side of National Highway in the vicinity of Elk Lick Run was purchased from Delbert A. Wilt and Bertha M. Wilt.

Two Dwelling Permits Issued

Permits for the construction of two dwellings estimated to cost $20,500 were issued by the City of Cumberland yesterday.

Clyde S. Slider, 811 Louisiana Avenue, secured a permit to build a one-story brick and frame dwelling at 724 Louisiana Avenue.

The home will be 34 by 28 feet and is estimated to cost $12,000.

William P. Roeder, 815 Elmwood Lane, secured a permit to build a one-story brick veneer dwelling at 808 Elmwood Lane.

It will be about 26 by 50 feet and will include a basement and garage. Cost was estimated at $8,500.

Three From Family Get Diplomas At Frostburg

The shortage of teachers in Maryland would soon be alleviated if all families followed the example of the Muellers of Paw Paw, who had the unique honor of having three of their children receive degrees at the commencement exercises at Frostburg State Teachers College Monday.

Having fulfilled the requirements for graduation, Marilyn, Freda, and A. Eddy became qualified members of the teaching profession when R. Bowen Hardesty, president of the college, conferred upon them their bachelor of science degrees, and William L. Wilson Jr., member of the Maryland State Board of Education, awarded them their diplomas.

Carroll and Baltimore counties already have signed the trio for positions in September. Marilyn will teach eighth grade English and social studies at Union Bridge School, and Freda, seventh grade English and social studies at Manchester High School, both in Carroll County. Eddy has accepted a position as eighth grade science and mathematics instructor at Sparrows Point Junior-Senior High School in Baltimore County.

All three are graduates of Oldtown High School, Eddy and Marilyn in 1952 and Freda in 1956. Eddy attended Catherman's Business School for one year, then entered the service. He served three years in the Army Security Agency, two of them in Japan. Upon his return, he attended Potomac State College, Keyser, W. Va., for one year, then transferred to Frostburg State Teachers College.

Marilyn attended Catherman's Business College for one year and was later employed as a medical secretary for two years by Dr. Howard L. Tolson.

While at State Teachers College, Eddy was a member of the Madrigal Singers and Freda and Marilyn belonged to the Maryland Singers, the Women's Recreation Association, the Student Christian Association, the Student Education Association and the Wesley Club.

Eddy is married to the former Viola McCabe of Paw Paw and they have one girl, Lisa, who is a year old.

The three graduates are children of Mrs. Olive Mueller and the late Walter Mueller. Of the 12 children in the family, four brothers and two sisters and their families attended the graduation. One brother, Robert, who is in the Air Force, came from Turkey for the occasion.

Mostly Larynx And Hair

Frankie Avalon is a tiny (five feet seven inch, slim singer who is mostly larynx and hair. The pompadour is the hallmark of the teen-age idol and Frankie's is somewhat less than Elvis's, which is where he stands in the hierarchy of teen-age idols. He's a good-looking, enormously polite kid who is just on the verge of making the transition to adulthood in the show world. He inserts the word "like" in sentences all over the place, has just turned twenty and makes about three times as much money as anyone short of the president of General Motors.

"I did my first nightclub, the Casino in Washington, a couple weeks ago," he announced proudly. "People up to like fifty years old in the audience. They had a women's sorority in there in like the forty-five to fifty age group. They seemed to enjoy the show," he added in wonder. "My record fans are usually like sixteen to eighteen."

He's dipping his toe into all phases of adulthood and finding it just great. "The good songs are coming my way now," he related. "Like, you know, the big band songs. I just did 'Tuxedo Junction.' Remember that Glen Miller thing? It's the good old sound."

Avalon is out of the stable of Bob Marcucci-Peter De Angelis which also harbors Fabian. It's like having Citation and Native Dancer under the same roof. Actually the two kids are out of the same neighborhood and have known each other for years, long before they began to set fire to the jukeboxes.

How did he feel about Elvis Presley? "I always liked Elvis. He's got a good feeling for the music he sings. I thought he was very good on the Sinatra show—that's Elvis and that's the way he is. We all owe him a lot. I think he started the whole teen-age idol craze."

Elvis, he was reminded, is no longer a teen-ager. "Presley's about twenty-five but so is Kookie Byrnes and they're still considered teen-age idols. Me—I like to appeal to teen-agers and adults—everybody. Sinatra is my idol. I wouldn't like to sing like him but I'd like to have a career like his.

"Fabian is my best friend. In fact, most of our group are pretty friendly. We've just about started our own Rat Pack — the young set."

How about rock 'n' roll? "We need rock 'n' roll—the teen-agers do. It's the type of music that makes you want to dance. It's happy music. But teen-agers really enjoy all kinds of music. They don't enjoy all the old tunes but neither do I. Some of these old standards I just hate.

"That's why playing nightclubs is a great change. You can sing something else. When you do a stage show, or a rock 'n' roll show, the kids want you to stick to the hits, the new songs."

Being a teen-age idol is not easy work. He's on the road constantly, and he admits that he misses his home. "Last year, all in all, I was home about three months." He travels around with two young men, one of whom plays the guitar for him. "I've known him since he was twelve. He's like my best friend. We go on dates together—like sailors. By the time I was ten years old I was already hanging around with older fellows and it's been like this a long, long time. Still, you musn't think I didn't have a childhood. I lived like a boy — getting into fights and like that. Plenty of dates. I don't think I've missed anything."

He sighed: "The last time I did the tour, I told my manager that the kids around the country seemed to be getting younger. He told me I'm just getting older."

Coca-Cola is trying to round up all the teen-age idols (except Elvis) in a big push on the teen mob scheduled for June 27 (ABC-TV 9:30 p. m. EDT). Along with Frankie, the teen-agers will be able to revel in Pat Boone, Bobby Darin, Bob Denver (He's the beatnik in Dobie Gillis), Paul Anka and Annette Funicello. You ought to be able to hear the screams in Hawaii.

Blaze Extinguished In Tractor-Trailer

Fifteen members of the La Vale Volunteer Fire Company extinguished a fire caused by overheated brakes on a tractor-trailer truck marked "Dangerous" yesterday on Route 40.

James Loar, fire chief, said the trailer was hauling six drums of sulphur dioxide and general cargo.

The call was placed at 6:40 a. m. by Willie Moore, Kansas City, driver of the eastbound trailer owned by the Riss Company.

Gets Scholarship

O'Brien Still Stagestruck

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Pat O'Brien, a chip off the ould sod, is plunging headlong into the tough grind of a weekly TV series because, at 60, "I'm still stagestruck."

The ABC series, which will go on the air this fall, is entitled "Harrigan and Son," and O'Brien plays a widower-lawyer who takes on his Harvard-educated offspring as an associate.

"It shows the difference between our generations—he has an old hatchet-faced dame for a secretary and I have me a beautiful chick," said the affable Milwaukee Irishman, downing a mug of beer at a restaurant.

Asked why he is subjecting himself to the rigors of a weekly TV show when he doesn't need the money, O'Brien said:

"I'd die without acting. I've been at it for 40 years. And what am I going to do now? Sure it's tough to be on every week—but it keeps you active, and it keeps you out of trouble. That one-eyed monster, the TV camera, doesn't tell any lies. You can't play around on the night shift and get away with it.

"And, let's face it, I'm stagestruck. After all, I'm just a kid. I still smoke 12 to 16 cigars a day."

The white-haired actor, a classmate, Navy buddy and lifelong pal of Spencer Tracy, frankly admitted that before "Harrigan and Son" he made three "bum" pilots (test films) for hopeful TV series.

O'Brien, star of such movies as "The Front Page," "Knute Rockne," "The Iron Major" and "Angels With Dirty Faces," said he feels close to "Harrigan" because he studied law as a youth.

O'Brien's only concern with his new series is that it might cut down on his traveling. He hops a plane to Ireland whenever he can.

"I was in Dublin last St. Patrick's Day," he said, "and if that ain't carryin' coals to Newcastle, I don't know what is. And I got news for you—the pubs are closed on St. Pat's Day."

California Gets U.S. Grand Prix

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The world championship Grand Prix of the United States, previously held at Sebring, Fla., is being transferred to the Riverside, Calif., raceway this year, sponsor Alec Ulmann announced Thursday.

The race for formula one cars will earn official points toward rankings, Ulmann said, and coming as probably the last grand prix of the year could decide the driving championship.

Wayne Johnson, Valley High School junior, who pitched in the Allegany County High School League the past two seasons, snapped the 8-game winning streak of the Barton Braves yesterday when he hurled Lonaconing to a 5-3 decision over the previously unbeaten loop leaders in a Twilight League tilt at Barton.

The Lonaconing southpaw scattered five hits, fanned eight batsmen, walked two and hit two batsmen.

Lonaconing rallied for three runs in the fifth inning to break a 2-2 deadlock.

Tod Cuthbertson, Curtis Johnson and Bobby Mundeno shared six of the nine safeties credited to Manager Cokie Robertson's outfit. Two of Barton's five hits were obtained by Tommy Warnick.

Franklin suffered its eighth consecutive defeat at the hands of the Klondyke Colts, 10-2, in a game staged at Klondyke.

The Colts racked up 11 safeties, including two doubles by Blaine Cutter, a double and single each by Tom Dunn, Jim Yantz and George Miller and a two-base wallop by Junior Buskirk.

Jim Winters limited Franklin to five hits, fanned eight and issued three bases on balls. Two of the losing team's five safeties were made by Laupert.

Buccos Score 8th Victory In Last 11 Games

Score Five In 9th Off Drott; Banks Belts 14th Homer

CHICAGO (UPI) —The Pittsburgh Pirates turned six of eight walks by Chicago Cubs pitchers into runs Thursday and beat the Cubs 11-3 for Bob Friend's seventh win of the season.

The Cubs' Ernie Banks stood out in the losing cause, hitting his 14th homer with Bob Will on base to tie for the league lead in home runs and to take over the lead in runs batted in with 44.

Loser Glen Hobbie pitched to only two men in the fourth, walking both, and had a 3-1 count on Hal Smith before Seth Morehead took over and hurled the fourth ball with the walk charged to Hobbie. Then Don Hoak singled to drive two runners home. It was Hobbie's third loss to the Pirates this year without a win.

A single, Hobbie's first walk and Smith's double furnished two runs in the second and Smith scored on Bill Mazeroski's sacrifice fly. Hoak drove in his third run of the game with a sixth-inning single after singles by Roberto Clemente and Smith.

The Pirates collected five runs, four of them earned, off Dick Drott in the 9th inning on three walks, two Cubs' errors, an infield single, a bases-loaded single by Bob Skinner and a double steal.

Friend limited the Cubs to seven hits in seven innings before Fred Green relieved him. Banks was responsible for the third Chicago run too, hitting into a double play in the first to score Richie Ashburn after a single by Will had put him on third.

It was the Pirates' eighth win in the last 11 games and the Cubs fifth loss in 11. Don Zimmer was ejected from the game in the second when he protested a call that he was out at third after Hobbie's attempted sacrifice.

Yankees Whip Chicago, Move To 3rd Place

James Winner, 5-2, Mantle Hits 11th

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees, triggered by Mickey Mantle's third home run in two days and runless relief pitching by Johnny James and Bobby Shantz, thrashed Chicago for the third straight time Thursday, 5-2, and wrested third place from the White Sox.

The Yankees accumulated a dozen hits, seven off Frank Baumann, who had pitched back-to-back shutouts in his last two starts. The southpaw not only saw his scoreless skein snapped in the first inning but was shelled out of the box in the fourth inning when Mantle's 11th homer, with one on, gave the Yankees a 3-2 lead.

New York got two insurance runs off Dick Donovan in the sixth. Gerry Staley finished up for the White Sox.

Ralph Terry started for the Yankees but bowed out for a pinch hitter in the fourth. James, who held the White Sox hitless in the fifth and sixth innings, was credited with the victory, his second without a defeat.

the Cas Taylors

Hi, sport! You've heard us talk about The Cas Taylors' Cumberland Hall of Fame. Well, the talk soon becomes action for we understand that by this time next week the judges (unknown to us) will have selected a nominee . . . the person who did the most to promote Cumberland baseball for this season.

By way of review . . . The Cumberland Hall of Fame was instituted by The Cas Taylors on April 1, 1960, and has as its purpose the furtherance of athletics on a local basis, and the recognition of the finest characteristics attained in athletic competition.

All sports participants, both high school and amateur, as well as coaches, officials and others who contribute towards the betterment of sports in Cumberland will be given consideration for the honor.

At the end of each season of football, basketball, baseball, softball, bowling, tennis, track, shuffleboard, and golf . . . a nominee will be selected for the Hall of Fame. In December of each year an individual will be selected from the nominees for The Hall of Fame.

The nominees and the Hall of Fame winner will be selected by an anonymous three-man committee, not even known by The Management.

So, be on the lookout next week for the first Hall of Fame nominee.

Drop in and see us anytime . . . you'll enjoy the food, drink and the fun at The Cas Taylors' . . . corner of N. Mechanic and Valley streets.

Indians Take 5th Straight

Hawkins Cops 4th From Boston, 3-2

BOSTON (UPI)—George Strickland's first homerun of the season provided the league-leading Cleveland Indians a 3-2 win over the Boston Red Sox Thursday and extended their winning streak to five games.

Strickland tagged a pitch from righthander Bill Monbouquette into the left field screen with the bases empty in the sixth inning to give the Indians a 3-1 lead. Boston got a run in the seventh on Ted Williams' sacrifice fly, but reliefer Johnny Klippstein protected rookie Winn Hawkins' lead over the last two innings.

Hawkins won his fourth game against three defeats. The loss evened Monbouquette's record at five wins and five losses and dropped the Red Sox farther into the American League cellar.

Monbouquette allowed only seven hits in the seven innings he worked but five of them were doubles, two by Harvey Kuenn and one was Strickland's homer.

Jerry Lynch's 3-Run Homer Sinks Giants

San Francisco Bows To Cincinnati, 7-4

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Cincinnati's Jerry Lynch walloped a three-run homer in a four-run seventh inning Thursday that beat San Francisco 7-4, dropping the Giants two games behind league-leading Pittsburgh.

Veteran left-hander Joe Nuxhall registered his first triumph of the season although it was reliever Bill Henry who struck out Willie McCovey and got Willie Kirkland on a fly when the Giants had the bases loaded in the eighth.

Nuxhall was relieved by Bob Grim after the Giants scored once in the eighth and Henry took over for Grim after he faced just one batter.

Nuxhall allowed only three hits until the eighth. The Giants scored three runs in the third, two on an error by center fielder Vada Pinson.

San Francisco right-hander Jack Sanford, seeking his seventh victory, took his second loss instead, when the Reds exploded for six hits in their big seventh.

Birds Lose First, 7-5

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — Frank Bolling's two-run homer in the seventh inning broke a 5-5 tie and gave the Detroit Tigers their third straight victory over the Baltimore Orioles, 7-5, Thursday night in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

The Orioles had tied the score with a five-run splurge in the sixth after the Tigers had got to starter Milt Pappas for a 5-0 lead over the first six frames. Arnie Portocarrero yielded Bolling's game winning clout.

Portocarrero, who lost his second against three victories, came into the game in the seventh and pitched to only two batters. He walked Ed Yost before serving the home run ball to Bolling.

Paul Foytack, victim of the Orioles' sixth inning rally, yielded to Dave Sisler during the height of the uprising. Sisler gave up only two hits in the last three and two-third innings, retiring the last seven men in order to pick up his third win against two losses.

Detroit Tigers Capture Twin Bill From Orioles

Bengals Sweep Four Game Set, 7-5, 7-4

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — Frank Bolling hit a two-run homer in each game Thursday night, enabling the Detroit Tigers to win both ends of a twi-night doubleheader from the Baltimore Orioles, 7-5 and 7-4, and complete a four-game sweep.

The two losses dropped the Orioles one and one-half games behind the league leading Cleveland Indians.

Bolling's nightcap homer featured a five-run fifth inning when the Tigers overcame a 2-1 deficit.

After the Tigers had scored twice off loser Skinny Brown to take a 3-2 lead, Bolling broke the game open with his poke into the left field seats. It was Brown's second loss against five wins.

Later Bolling drove in another run with a double, making five for the evening. The Orioles had grabbed their short-lived lead in the third on successive singles by Marv Breeding, Jackie Brandt, Ron Hansen and Walt Dropo, the last two driving in tallies.

Pete Burnside won his third against two losses in the nightcap.

Wightman Tests Will Open Today

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—British tennis experts, confidently predicting victory over the United States in the Wightman Cup matches which start Friday, are watching the weatherman — and a glamorous California blonde.

They see Karen Hantze, pretty 18-year-old from San Diego, as the dark horse who may stop the British girls from regaining the international tennis trophy.

Miss Hantze, who won several junior titles in her younger days, was named to open the United States bid by Capt. Janet Hopps of Seattle. She is paired against Ann Haydon, veteran British left-hander. Miss Hopps' decision put the veteran Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills, N.Y., and Panama City, on the sidelines.

In Friday's second match, Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., opposes Christine Truman, the 19-year-old Amazon of British tennis. Then the two California girls combine to take on Miss Haydon and Angela Mortimer in the day's only doubles match.

Arthur Kellogg, composer of "Mother O' Mine" and other hit ballads, was educated in the Ohio State School for the Blind.

Arcaro To Ride Venetian Way

Gets Derby Winner For Belmont Stakes

NEW YORK (AP) — Eddie Arcaro gets his chance to try for a record Saturday when he rides Kentucky Derby winner Venetian Way in the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes, oldest and toughest of horse racing's triple crown classics

Vic Sovinski, trainer of Isaac Blumberg's Sunny Blue Farm colt, announced Thursday that Arcaro had been signed after several days of doubt whether Eddie would have a mount in the 92nd running of the stake.

Arcaro, who has ridden in every Belmont Stakes except one since 1937, has won six of the renewals. Jimmy McLaughlin also won six Belmonts back in the 1880s.

Eddie had begged off the King Ranch's Disperse in an effort to ride Tooth and Nail for Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim's Cain Hoy Stable. Guggenheim, however, refused Arcaro, saying Disperse's owner, Robert J. Kleberg, was his friend.

Restraining Orders Tie Up Fight Money

BOSTON (AP) — The entire gate receipts of the Paul Pender-Sugar Ray Robinson title fight Friday night were tied up Thursday by two restraining orders issued by Judge Charles D. Bolster in Superior Court.

The gate receipts are expected to reach about $100,000, with 30 per cent going to each fighter and the rest to promoter Sam Silverman. In addition, Silverman and the fighters share about $150,000 in television money.

The orders tying up the purse came after two suits were filed within five minutes of each other. One was by the Charles Center Boxing Club of Baltimore, asking a $9,000 claim from Robinson for his failure to appear at a scheduled bout there. The other was by Boston promoter Nunzio Camiollo, "Nuno Cam."

Rape Trial Ends With Hung Jury

Campbell Case To Be Re-Tried

An Allegany County Circuit Court petit jury which deliberated nearly seven hours last night was unable to reach a decision in the trial in which a 23-year-old Slabtown man is charged with the rape of a local woman on May 16.

The trial of Angus Linwood Campbell, concluded about 5:10 p.m. yesterday and the all-male jury was unable to reach a verdict by 11:55 p.m. The jurors were excused by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, who said the case will be continued until another term of court.

The foreman of the jury, Ralph Rice, city, indicated that the jurors were hopelessly deadlocked.

Closing arguments in the case were given by Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason and Earl E. Manges, counsel for the defendant, and State's Attorney James S. Getty.

In his closing argument Mr. Getty referred to the assault case as similar to the "law of the jungle" and said it was the "most vicious and violent crime" during his years in the state's attorney's office. He said the decision of the jury would "either protect or disregard the safety of women" in Allegany County.

When the trial resumed yesterday afternoon about 1:25, Thomas Birmingham, 21, of Mt. Savage, who was with Campbell the night of the alleged assault, took the witness stand and recounted events leadng up to the incident.

Husband Testifies

The woman's husband took the stand and gave a description of his wife when she came home early the morning of May 16. He said he called city police and went with his wife and police to a local hospital.

City Police Officer Charles Snider, who made the initial investigation, recalled her appearance that morning. Another police officer, Joseph Harvey, also took the stand.

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, identified pictures of the woman and of Campbell he had taken at the state's attorney's office.

Also entered as evidence was a statement taken from Campbell by Mr. Lilya.

Campbell Takes Stand

Following a brief recess, Campbell, dressed in a light gray sport coat and dark trousers, appeared calm when he took the stand in his defense.

He recalled his actions during the afternoon and evening of May 15 prior to the incident, and testified he had never seen the woman before he was introduced to her that night at an establishment in Ridgeley.

He did not know she was married, he said, and added that she indicated she was willing to go elsewhere to dance.

Another recess occurred about 3:15 p. m. The jury got the case about 5:10 p. m. and deliberated for about two hours before Judge Fraley inquired whether they had reached a decision.

Not having reached a verdict the jurors, accompanied by two deputy sheriffs, were taken to supper and returned later to the Court House.

Woman Tells Story

The woman who was first to take the stand yesterday recounted the details of how she had been bowling Sunday, May 15, and along with several women friends went to a Ridgeley establishment to dance.

She said she danced with Campbell several times and also with his two companions, Birmingham, and Donald Klosterman, 24, of 314 Washington Street.

The youths offered to drive her to another nearby West Virginia tavern where she intended to meet her husband, she testified. The trio drove into Cumberland where they said they had to obtain gasoline for the car.

Campbell, she testified, became "fresh" and when he would not desist she used a shoe to strike him. The young men would not heed her request to drive her to her home, she also stated.

Cites Threats

Campbell became enraged when she hit him with the shoe and cried out: "No woman ever hit me in her life and lived to talk about it," the woman told the jury. Campbell also twisted her arm and pressed his hands into her throat, she added. "I was afraid for my life," she declared.

After the assault, which the state said took place in the Corriganville area, the men drove the woman to her home. She said she noted the license number of the car and when she went into her home told her husband. He called city police and the woman was taken to the hospital for an examination by a doctor.

The state presented a blood spotted white skirt and torn pieces of the woman's clothing evidence.

Judge Fraley, who heard closing arguments yesterday in the trial of the two other young men charged wth assault with intent to rape the woman, said he would give his verdict in Crcuit Court Tuesday morning.

The trial of Birmingham and Klosterman opened on Tuesday and recessed until yesterday when closing arguments were heard by Judge Fraley.

58 Diplomas Awarded At Cresaptown

One Presented Posthumously

Fifty-eight diplomas, including one awarded posthumously to James Edward Capel, 17, who was killed May 8 in a two-car collision on U.S. Route 220 at Potomac Park, were presented last night during graduation exercises held at Cresaptown Junior High School.

Scholastic honors went to Nancy Snyder and Francis Ferrone, who placed first; Carol Mills and Timothy Martin, who placed second, and Carol Shepherd and Thomas Miller, third.

The program opened with a number of selections by the school band and the processional "Pomp and Circumstance" by Elgar, played by the band.

After invocation by Evangelist Sadie E. Triplett of First Methodist Church here, students of grade nine gave a choral reading, "Four Things," by Van Dyck. Francis Ferrone then played an accordion solo.

Fred H. Anderson, local attorney, addressed the graduates and spoke on "On To High School." After his talk, the junior high mixed choir sang a number of selections.

Following this was the presentation of diplomas by J. Goodloe Jackson, president, and T. Donald Shires, member of the Allegany County Board of Education.

After a vocal solo by Miss Dolores Rowley, who was accompanied by Miss Carol Reith, announcements were made by Miss Myra M. Nefflen, school principal.

Grade Nine Class Song, "One God," was sung with Miss Rowley as accompanist. Benediction by Mrs. Triplett was followed by the recessional "Land of Hope and Glory," played by the school band, bringing the program to a close.

David Wynn Shoup was president of the graduating class. Other class officers included Janet M. Kemphfer, Carol Jean Mills and Linda Sue Saffle.

The diplomas were written by Augustine Diaz and arranged by Mrs. Novella Crowe, members of the faculty.

Bike Safety Inspections Begin Monday

Optimists, Police Will Sponsor Event

The Cumberland Optimist Club and the Cumberland Police Department will open the annual bicycle inspection and registration program here Monday.

Police Chief B. F. Gaffney is urging that all youths take advantage of the program which will be held on city playgrounds June 13 through 24.

Leo F. Barkman will head the Optimist Club committee which will furnish volunteer workers for the safety plan.

Officer Charles Cubbage will represent the Cumberland Police Department in the program.

Is Joint Venture

The prestnt program, Officer Cubbage said, was instituted last yeas as a joint Optimist Club-Police Department venture.

The Optimist project is being held as the local observance of National Bicycle Safety Week, an annual project of Optimist International.

Until last year, the annual bicycle safety and licensing program was held at Police Headquarters but is being held on playgrounds, as many parents are reluctant to allow their children to ride through downtown traffic.

This year's program, Officer Cubbage said, has been arranged to allow youths two chances to attend a neighborhood playground during the licensing period.

The schedule calls for bike inspections and licenses to be offered during 10 sessions, all from 6 to 9 p. m. The schedule:

Monday, June 13, Post Playday, ground; Tuesday, June 14, East Side Playground; Wednesday, June 15, North End Playground; Thursday, June 16, West Side Playground; Friday, June 17, Pennsylvania Playground.

Will Inspect Bikes

June 20, Gephart Playground; June 21, Mt. Royal Playground; June 22, Johnson Heights Playground; June 23, Columbia Street Playground, and June 24, Centre Street Playground.

Members of the Optimist Club will make the safety inspection which includes brakes, steering mechanism and warning devises. They will also issue safety literature, apply safety stickers and fill out applications.

Officer Cubbage will issue bicycle tags and operator's cards which includes the owner's name and address, make of the vehicle and the serial number.

The standard fee of 25 cents is collected to cover the cost of the tags and registration cards.

The Police Department issued 2,200 bicycle tags last year and expects the total to be about 300 higher this year.

High Court Upholds Ruling

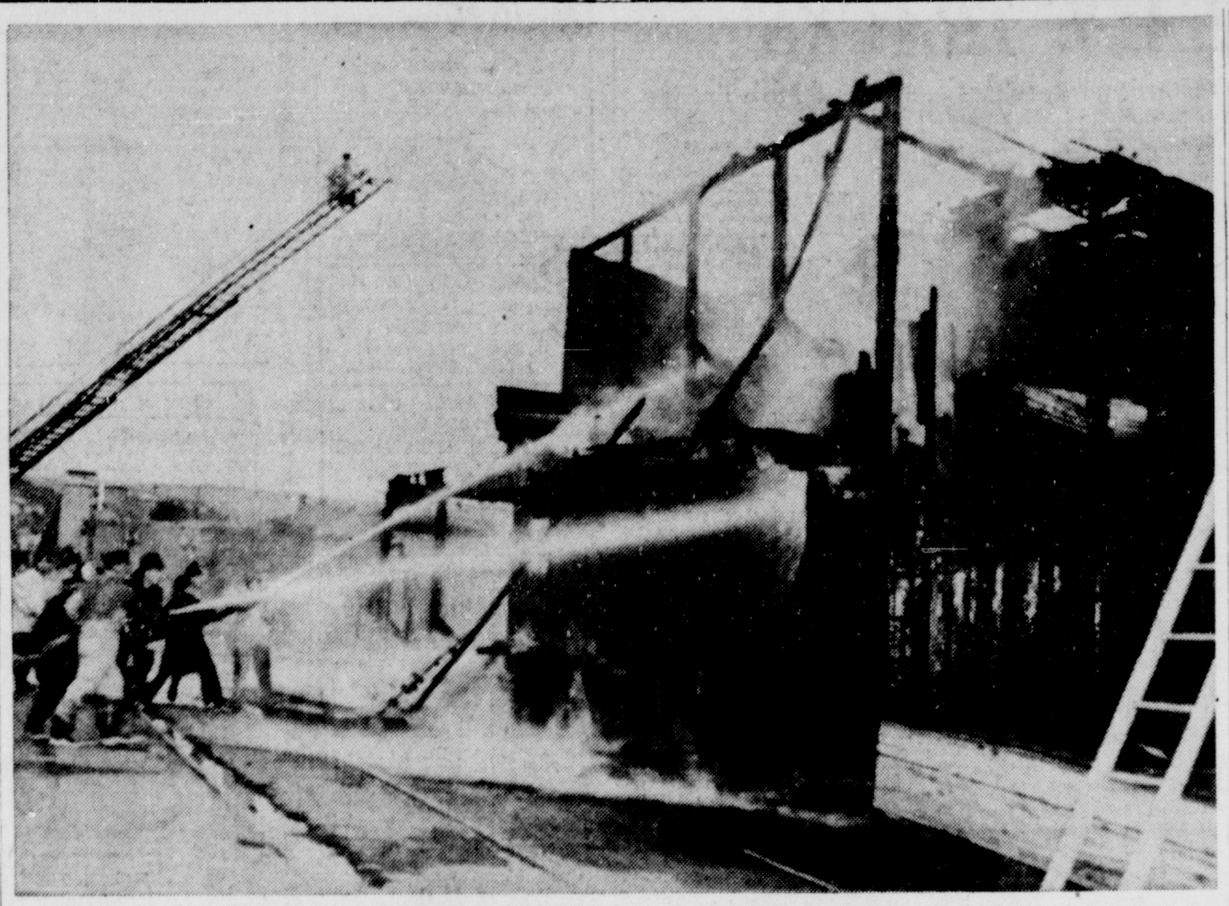
ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Court of Appeals Thursday affirmed an Allegany County court decision dismissing a suit against Thomas Mullan, involving his aunt's estate.

Mullan's brother, Francis, charged as executor of the estate that some money given Thomas by the aunt should have been divided equally by them as part of the estate.

The high court held that there was sufficient evidence that the aunt intended the money to go to Thomas as a gift for having taken care of her and agreeing to pay her hospital expenses. It noted none of the testimony was contradicted by Francis.

Answer False Alarm

Central and West Side fire companies responded yesterday at 6:21 p. m. when a false alarm was turned in from Box 43 at Baltimore and George streets.



Storage Building Burns

Members of the Cumberland Fire Department, including several off-duty firemen, play streams of water on a Buchanan Lumber Company storage building at the rear of Necessity Street. One of the firemen, perched on top of the ladder truck, directs a stream upon the top of the fire while the others work from the ground. The blaze was brought under control in about 40 minutes, but some of the firemen remained on the scene for some time to clean up the blaze.

Fire Damages Lumber Storage Building Here

Off-Duty Men Use Reserve Pumper

The Cumberland Fire Department last night dispatched all available equipment and men to the rear of Necessity Street after a Buchanan Lumber Company storage building caught fire.

The blaze was brought under control in about an hour after it caused considerable damage to the building and its contents and a loaded waste truck parked nearby.

Two companies were left at the scene for another hour after the blaze was brought under control at 9 p.m.

Central Fire Company was notified of the blaze at 8:03 p.m. and dispatched its ladder and engine company.

Reserves Report

West Side Fire Company rolled a minute later and East Side Fire Company was dispatched at 8:08 p.m. as the flames swept through the building used to store lumber.

Reserve Engine Company No. 1, from Central Fire Department, was manned by off-duty firemen and sent to the blaze at 8:38 p.m. It was released eight minutes later after it became evident the fire was being brought under control.

Central Fire Department's emergency truck was also sent to the fire so equipment it contains would be on hand if needed.

Playing streams of water from the ground and from the top of the big ladder truck, firemen were able to keep the fire from spreading to two nearby houses which are used by the firm for lumber storage.

Assistant Chief Vincent Wegman said the flames also damaged a waste truck parked near the damaged building.

The truck was loaded with waste lumber which had accumulated from the day's operations.

Can Be Salvaged

Firemen made no estimate of the damage but said about half the lumber stored in the building could be salvaged.

Firemen said the building was "pretty well involved" when the fire trucks reached the scene.

The top job, firemen said, was to keep the fire from spreading to adjoining storage building and nearby homes.

Central and East Side fire companies were allowed to leave the blaze at 9:09 p.m. so they could be available to protect the business district and hospitals.

None of the 17 firemen dispatched to the blaze were injured.

This is the third year the awards have been given by independent insurance companies of the two counties. Last year James Lamberson was declared winner and in 1958 Joseph Durst of Frostburg was named the winner.

Selection of the winner is based on outstanding service to the individual fire company, the two-county association or the Maryland State Firemen's Association.

This outstanding service includes public relations, fire prevention, training, heroism in fire fighting, leadership on the fire ground, general leadership in the individual department, county or state association, development of new and more efficient effort of operation or outstanding cooperation and performance of the general duties required by all firemen.

Deal With ABC Is Worth $10,625,000

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Football League Thursday closed a $10,625,000 five-year deal with the American Broadcasting Co., for the television rights to its games.

Under the terms of the contract, announced jointly by Tom Moore, vice president in charge of programming for ABC-TV, and Commissioner Joe Foss of the league (AFL), the new pro league will collect $125,000 for each of 17 dates during the year.

This amounts to $2,125,000 a year. The AFL will divide the money equally among the eight clubs. Deducting agency fees and other expenses, each club will start the season with a $225,000 TV cushion.

The league starts its first season on Sept. 11 and closes with its championship contest on Dec. 31, a Saturday. There will be 15 Sunday afternoon dates, Thanksgiving Day, and the championship game.

The league is composed of the New York Titans, Buffalo Bills, Boston Patriots and Houston Oilers in the Eastern section, and the Oakland Raiders, Los Angeles Chargers, Dallas Texans and Denver Broncos in the Western Division.

Moore said ABC has signed two sponsors (General Cigar Co., and Sinclair Refining Co.) for the telecasts.

Sugar Robinson, Pender Meet For Two-State Title

Fight Set Tonight At Boston Garden

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Paul Pender will try to prove his Jan. 22 victory over Ray Robinson was no fluke when he defends his New York-Massachusetts version of the world middleweight title Friday night against 40-year-old Sugar Ray.

Despite the split decision in favor of Pender in their mid-winter bout, Robinson is a 2-1 favorite to win this 15-round rematch at the Boston Garden.

Since 1951 Robinson has been winning, losing, retiring and winning back the middleweight crown. If he evens the score with Pender, it will be the sixth time he has held the title.

The fight will be carried on network (NBC) radio and television with the Boston-Providence area blacked out on TV. It will start at 9 p.m. (EST).

Sam Silverman, the promoter, thinks the scrap will draw about 11,000 people and a gate of $100,000.

As each fighter receives 30 per cent of the net gate, Robinson's total purse, with his TV share, could be over $125,000 and Pender's over $50,000.

Only the New York and Massachusetts version of the title will be at stake because Robinson was stripped of his National Boxing Assn. championship May 4, 1959, for not defending within the time limit. The NBA subsequently recognized Gene Fullmer after he beat Carmen Basilio last fall.

If Robinson wins he will be a suspended champ in New York where the commission went along with Maryland in setting down Sugar Ray for failing to appear for a May 16 bout in Baltimore. The New York commission, however, agreed to recognize this bout as a title fight.

This is Robinson's 21st year as a professional fighter. Over a stretch of 153 bouts he has won 143, lost seven, fought two draws and had one no decision bout in Germany.

Pender's record for 43 fights is 36-5-2. Because of brittle hands, he retired from the ring three times (1952, 1955 and 1956). He has won 11 straight in his latest comeback. Pender's home is in suburban Brookline.

Athletics Trip Washington, 7-2

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An inside-the-park homer by Danny Kravitz with two men on highlighted a six-run rally that enabled the Kansas City Athletics to snap a five-game losing streak with a 7-2 victory over the Washington Senators.

It was the first homer of the season for Kravitz, who came to the Athletics in a waiver deal recently from the Pirates.

Ken Johnson held the Senators to six hits in posting his second victory against three defeats and aided his own cause by singling home two runs during the six-run uprisings in the fifth inning.

Until then the score was tied at 1-1 but Pedro Ramos then gave up hits to eight of the nine men he faced in the fifth to suffer his seventh defeat compared with three victories.

Southern California, with a 35-12 record, ranks with Arizona (41-7) as the most experienced team in total games this season.

Evashevski Named Athletic Director

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—Iowa football coach Forest Evashevski, who built the Hawkeyes from a pushover to a powerhouse in seven years, was named the school's athletic director Thursday.

Evashevski, 42, was to continue as head football coach only for the next season under the terms of his new contract. His salary would remain at $20,000.

As athletic director Evashevski succeeded Paul Brechler, with whom he often feuded over policy. Brechler resigned effective in August to become commissioner of the Skyline Conference.

Pacheco Is Sixth Boxer To Die Of Injuries In 1960

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Pacheco, a Puerto Rican-born lightweight who dreamed of earning gold and glory in the ring, died early Thursday of injuries suffered in his first main event.

The curly haired, good looking youngster, married and the father of a 26-day-old girl, succumbed at 5:05 a.m. in Roosevelt Hospital.

He never regained consciousness since he was knocked out with just 11 seconds left of the tenth and final round of his feature bout with Benny Gordon of New York at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night.

Pacheco was the sixth fighter, amateur and pro, to die of injuries inflicted in the rings of the world this year, according to Ring Magazine.

On the hospital record, the fighter was listed as 19. But the State Athletic Commission said Pacheco had filed a birth certificate showing he was 21 and swore to its correctness. Gordon's birth certificate listed him as 20. Under commission rules a fighter must be 20 to box 10 rounds.

It was the first boxing fatality in New York in nine years and the fourth in the state's history.

Brazilian Player Wins Over MacKay

BRISTOL, England (AP)—Barry MacKay put temperament and poor tennis on display Thursday and was eliminated in the quarter-final round of the West of England Tournament by a little known Brazilian, 19-year-old Jose Mandarino. The scores were 6-2, 1-6, 6-4.

At one time the Dayton, Ohio, player flung his racket at the crowd. Another time he threw it across the court. Several times the hope of the U.S. Davis Cup team waved it as a club at the spectators.

Hyndman Man Graduates From Air Force Academy

LT. KERRY D. MILLER

HYNDMAN, Pa. — Kerry D. Miller, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miller, Hyndman, Pa., graduated Wednesday from the United States Air Force Academy, located north of Colorado Springs, Colo.

At commencement exercises, he was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree and commissioned a second lieutenant in the Regular US Air Force, with the wings of an aerial navigator.

Prior to his commissioning, Miller held the position of Cadet First Group Materiel Officer. A 1953 graduate of Hyndman-Londonderry Township Joint High School, Miller was in the Regular Air Force as an enlisted man for more than two years before winning his appointment to the Air Force Academy. At the Academy, he was a member of the Cadet Fishing Club.

His first assignment after graduation will be to enter full-scale pilot training at Spence Air Base, Ga., this summer.

The Air Force Academy offers cadets a four-year course of Academic and Airmanship studies designed to provide a foundation for further development as career officers. The curriculum is neither a scientific nor a liberal arts program, but a balance of both. With full-sized classes of approximately 770 cadets entering each summer, the Cadet Wing will reach its full authorized strength of over 2,500 in 1962. Most graduates complete Air Force pilot training after leaving the Academy.

BARTON—The Friendly Helpers Bible Class met a recent evening in the church social room with Mrs. Mary Ann Penman, president, presiding.

Mrs. Sophia Winters had the devotional service and the reading of the scripture.

A Fathers Day program opened with the song "Faith of our Fathers." Mrs. Ruby Gattens had a reading "That's My Pa." The song "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning" was sung by the group. Mrs. Vada Metz, Rawlings, played the piano.

The group made plans to make homemade candy to be sold. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ruby Gattens and Mrs. Phyllis Dye.

CHRYSLER
1959 DODGE

A Dodge Royal hardtop 2 door that reflects the good care given it in the few thousand miles it has been driven. Light green and white, a refreshing color combination for the exterior. The same combination of color for the spotless interior of vinyl and fabric. Thick green floor carpets and whitewall tires complete the luxury appearance. The D-500 engine and torque-flite transmission make a great team for ease of driving. Power brakes, power steering, tinted glass. Of course there's a heater, radio, and numerous small accessories. Be sure to see and drive this like-new car.

O'Brien Still Stagestruck

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Pat O'Brien, a chip off the ould sod, is plunging headlong into the tough grind of a weekly TV series because, at 60, "I'm still stagestruck."

The ABC series, which will go on the air this fall, is entitled "Harrigan and Son," and O'Brien plays a widower-lawyer who takes on his Harvard-educated offspring as an associate.

"It shows the difference between our generations—he has an old hatchet-faced dame for a secretary and I have me a beautiful chick," said the affable Milwaukee Irishman, downing a mug of beer at a restaurant.

Asked why he is subjecting himself to the rigors of a weekly TV show when he doesn't need the money, O'Brien said:

"I'd die without acting. I've been at it for 40 years. And what am I going to do now? Sure it's tough to be on every week—but it keeps you active, and it keeps you out of trouble. That one-eyed monster, the TV camera, doesn't tell any lies. You can't play around on the night shift and get away with it.

"And, let's face it, I'm stagestruck. After all, I'm just a kid. I still smoke 12 to 16 cigars a day."

The white-haired actor, a classmate, Navy buddy and lifelong pal of Spencer Tracy, frankly admitted that before "Harrigan and Son" he made three "bum" pilots (test films) for hopeful TV series.

O'Brien, star of such movies as "The Front Page," "Knute Rockne," "The Iron Major" and "Angels With Dirty Faces," said he feels close to "Harrigan" because he studied law as a youth.

O'Brien's only concern with his new series is that it might cut down on his traveling. He hops a plane to Ireland whenever he can.

"I was in Dublin last St. Patrick's Day," he said, "and if that ain't carryin' coals to Newcastle, I don't know what is. And I got news for you—the pubs are closed on St. Pat's Day."

Rape Trial Ends With Hung Jury

Campbell Case To Be Re-Tried

An Allegany County Circuit Court petit jury which deliberated nearly seven hours last night was unable to reach a decision in the trial in which a 23-year-old Slabtown man is charged with the rape of a local woman on May 16.

The trial of Angus Linwood Campbell, concluded about 5:10 p.m. yesterday and the all-male jury was unable to reach a verdict by 11:55 p.m. The jurors were excused by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, who said the case will be continued until another term of court.

The foreman of the jury, Ralph Rice, city, indicated that the jurors were hopelessly deadlocked.

Closing arguments in the case were given by Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason and Earl E. Manges, counsel for the defendant, and State's Attorney James S. Getty.

In his closing argument Mr. Getty referred to the assault case as similar to the "law of the jungle" and said it was the "most vicious and violent crime" during his years in the state's attorney's office. He said the decision of the jury would "either protect or disregard the safety of women" in Allegany County.

When the trial resumed yesterday afternoon about 1:25, Thomas Birmingham, 21, of Mt. Savage, who was with Campbell the night of the alleged assault, took the witness stand and recounted events leadng up to the incident.

Husband Testifies

The woman's husband took the stand and gave a description of his wife when she came home early the morning of May 16. He said he called city police and went with his wife and police to a local hospital.

City Police Officer Charles Snider, who made the initial investigation, recalled her appearance that morning. Another police officer, Joseph Harvey, also took the stand.

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, identified pictures of the woman and of Campbell he had taken at the state's attorney's office.

Also entered as evidence was a statement taken from Campbell by Mr. Lilya.

Campbell Takes Stand

Following a brief recess, Campbell, dressed in a light gray sport coat and dark trousers, appeared calm when he took the stand in his defense.

He recalled his actions during the afternoon and evening of May 15 prior to the incident, and testified he had never seen the woman before he was introduced to her that night at an establishment in Ridgeley.

He did not know she was married, he said, and added that she indicated she was willing to go elsewhere to dance.

Another recess occurred about 3:15 p. m. The jury got the case about 5:10 p. m. and deliberated for about two hours before Judge Fraley inquired whether they had reached a decision.

Not having reached a verdict the jurors, accompanied by two deputy sheriffs, were taken to supper and returned later to the Court House.

Woman Tells Story

The woman who was first to take the stand yesterday recounted the details of how she had been bowling Sunday, May 15, and along with several women friends went to a Ridgeley establishment to dance.

She said she danced with Campbell several times and also with his two companions, Birmingham, and Donald Klosterman, 24, of 314 Washington Street.

The youths offered to drive her to another nearby West Virginia tavern where she intended to meet her husband, she testified. The trio drove into Cumberland where they said they had to obtain gasoline for the car.

Campbell, she testified, became "fresh" and when he would not desist she used a shoe to strike him. The young men would not heed her request to drive her to her home, she also stated.

Cites Threats

Campbell became enraged when she hit him with the shoe and cried out: "No woman ever hit me in her life and lived to talk about it," the woman told the jury. Campbell also twisted her arm and pressed his hands into her throat, she added. "I was afraid for my life," she declared.

After the assault, which the state said took place in the Corriganville area, the men drove the woman to her home. She said she noted the license number of the car and when she went into her home told her husband. He called city police and the woman was taken to the hospital for an examination by a doctor.

The state presented a blood spotted white skirt and torn pieces of the woman's clothing evidence.

Judge Fraley, who heard closing arguments yesterday in the trial of the two other young men charged wth assault with intent to rape the woman, said he would give his verdict in Crcuit Court Tuesday morning.

The trial of Birmingham and Klosterman opened on Tuesday and recessed until yesterday when closing arguments were heard by Judge Fraley.

The schedule calls for bike inspections and licenses to be offered during 10 sessions, all from 6 to 9 p. m. The schedule:

The standard fee of 25 cents is collected to cover the cost of the tags and registration cards.

The Police Department issued 2,200 bicycle tags last year and expects the total to be about 300 higher this year.

High Court Upholds Ruling

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Court of Appeals Thursday affirmed an Allegany County court decision dismissing a suit against Thomas Mullan, involving his aunt's estate.

Mullan's brother, Francis, charged as executor of the estate that some money given Thomas by the aunt should have been divided equally by them as part of the estate.

The high court held that there was sufficient evidence that the aunt intended the money to go to Thomas as a gift for having taken care of her and agreeing to pay her hospital expenses. It noted none of the testimony was contradicted by Francis.

Fire Damages Lumber Storage Building Here

Off-Duty Men Use Reserve Pumper

The Cumberland Fire Department last night dispatched all available equipment and men to the rear of Necessity Street after a Buchanan Lumber Company storage building caught fire.

The blaze was brought under control in about an hour after it caused considerable damage to the building and its contents and a loaded waste truck parked nearby.

Two companies were left at the scene for another hour after the blaze was brought under control at 9 p.m.

Central Fire Company was notified of the blaze at 8:03 p.m. and dispatched its ladder and engine company.

Reserves Report

West Side Fire Company rolled a minute later and East Side Fire Company was dispatched at 8:08 p.m. as the flames swept through the building used to store lumber.

Reserve Engine Company No. 1, from Central Fire Department, was manned by off-duty firemen and sent to the blaze at 8:38 p.m. It was released eight minutes later after it became evident the fire was being brought under control.

Central Fire Department's emergency truck was also sent to the fire so equipment it contains would be on hand if needed.

Playing streams of water from the ground and from the top of the big ladder truck, firemen were able to keep the fire from spreading to two nearby houses which are used by the firm for lumber storage.

Assistant Chief Vincent Wegman said the flames also damaged a waste truck parked near the damaged building.

The truck was loaded with waste lumber which had accumulated from the day's operations.

Can Be Salvaged

Firemen made no estimate of the damage but said about half the lumber stored in the building could be salvaged.

Firemen said the building was "pretty well involved" when the fire trucks reached the scene.

The top job, firemen said, was to keep the fire from spreading to adjoining storage building and nearby homes.

Central and East Side fire companies were allowed to leave the blaze at 9:09 p.m. so they could be available to protect the business district and hospitals.

None of the 17 firemen dispatched to the blaze were injured.
